OUTING IN TYNGSBORO

Mass. Mill Club Holds Outing at Martin Luther Club Grounds

The outing of the Massachusetts mills social and educational club was held this afternoon, at the Martin Luther club grounds in Tyngsboro,
and the affair was participated in by about 75 members of the organization, which is composed of over 100 second hands, and in fact, all heads or departments at the mill.

At 10 o'clock, the time set for the start, fifteen automobiles decorated with pennants bearing the organization's name, gathered in front of the mill and after the picnicers had boarded the machines, a brief parade commenced.

NEW STREET BUILDING
PLAN FOR LOWELL

Lowell's macadam streets will hereafter be built along the same lines as thoroughfares of that type of construction in such cities as Springfield and Brookline, where streets of this sort have stood up under continuous wear and tear for many years in a most satisfactory manner. In addition,
the street department authorities hope
to make a substantial saving in the cost of construction.

LOOKS LIKE NOISY
FOURTH FOR LOWELL

Lowell is going to have a noisy Fourth of July this year. Judging from the number of permits for the right to sell fireworks which have been in-sued from the fire department office in city hall. Although the holiday is still three weeks away, 57 permits have been issued so far. The permits can be issued between June 10 and July 17.
A fee of 50 cents is charged for each permit granted and there is a fine provided by law for any person who keeps or sells fireworks without official sanction from the fire department.

New Playground Equipment Installed at St.
Peter's Orphanage Keeps Kiddos Happy

PLAYGROUND SCENES AT ST. PETER'S ORPHANAGE

The exuberance and enthusiasm of youth, especially when aided and abetted by adequate apparatus for play and sport, is a thing of joy to behold and in few places is this spontaneity more apparent than in the playground in the rear of St. Peter's orphanage in Stevens street, where more than 1500

The 135 children who are now at the orphanage seem to have taken on a new lease of life since the installation of the apparatus and it is with difficulty that the sisters of the orphanage restrain them from playing continually.

The new apparatus includes two long swing poles, one of six swings for the older children and the other of eight for the younger kiddos of the orphanage. The latter swings are so constructed that the child is automatically held in his or her seat while all danger of accident is eliminated. There has also been installed a large merry-go-round, capable of holding scores of children, and once it is set in motion and gains momentum, it gives the youngsters all the thrills of one of the speedy affairs that yearly take roost on the South common midway.

Then there is a slide, that is more than appreciated by the children and a horizontal bar apparatus which delights the boys who are athletically inclined.

According to the officers of the association, the present apparatus is but preliminary to a more extensive development of the playground in the rear of the orphanage. The grounds will be

Admiral Who Attacked Irish

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Rear Admiral Sims' leave of absence in England was revoked today by Secretary Denby, and he was ordered to report at once to the secretary.

LOWEST DEATH RATE FOR TWO YEARS

The lowest death rate recorded in Lowell for nearly two years was reported by the board of health today
for the present week. There were only 18 deaths in the entire week and
not since the week ending July 25, 1919, was there such a low weekly mortality record. The rate for the week is 5.30 as against 13.83 for last week and 2.55 for the week before.

Another feature of this week's health report is the fact that not a single case of measles was recorded,
this being the first week in more
than 18 months that such a record was made. The entire absence of the disease here gives the health department authorities reason to believe that the epidemic which got a foothold here in May, 1920, has been finally conquered.

There were two deaths of children less than a year old this week. One death was caused by an infectious disease, one by pneumonia and one by tuberculosis. The infectious diseases reported included seven cases of diphtheria
and 11 of tuberculosis.

Mail Car Bandit Breaks Away From Officers

PORTLAND, Ore., June 11.—Roy Gardner, mail car bandit, who was on the way to the federal prison at McNeil island, from San Francisco, escaped from federal officers at Castle Rock today after holding up the officers at the point of a pistol, which he had concealed in his shirt, and taking their weapons and $200 in cash.

Prisoner Invites Attention to Himself as Nurse Turns to Point Him Out

Was Tinkering With Auto Engine About Four Hours Before Murders

DEDHAM June 11.—Nicola Saren from the prisoner's cage in the court room where, with Bartolomeo Vanzetti, he is on trial for murder, today invited attention to himself in connection with the question as to the identity of a man who was seen working on an automobile near the scene of and shortly before the murder of a paymaster and his guard at South Braintree in April, 1920. Mrs. Rolla A. Andrews, a nurse, was testifying at the time. She pointed out Sacco as a man to whom she had spoken as he was tinkering with an automobile engine about four hours before the murders and robbery occurred.

As Mr. Andrews was pointing toward the prisoner's cage, Sacco rose and in the first words he had spoken before the court since he pleaded guilty:

"Take a good luck. I am myself." He was assisted to his seat again, and Mrs. Andrews continued her testimony.

SIGNS BILL FOR BUDGET SYSTEM

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The bill establishing a budget system of government expenditures was signed yesterday by President Harding.

In order to put the new system quickly into effect the president expects to appoint a director of budget as provided for in the bill some time within the next two weeks. It is understood that a number of available men have been under consideration and that the field has been narrowed to three or four.

The cases of William F. McCarthy, George McDonald, Edward F. Waters and William Hanaworth, charged with attempted breaking and entering of the Seigel and Kaplan stores on Middlesex street, were today continued in the police court to June 16.

CLEARING HOUSE BANKS

NEW YORK, June 11.—Clearing house banks and trust companies held $48,256,420 reserve in excess of legal requirements, an increase of $23,191,849 from last week.

BANK MESSENGER SHOT DEAD BY BANDITS

DETROIT, June 11.—Jerome Kas-trad, messenger for the Bank of Detroit, was shot and killed and Clark Thompson, another passenger, severely wounded, by three men who held them up yesterday. The bandits escaped with a bag understood to have contained canceled checks.

The messengers were delivering the bag from the West Side branch to the bank's main office downtown, when the bandits without warning fired upon them. One of the bandits apparently was shot by Thompson, who fired several times at them. A boy who witnessed the holdup said he saw one of the robbers fall, but that he was pulled into the machine which then sped away.

Officials of the Bank of Detroit said the messengers were about to make collections at West Side branch banks, but that they had in the machine only canceled checks and $1500 in cash. The bandits overlooked the money.

LANDIS AS ARBITER

30,000 Men of Building Trades to Return to Work at Chicago

CHICAGO, June 11.—Approximately 30,000 men employed in the building trades, will be back at work next and construction valued at nearly $10,000,000 will be under way in a short time, contractors declared today, as the result of the selection of Judge Landis to be arbiter in the wage controversy in Chicago, between the building trades and contractors.

With the selection of the umpire, the contractors called off a lockout which has been in effect since May 1.

If the new wage scale has not been announced by the first pay day, the old scale of $1.25 an hour for skilled labor and $1 for unskilled labor will be paid until a decision is reached.

The lockout went into effect when workers refused to accept a 20 per cent cut in pay.

IRISH LEADER

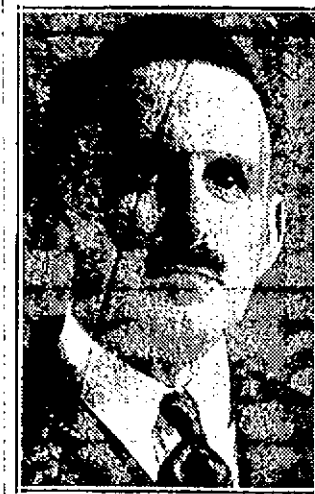

Sean T. O'Connell is the new acting president of the Irish republic. He was elected at a Sinn Fein parliamentary election held at Paris recently.

New Playground Equipment

graded and properly laid out this year. Through the efforts of the association a new Victrola has recently been installed inside the orphanage and plans are now under way for the annual picnic of the sisters and children of the institution. For the past two years this affair has been one of the big events in the life of the orphanage and everybody is looking forward to it again this year.

was held, the autos swinging out of Bridge street into Merrimack, Central and Middlesex as far as Thorndike. Then the parade swung into Thorndike street, over Fletcher street to Pawtucket, and over the Pawtucket bridge to the Pawtucket boulevard. Upon reaching the grounds the merry makers were served a buffet luncheon and then sporting events were carried out, the first number on the program being a baseball game between the benefactors and single men, the former team being captained by President Richard W. Potter, while the unmarried players were headed by Orin H.

RICHARD W. POTTER

Webster, sack races, shot put contest, 100-yard dash and other events took up the greater part of the afternoon, while a feature of the program was the greased pig scramble.

At 5:30 o'clock dinner in the form of an old-fashioned clam bake was served and after dinner speeches were delivered by Agent William A. Mitchell, President Potter and others. The arrangements for the event were in charge of the entertainment committee, which is headed by O. W. Hardy. The officers of the club are as follows: Richard W. Potter, president; W. H. Stearns, vice president; K. S. Linnan, recording secretary; J. J. Cheatham, financial secretary and E. Coburn, treasurer.

TWO KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

FRANKLYNVILLE, N. J., June 11.—Gordon B. Crafts of Manchester, Mass., a graduate of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, and William S. Nichols, a farmer living near here, were killed yesterday when a small motor truck in which they were riding, was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad electric train. Crafts, who had been on the Nichols farm, getting actual experience in fruit growing, was on his way to the railroad station to take an afternoon train for a trip to his home. Nichols was widely known in this section of the state. His fruit farm is one of the largest in the country. He was 55 years old. Crafts was 24 and was a prominent athlete during his college days.

The case of Louise C. Usher, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death, some time ago, of a boy struck by an automobile being operated by the defendant at Concord and Dover streets, was today continued in the police court to June 25. The inquest finding has not yet been returned.

HELD FIELD DAY
A most successful field day was held today at Pinehurst by the Pinehurst Improvement association. A feature of the program of sports and other entertainment was a five-mile marathon from Woburn to Pinehurst, in which several runners of prominence contended.

The
U. S. ROYAL CORD
A famous tire—a famous tread. Acknowledged among motorists and dealers alike as the world's foremost example of Cord tire building. Always delivering the same repeated economy, tire after tire, and season after season. The stripe around the side-walls is registered as a trademark in the U. S. Patent Office.

Big discounts befuddle no one except the man who talks them

MOST of the retail successes that we are proudest of in this country have been built up on the best standard merchandise at a fair price.

Today the truth of experience is making itself felt in the tire trade as in everything else.

The quality instinct in the American public is bearing weight.

As it always does.

On May 1st, 1921, there were 36% more dealers selling United States Royal Cord Tires than a year ago.

There might be a number of reasons why. Reputation. Demand. Quality. Square-dealing. Stable policy.

All these count of course. But of greater importance just now is the dealers' repudiation of "discount" methods of doing business.

These men are reading the public mind. They are no longer willing merely to sell "discounts"—"so much off on this tire, so much off on that."

They are selling a tire service—a tangible, par quality tire at a net price that more often than not delivers in excess of what is charged for it.

The leadership of the U. S. Royal Cord Tire cannot be explained on its physical qualities alone.

You cannot separate it from the policy behind it.

A policy insistent on quality first—on sound merchandising as against temporary appeal—on a reality of tire worth instead of an unreality of discount talk.

The outstanding reason, perhaps, why so many thousands of car owners measure all other tires by U. S. Royal Cords as the standard tire to go by.

A. A. R. I. R. Not Opposing Gompers

Think of Paying $300 for Imitation Pearls

By Frank Ricard

We have Felco Pearls, the highest of which is priced at $50.00. These are the most perfect imitations we have ever seen and are, in our judgment, the peers of all imitation pearls, including those nationally advertised and very much better known. We have had these appraised by experts who, for some moments, took them for real pearls, and we have seen several jewelry salesmen completely fooled. These are probably the most expensive imitation pearls on the market, and justly so.

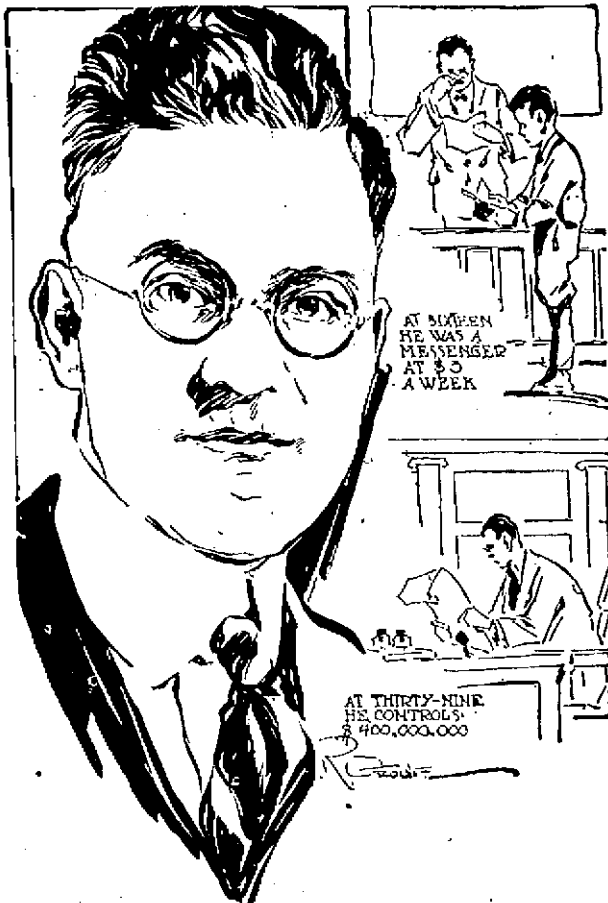

They are of the so-called "indestructible" variety, of French manufacture, guaranteed against hot and cold water, etc., and every strand was carefully and individually chosen by the head of the New York concern which handles them in America. The output is small and the pearls are matched with exactitude. The prices—$50 to $500 per necklace. We also show other lines of Pearls, including La Tarsca, at prices from $5 to $150.

From $3 a Week to $100,000 a Year

JOHN A. NYLAN

(By Newspaper Enterprise)
CHICAGO, June 11.—At 16 a messenger at $3 a week.
At 30, president of the Chicago and Cook County Bankers' association, controlling $400,000,000.

That is the jump of John A. Nylan, whose salary is $100,000 a year.
Nylan's formula for success is simply, "hard work, application, grit and ability to dream practically."

The "boy banker" is the youngest man ever chosen to fill the office he now holds.
In addition he is also vice-president and cashier of the Fidelity Trust and Savings bank here.

"Too many young men just now are holding 'blind alley' jobs," he says. "They are not content beginning from the bottom and working their way up."

"Jobs that pay good salaries to start with seldom hold out much chance for opportunity."
"Give me the man with determination to succeed—one who looks upon every scrimmage with life as a lesson. That is the type that will come out ahead of the game!"

"Fate probably was kind to me in letting me be born poor."

CHICKEN PIE SUPPER
Those who took part in the entertainment program given in connection with the chicken pie supper conducted by the Tewksbury Centre Congregational church Young Men's club, Thursday evening, were as follows: Miss Alberta McQuinn, Mrs. Fred Roberts, Miss Dorothy Farley, Miss Marguerite Woodbury, Miss Maude Varnum, Miss Blanche Taber, Miss Ernestine Corey, Miss Rosabel O'Hara, M. McDougal, Miss Lottie Johnson, Miss Edna Corey, Miss Clara Beck and Miss Nellie Dancause.
The supper was in charge of the following young men: Harry Nash, Lester Holt, Henry Mason, Chester Genest, William Carter, Edward O'Connell, Archie Tothacher, Warren Lannan, Charles Pierce, Howard Green, Leslie Campbell, Edward Smith, James

"Poverty to an ambitious person is a blessing. It acts as a lash."
"When I started out as a messenger in the stockyard district I spent my nights in school instead of hanging about street corners."

"But always I dreamed of success. To make something of himself a man must be a dreamer. He must see ahead and visualize himself in the goal of success."

"But a dream is worth nothing unless it is capitalized. Don't just dream and then let it go at that. Action alone can make dreams come true."

He was graduated from a night high school and later took up law—always studying after work.

"I found," he says, "that getting ahead means putting something in the other fellow's pocket so that he'll put something in yours."
Nylan says he has only started out in life.

"When a man thinks he has reached the top of the ladder he's done for. Let each success be an urge to climb one notch higher. But don't trample in the other fellow's pocket who's ambitious, too. And remember this:

"Every man is a potential success the moment he's born."

CORSETS
A lower and shorter corset, very lightly boned and usually made of elastic, is winning a place in feminine apparel since the semi-fitting gown is here and the corset is a necessity.

GRADUATION TUESDAY AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Sixty-seven young women will be graduated from the State Normal school in Broadway next Tuesday afternoon, the exercises beginning at 2 o'clock in the school assembly hall.

Frank W. Wright, director of the division of elementary and secondary education of the state board of education, will present the diplomas and the address of the occasion will be given by Miss Mary Muggan of Fall River on "The Place of the Teacher in a Democracy." A feature of the exercises will be the presentation of a state flag to the school by the graduating class and a national flag by the school staff.

A number of the teachers of the Normal school will give special courses in other schools during the summer vacation and many of the girls of the graduating class have accepted teaching positions for next fall.

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF GOLDEN

Resolutions on the death of John Golden, international president of the United Textile Workers of America, were adopted last evening at a meeting of the Lowell Textile council. The meeting was presided over by Vice President Louis Shea and a committee was appointed to draw up the resolutions, copies of which will be sent to the family of deceased and to the headquarters of the U.T.W. at New York. In the course of the meeting it was announced that three Lowell people left yesterday afternoon to attend the funeral, which took place this morning in Fall River. John Hanley, president of the Lowell Textile council and a member of the executive board of the U.T.W., Mrs. Annie Reagan, secretary of the Cotton Weavers' union and Walter G. Roche, president of the Beamers' union.

DRIVER OF DEATH CAR FINED $20

A fine of $20 was the penalty paid by Walter Doane, driver of the automobile in which Theodore Boylston, senior at Lowell Textile school, met his death during the past week on the Woburn road, near Silver Lake. The car which the defendant was operating crashed into a motor truck and Boylston was crushed, dying within a few hours at the Woburn hospital. Doane and two young girls, who were the other occupants of the machine, escaped injury. Yesterday, at the Woburn court, Doane was charged with reckless driving and with oversteering. The former complaint was dismissed and the fine was imposed on the latter count. No charge of manslaughter was preferred, although a complaint to this effect was made at the time of Doane's arrest, and when he was first before the court for a continuance to yesterday.

LATEST FAD OF FIFTH AVENUE

MISS CORA SCOVILL AT WORK ON ONE OF HER PATCHWORK FIGURES.

Patchwork, in the hands of Miss Cora Scovill, has become a fine art and the fad of Fifth avenue, New York. Miss Scovill at first conceived the idea of making interesting patchwork figures on cloth panels, for the amusement of her friends at Washington, Pa.

Later, envisioning the possibilities of bigger things, the patchwork artist packed up her patch basket and journeyed to New York where Fifth avenue received her with open arms. Her patchwork figures are used extensively by exclusive shops for window decoration and inside posters.

MISS GILLET

HELD IN $5000

CHICOPEE, June 11.—Miss Lucy Gillett of Westfield, sister of Speaker F. H. Gillett of the national house of representatives, was arraigned in district court here today charged with manslaughter as the result of an accident yesterday in which the automobile she was driving struck and killed Irene Cole, aged 13 and injured Yvette Gauthier, aged nine. Miss Gillett entered a plea of not guilty and was released in bonds of $5000 for a hearing July 1.

What Neurasthenia Is

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work, mental or physical, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excesses of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea.

The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price 60 cents per box.

Two useful books, "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. If you mention this paper—Adv.

POWER TO FILE SUIT

To Attach Constitutionality of Commerce Commission and R. R. Labor Board

AUSTIN, Tex., June 11.—The Texas attorney general's department announced today that the supreme court of the United States had granted its request to file a suit attacking the constitutionality of the interstate commerce commission and the railway labor board. The supreme court informed the department that subpoenas had been issued to the two organizations requiring them to appear before the court. The suit was filed June 6.

FOIL REPORTED PLOT OF ALIENS TO LAND

BOSTON, June 11.—Reports that immigrants detained on the steamer Canopus because of the new immigration restriction law were planning a concerted attempt to gain their freedom resulted in a large detail of police being sent to Commonwealth pier yesterday.

Arrival of the steamer Potomac from Bremen with 600 German, Polish and Hungarian immigrants, most of whom were permitted to land, was said to have aroused some of the Italians. The police cleared the pier and the work of examining passengers from the Potomac continued without incident.

ALUMNI DAY AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Alumni day was observed at the Lowell Normal school this afternoon with exercises on the campus under the direction of the officers of the association. Miss Katherine Flanagan, president; Mrs. Mary Wallace, vice president; Mrs. Irene G. Cashin, secretary, and Miss Blanche Marshall, treasurer. The alumni assembled at 2 o'clock and were entertained at 2.30 by a presentation of the masque, "The Forest Princess," by the Normal School Dramatic club. This was a second presentation of the play so successfully staged for the general public last Thursday afternoon. After the play there was an hour of social gatherings followed by supper at 5 o'clock and a business meeting at 6.30. The chief entertainment of the evening beginning at 7 will be staged in the assembly hall when girls from the Lowell high school will give an exhibition of fancy dancing under the direction of Miss Frances Leggat of the class of 1916.

WILL NOT GRANT LEAVE OF ABSENCE

A petition filed with the municipal council by John B. Blessington, superintendent of streets, asking for a 30 days' leave of absence, will not be granted. It was stated on good authority at city hall today. In his petition, Mr. Blessington assigns ill health as the reason for his request. It is authoritatively reported that Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy, head of the streets and highways department, who is now confined to his home by illness, is thoroughly opposed to the granting of Mr. Blessington's petition.

Hogg is traveling for his health.

POLICE EXAMINATION

Twenty-one patrolmen of the local police department took an examination this morning in the old round-matic chamber in city hall under the auspices of the civil service commission for the position of sergeant. Although 27 patrolmen made application to take the examination, two of them failed to put in an appearance at the appointed hour, 9 o'clock.

HELD GARDEN PARTY

A most enjoyable garden party and picnic was held at the home of Mrs. Daniel Foye, 185 B street, in aid of the coming lawn party of St. Margaret's parish. There were several dances by Agnes Cotter, Ethel Mello and Manuel Diaz, accompanied by Miss Alice Murphy. One of the interesting features was the cutting off of a cake donated by Mr. John Foye and won by Mrs. Agnes Connell, 24 Irving street. The prizes were won by Mrs. J. Mulvaney, Mrs. E. Tierney, Mrs. J. Wisner, Mrs. Margaret Kelly, George J. M. Grant and Mrs. J. F. Martin. The consolation prizes were won by Miss Bride Walsh and Master John Sullivan.

SAYS WILSON MAINTAINS OPENING OF ORANGE DAY

MILITANT SPIRIT

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Chairman George White of the democratic national committee called on ex-President Wilson at the latter's residence yesterday and discussed for an hour various political matters and the condition of public affairs. Mr. Wilson refused to say specifically the matters which were taken up.

"I can say this much, however," he said. "Mr. Wilson retains his keen interest in all affairs affecting our country, and he still has the militant spirit which characterized him as a party leader and a chief executive."

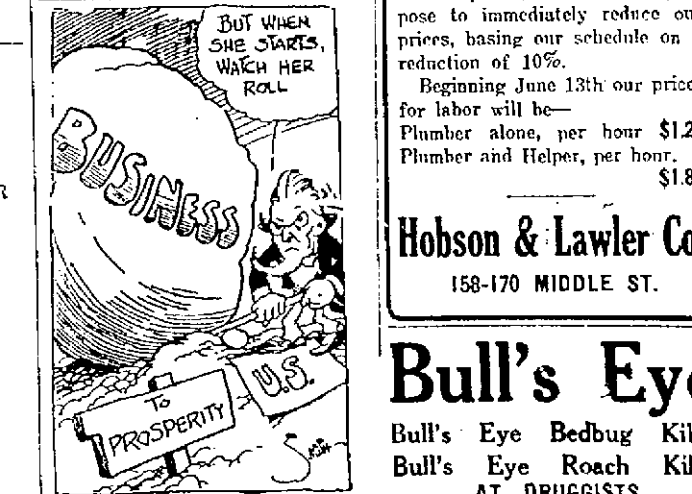

WOULD BAR SIMS AS UNDESIRABLE ALIEN

WASHINGTON, June 11.—A resolution declaring Rear Admiral Sims "an undesirable alien" and denying him readmittance to any American port, was introduced in the house yesterday by Representative Gallivan, democrat, Massachusetts.

The resolution offered by Mr. Gallivan referred to Rear Admiral Sims as a foreign-born citizen of the United States, but now connected, unhappily and unfortunately, with the naval establishment of this country. On other occasions, it added, he had "publicly stated that in case of war between the United States and Great Britain one British ship could easily dispose of four or five American ships of corresponding type," and it charged that "Sims has publicly depreciated his superior officers in the naval establishment and the character and quality of the government of this republic."

KITREDGE COUNCIL CRITICIZED SIMS

Paul Kittredge council held a business meeting followed by an ice cream party and business entertainment on Thursday evening. Several speakers criticized Admiral Sims and questioned his loyalty to the United States, although he criticized a class of citizens who in every emergency in which this nation needed defenders, have been eminently conspicuous for their readiness to die for the flag. In trying to stigmatize the citizens who sympathize with Ireland in her struggle for freedom, he showed his own selfishness and his sympathy with the Black and Tan atrocities that are perpetrated on the defenceless people. The degree that he has earned from England is "D.B.P." Doctor of British Propaganda.

In the entertainment those who contributed were: Redding's orchestra, Catherine McGovern, Bernadette, Madeline and Sadie Finnegan, Mrs. Lena Martin, Warren Kane, Mary McGovern, Jeanette and May Conway.

WAGE REDUCTION IN EFFECT MONDAY

The contemplated reduction in wages for the journeymen plumbers of this city will go into effect Monday, June 20, according to an announcement made today by officials of the Lowell Master Plumbers' association.

The reduction will be 10 per cent. The plumbers will receive 50 cents an hour instead of one dollar as heretofore. The matter of reducing the journeymen plumbers' wages has been under discussion for some time and recently the employees were notified of a ten per cent. cut, but no date was set for the new scale. The master plumbers met this forenoon and finally decided to set Monday, June 20, as the date for the reduction and official notice was sent to the Plumbers' union. Action on accepting or rejecting the new scale will be taken at the next meeting of the Journeymen Plumbers' union.

AT CANOE LAKE

The 70 pupils of the Washington school, who will receive their diplomas this month and about 50 of those who graduated from the same school last year went to Canoe Lake park this morning to spend the day. The merry party boarded four automobile trucks in front of the school. In the highlands shortly after 5 o'clock and the trip to the resort was a most pleasant one. Upon reaching the outing grounds sports were conducted and the winners were given suitable prizes. A basket game was enjoyed and in the afternoon games were played. The party was chaperoned by Miss Helen Dow, assistant master at the school, who was assisted by several teachers.

STILL ON DANGER LIST

Christian Gunther of Dracut, the young man who fell from the Junior coasting car at Lakeview last Saturday, and who is confined to the Lowell Corporation hospital, is reported as doing nicely today. SEEKS NEW TRIAL IN WOOD ALCOHOL CASE SPRINGFIELD, June 11.—Counsel for Samuel Darling of Hartford, Conn., found guilty of manslaughter by a jury last night, today filed a petition with Judge C. T. Callahan for a new trial alleging that the verdict was contrary to the law and the evidence. Darling was found guilty of causing the deaths of Joseph Kunis and Michael Bednarz of Chicopee during Christmas week, 1919, by the sale of wood alcohol "kelly" imported from New Haven, Conn., the drinking of which is alleged to have caused many deaths in Chicopee.

A DESERVED TRIBUTE

It is good to have one's work praised occasionally by those whose words mean something more than adulation. Recently there has been issued by the state department of education a pamphlet bearing the title, "Adult Immigrant Education in Massachusetts." Here is a paragraph taken from it:

"Lowell—This city is noteworthy because of the class work that has been developed in the Massachusetts mills. This corporation, probably the first of its kind in the country to set up factory classes, is at the same time among those establishments that help promote the education of immigrant children in every way possible. A splendid illustration is here afforded of what happens when the 'big boss' himself has a real interest in the education of his employees."

Who is the "big boss" here referred to? Probably most of the people of Lowell will not need to be told that it is Agent William A. Mitchell.

What has been accomplished in the Massachusetts mills by Mr. Mitchell, in the line of what is commonly called "welfare work," deserves wide recognition. He has gotten away from the old idea, that some employee, still clinging to that labor is a commodity to be bought and sold as any other commodity and that the responsibility of the buyer and seller when the article bought is delivered and the cash due for it paid over. Seemingly at the Massachusetts mills the policy has been followed of looking upon the workers as fellowmen and women with common hopes and aspirations and that it was desirable that all should be made to realize that they were part of a great family working for common ends.

Mr. Mitchell's activities have been aimed at having a contented lot of employees who can feel not only that they are fairly and justly treated, but that they are something more than mere parts of a machine for the grinding out of cotton cloth. He has realized that the contentment of his workers of foreign birth depended in some measure upon their being familiar with the language of their adopted country and having a share in all the hopes and aspirations of Americans. It should be gratifying to him, as it will be to those who have followed with interest the experiments he has been making, to read the commendation of the state board of education.

Others have followed in the path that has been blazed by Mr. Mitchell. This is notably true of A. D. Milliken, and the Americanization work that has been successfully carried on in the Hamilton mills. It is regrettable, though, that more of the city's industrial establishments have not realized the importance of such work. According to the report of the state department of education, there were in Lowell, at the time the statistics were compiled, only 512 foreign-speaking persons attending the factory and evening school classes in Americanization. There were 13 factory classes. In New Bedford, the banner city for such work, there were 1,650 persons registered in similar classes and there were 52 groups of factory students. The whaling city had 23 neighborhood Americanization classes, while Lowell had none. Lawrence had nearly twice as many Americanization students as Lowell and 20 factory classes.

Perhaps it may be hoped that there will come a wider recognition among our industrial leaders that Americanization of their foreign-speaking employees is a form of investment that is likely to pay high dividends and is something in the nature of insurance. The safety of the fabric of American institutions is more perhaps than we are ready to admit, bound up with the success with which the newcomers from other shores are fully assimilated into our national life.

ADMIRAL SIMS' CASE

It is rather embarrassing to the United States authorities, and indeed to all her people, to find that Admiral Sims of the American navy in a speech in London has floundered like the proverbial bull in the international china-shop.

Had Mr. Sims spoken in Paris, in Tokyo or Athens, no doubt he would have shown the fine diplomatic sense of the fitness of things for which admirals are usually noted in their utterances relative to their own country and other nations; but speaking in London, where he was honored by the highest officials of the government and even by royalty, the glamor of the occasion overcame him, with the result that he stumbled over by discussing a national, or, it might be said, an international controversy in a manner that reflected upon a large section of American citizens and stigmatized as "jackasses" the Americans who sympathize with Ireland in her just struggle for freedom.

Why Admiral Sims did this and why he went farther and predicted that a union of the English-speaking races would rule the world, may be understood from another speech made by him at the Guild hall in London in 1910 when he said: "Blood is thicker than water." . . . If the time ever comes when the British empire is seriously menaced by an external enemy, it is my opinion that you may count upon every man, every dollar and every drop of blood of your kindred across the sea."

For that utterance, Sims was publicly reprimanded by order of President Taft, and the fact that he commits a similar offense now, and even in an aggravated form, indicates that he is not a man who can be relied upon to observe the restraint of speech required of officers in his high station. He is, therefore, unfit for the position he holds in the American navy. Ordinarily he would have been expected to accept the honors paid him at a foreign court as offered in part at least, in recognition of the great country he represented; but instead, he criticized his country and its people when he said "The knew of but one nation that did not boast of the grandeur of the empire, its country and its people. Think of the British; they did not think it necessary." Nobody would blame Admiral Sims for showing a degree of filial sympathy for the country of his birth, if at the

The charge that Irishmen or their friends in this country have the blood of American boys on their hands is probably based on groundless assumption, as was his charge that the United States was responsible for heavy losses to the allied forces in not entering the war sooner and that much unnecessary loss of life was caused by the naval policy of Secretary Daniels during the war. If any proof could be found to sustain a charge such as that now made by Admiral Sims, the British propagandists would have had it published to the world long ago.

Admiral Sims, his speech and his charges should be thoroughly investigated and in future our naval and other officials should be made to understand that their speeches at foreign courts are to be such as will not violate the recognized customs of international diplomacy. To Americans, nothing is more nauseating than to see one of their admirals meekly fawning at the feet of foreign rulers and with candel tongue extolling imperial pomp at the expense of the country he represents.

DAVIS DEFENDS UNIONS

Secretary Davis of the department of labor at Washington is right when he warns certain corporations that to smash the labor unions, as proposed in certain quarters, would give a new impetus to radical and revolutionary organizations.

There is no reason why the laboring people should not be allowed to exercise the right to organize without being attacked or discriminated against from that cause alone.

Secretary Davis does not overstate the case when he says: "Labor unions are an organic growth of the times. If you smash them you will have, in their place, secret radical organizations which lead directly to the revolutionary spirit, which is unsettling Europe."

That is a statement that should be very seriously considered by every employer who undertakes to interfere with the legitimate functions of the unions to organize for their own protection just as the employers form associations to promote their common interests. If, however, the unions try to force the closed shop on any employer, the case is different. The employer in that instance is justified in resisting the intrusion upon his right to select his employees.

It is gratifying to know that since the war, there has been a better feeling between employer and employee than had existed for many years previous. Any movement against the unions would recall to action the ultra radical element represented by the I.W.O., the socialists and the anarchists.

The socialist doctrine favoring the abolition of the wage system and the ensuing leveling of wealth has been losing ground of late and it would soon be banished completely if the good feeling and mutual respect advocated by Mr. Davis prevailed between employer and employee. Whether such counsels shall prevail and such an era of good feeling bring a reign of industrial peace, depends entirely upon the sincerity with which employer and employee come together in co-operation for their common good.

Mr. Davis assures the unions that if they got rid of the radicals, the loafers and shirkers, and acted strictly on the level with their employers, the latter would soon insist that every employee should have a union card.

WIRELESS FOR POLICE NEWS

As we have repeatedly suggested, the Lowell police department should have a wireless service on certain lines of police news in order to head off criminals who speed away in fast automobiles after committing a crime. The time is not far distant when news agencies will use the wireless much more freely than at present. In the recent Arkansas flood, newspaper reporters risked their lives to get the news, and in that case used the aeroplane that served the purpose, although the difficulty of landing was quite hazardous. In case of destruction by storm, fire or other cause, the wireless offers the surest medium.

That was a lamentable accident by which Frederick W. Galbraith, head of the American Legion, lost his life. He was a true soldier who had won high honors for bravery and who had proved his prowess on many occasions. In his passing the Legion has the consolation of the entire nation. The auto continues to add to the death roll in every walk of life.

A Dorchester American Legion post has protested against the wearing of the American flag by participants in a coming prize fight, which shows that there is a difference between real fighters and "pugs" who punch, or pretend to punch, each other for dollars.

It is passing strange that not until the present time has anyone thought of inviting a president of the United States to visit the birthplaces in Quincy of the two chief magistrates that Massachusetts has given to the nation.

The municipal council has ordered the employment of an inspector on the Central bridge reconstruction job. It looks just now as though his work might last for a comfortably long lifetime.

"Think you're cool and you will be cool," says a health adviser, but the thermometer puts a crimp in the promise by refusing to let us think that way.

The farmers would be a hard-hearted lot indeed if they could see a Twilight scene on the South common and not give up speedily their opposition to daylight saving.

Why talk about prohibition being a failure, when the cops refuse to furnish us with even a sample of what it is like.

Again both the congressman gain credit and honor for his generosity by distributing seeds that Uncle Sam pays for.

John Golden, too, earned the right to have it written of him that "he loved his fellow man."

Wonderful Endorsement

The "Professors" of cheap dancing academies in the tenebrous are now advertising lessons in tiddling. One sends out a circular which reads: "Learn to dance the tiddie. Cleopatra invented it and that was the way she ensnared Napoleon."

A Persistent Kid

"Tell me a tale about an elephant," demanded the young man of his favorite aunt. "What, on Sunday? I'm surprised at you. Little boys ought not to want to hear tales about animals on a Sunday." The point seemed to be worth considering, and Bobby was silent for a while. Then he asked, "Is it Sunday now in Australia?" Auntie thought it was not. "Well, then, tell me a story about a kangaroo."

A Delicate Subject

"The young man's face was flushed, and his mouth was agape," said "Miss Blanche," said he, "I hesitated about coming to you, but my feelings have overpowered me at last. Is it too much for me to ask—?" "Go on," whispered the maiden, with heart beating wildly. "I came to ask you, Miss Blanche—?" "Yes," she smiled, encouragingly. "You will give me the advice which you said you had for indignation."

By Frances Boardman

Dear children, in the good old days there was at least one of the ways of going crazy, that they missed; the telephone did not exist. When central asks you, "number please?" the sequel comes in lines like these: "What number did you say you called?" You tell her; then the engine's stalled for three long minutes, while you wait to learn your telephone fate. But nothing happens on the board; it seems that central likes to board the numbers that she gets from you. Instead of calling just a few. Well, when your ear is alighted, and black discs has not yet appeared, you hear her shrill voice come: "What number were you asking for?" You mobilize your self-command; you take your temper well in hand, (reflecting death will bring release), and then repeat your little plea. The curtain falls, as programs say, to indicate a half a day, and then, if it's your lucky date, the number may eventuate.

Old Houses

Waking I walk the highways of today And toward tomorrow's threshold step Unfaltering feet, but in my dreams I learn Along a narrow, half-forgotten way That leads me through a middle-distance gray. Back to old houses, plainly I discern Rooms, halls and stairways of the past, Old lessons, read old books, old games I play. Old houses! Actual, though long since razed To nothing. Olden faces long since dust. Yet living more than those on which I gazed But yesterday. Cast-off beliefs and trust. And yet when sleep has come, so real they seem That when I wake, the waking seems the dream.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The textile exhibit which has been open at the chamber of commerce rooms for several weeks past has not attracted as many visitors as might have been expected. School children have visited it in company with their teachers. One visitor on examining the products of the mills, this week expressed surprise that a little mill at the Navy Yard in Dracut could turn out so many different kinds of woven cloth for suits and overcoats and all of high quality. In the products of each factory there are many things to be admired and the women have been busy on examining the dresses goods and other fabrics produced in some of our local mills.

The call sent out by the Massachusetts near east relief committee for clothing and shoes to be sent to the refugee women and children of the near east has been answered by 10 in the town of the state. Lowell among them, so Dr. William A. Bartlett, the state director, reported in a statement given out at the headquarters in Boston today. A great quantity of goods has been shipped to New York already, and requests are still being sent to the state office, 1215 Little Building, for the shipping tags that were furnished by the committee.

The Massachusetts Letter Carriers' convention in this city tomorrow will be an event of much importance to this class of public servants and to the city of Lowell. It is to be held at Old Fellows hall, Middlesex street. If the Lowell Auditorium were finished, the city would gladly welcome them to hold their meetings there. The people of Lowell know the local carriers, know how hard they have to work and how very accommodating they are in dealing with the public. Since the department took on the parcel post, the work of the carriers has been greatly increased and loads some of them have to carry from the local office are really surprising, both in size and weight. The carriers deserve well of the government and the public.

There has been much talk of what will be done to the legislative petition of the Lowell Chamber of Commerce after it has been submitted to City Clerk Flynn. Those who know the city clerk may rely that the petition will be dealt with in strict accordance with the statutes. The city clerk has never yet fallen down on any duty submitted to him, and the decision given as to "sufficiency" within the time limit if Mr. Flynn is on the job.

SUN WRITER QUIZZES THE WEATHER MAN AT WASHINGTON

Interesting Talk on New England Climate, Storms and Protection From Lightning--- St. Lawrence Valley a Disturbing Element

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—"There's nothing the matter with the New England climate," said the expert weather man out at the United States weather bureau. "If certain other sections of the country didn't scrap their bad weather and use the New England valleys for a dumping ground, New England weather would be as steady-going and conservative as its people. There is nothing the matter with that climate. It's the weather that doesn't rightfully belong there that makes all the trouble."

The high official to whom The Sun correspondent was talking (typed back his chair and went on: "You just asked me why the New England climate was variable, and that's the answer."

Then the weather man explained by word, hook and chart how it happens that the valleys of the Connecticut, the Merrimack and the great rivers of Maine are cat-calls for storms from all sections of the country and for storms that originate across seas as well, sometimes including those that start out on a course that sweeps them to the United States from Japan or the Philippines.

Storms Head to St. Lawrence Valley

"Just as all roads once led to Rome, so now all storms lead to the St. Lawrence valley. And from the St. Lawrence valley they find an easy outlet down the valleys of New England. The St. Lawrence valley is the bottle neck through which storms from all sections pour, and New England is the neck of the bottle through which they start on a course farther south. New England has a fine natural climate but it is grossly interfered with by weather that has jumped its own reservation." The major went on to say that areas of low barometer and areas of high barometer often selected New England in which to fight out their differences.

The cold west winds and the hot south winds meet on this common ground. Blizzards from Canada and warm rains from the Gulf stream seem to regard New England as a happy hunting ground. A tropical storm starts out towards the north and picks New England for its highway; a Canadian "norther" starts for the south and aims straight at the New England valleys. The storms meet there, as in No Man's Land and dispute the right of way. The cyclone that struck the Connecticut valley something like a year ago was directly traceable to one that originated in the Gulf stream region.

New England can point with pride to the sort of weather that is hers by right of inheritance and natural climate, but just so long as the undesirable elements from outside sections of the country continue to use the New England valleys as a public highway, just so long must she bear the reputation of being fickle, variable and submit to Mark Twain's comment, that New England hasn't any climate—she has just only weather.

Thunder Storms

From the New England climate the talk turned to thunder storms. "What's the difference between a thunder storm and a thunder shower?" queried our correspondent. "It's a matter of intensity, not duration. Very violent rain, vivid lightning and heavy thunder are storms, whether they are of long or short duration, while less violent are showers." The major gave a clear description of how thunder storms originate. He talked about tornadoes, cyclones, or whirls, as he called them. He pointed

CHILDREN ENJOY BUBBLE BROOK PARTY

"Jack and Jill went up the hill," "Tussy cat, pussycat, where have you been?" "Simple Simon met a pieman," "Tom, Tom the piper's son," "Sandy, Sandy do they?" And would you like to hear them sing those quaint droll nursery verses of Mother Goose? A large number of Lowell children, together with "children of an older growth," not only heard again the immortal rhymes, but actually saw the magical characters before them. It happened yesterday, at the Chalfoux store, where a "bubble brook party" was presented during the afternoon, under the direction of Mrs. Beulah N. Grace of New York city, assisted by Arthur Hiler and Miss Clara Shay, of the Victoria department. The affair was repeated this morning, with enthusiastic audiences of little ones present on each occasion. The nursery characters were assumed as follows: Bubble boy, Edward O'Neill, Jr.; Jack, Marion Plant; Jill, Agnes Rogers; Lazy Mary, Bernadine Plant; Tussy cat, Gladys Sweet; Sandy and her lamb, Mary Burnett; Tom, Tom the piper's son, Milton Simpson; Old King Cole, Robert W. Dunkley; pussycat, Robert Ryan; the good queen, Gladys Sweet; George Callahan; the fairy godmother, Lillian Ward; Mother Goose, Caroline Schultz; program girls, Helen Pearson and Alice Callahan. Victoria operated by Anita Ahlberg.

Adventures of The Twins

"MY, OH, MY!" ENCLAINED HE. "THIS IS WORSE THAN I EXPECTED"

Down toward the earth floated Nancy and Nick and Mr. Sprinkle Blow, the weatherman. Mr. Sprinkle Blow's magic umbrella set them down ever so gently in a meadow where patches of green clover were already spreading out to catch every one of Mr. Sun's warm rays.

Sprinkle Blow looked up at the sky and frowned. "Jim!" he declared. "It's much too warm! Much! I told Mr. Sun to stay in for awhile and let Jack Frost have a chance. Old Man Flood will be having the time of his life."

But Mr. Sun heard the fairyman and called him down quickly. "All right, I'm going this very minute. I'm looking for a cloud right now to hide behind."

Sprinkle Blow had no time to answer, for at that minute Mr. Sun disappeared and things grew dark as appeared. At the same time an icy wind began to blow from every direction. The twins shivered.

Sprinkle Blow nodded in surprise.

"Jack Frost is getting in his work," said he. "Let us go over to the creek and see what is happening."

Long before they came to the creek they could hear the roar of muddy water, and the weatherman hurried ahead as fast as his legs could carry him. "My, oh, my!" exclaimed he. "This is worse than I expected. 'Work as fast as you can. The faster you freeze up this creek again, the better it will be for everybody. Nick, you go and see what has happened to poor Boulder Beaver's dam. Nancy, you dig under that willow tree there into Mr. Muskrat's house and see if the babies are safe, and I'll fly out to sea and hunt for Mr. Minnie on his cake of ice. He can't have gone very far yet."

Mr. John Barrymore Says---

October the fifteenth
1 9 2 0

My dear Mr. Griffith:

I have for the second time seen your picture. Any personal praise of yourself or your genius regarding the picture I would naturally consider redundant and a little like carrying coals to Newcastle.

Anyway, I imagine you are so used to it that it would only bore you to death.

I have not the honor of knowing Miss Gish personally and I am afraid that any expression of feeling addressed to her she might consider impertinent. I merely wish to tell you that her performance in "Way Down East" seems to me to be the most superlatively EXQUISITE AND POIGNANTLY ENCHANTING THING THAT I HAVE EVER SEEN IN MY LIFE.

I remember seeing Duse in this country many years ago when I imagine she must have been at the height of her powers—also Madame Bernhardt—and for sheer technical brilliancy and great emotional projection, done with AN ALMOST UN-CANNY SIMPLICITY AND SINCERITY of method, it is great fun and a great stimulant to see AN AMERICAN ARTIST EQUAL, IF NOT SURPASS, THE FINEST TRADITIONS OF THE THEATRE.

I am not in the habit of writing letters of this character, and it is only a very rare experience that could impel it.

I wonder if you would be good enough to thank Miss Gish from all of us who are trying to do the best we know how in the theatre. Believe me,

Yours very sincerely,
(Signed) JOHN BARRYMORE

(Thus speaks one who has PROVEN his authority by achievements that have raised him to the position of the greatest artist of the English-speaking stage, concerning "Way Down East," to be shown twice daily at 2 and 8 p. m. at B. F. Keith's Theatre all next week.)

FROTHY WRAP

For chiffon gowns there must be frothy little wraps, in summer time, which will not crush the laces of the gown. Thus, Leatrice Joy, Goldwyn actress, has selected figured crepe silk trimmed in marabou. It is black.

HERE'S A SUGGESTION FOR NEW FAVORS

BY RUTH AGNES ABBING
The workroom was so festive in rolls of yellow crepe paper that I had to stop and peer in.
It was to be a surprise, they whispered—a surprise shower for a little girl who lived on the next floor and was going to be married next month. Of course they had wanted to do something original and different and then one of the girls evolved the idea while she was looking at the lace doll contrivances the shops are showing for telephones and the like.
So she came back to the house loaded with yellow crepe paper and carrying a mysterious package.
When she opened the package, us many little celluloid dolls as there were to be girls at the luncheon were found. Then the crepe paper was cut in strips about six inches wide and 18 inches long. A narrow ruffle was put at one edge of each. While this was being done, by half of the girls, the other half were busy making "shoulder straps."
They took the paper crosswise of the crinkle and folded it three times so that they had a strip about a quarter of an inch wide. One of these then were put over each shoulder of each doll and a touch of glue from the tube pasted them tightly at the little lady's waist line. A single flat piece of paper was put around the doll for a bodice and touches of glue held it together at the back.
Then the little skirts which had been gathered so they were quite full, were put on and held in the right place with more glue. A bow was made with two streamers and one piece just long enough to go around the doll's waist.
The bow was made with the aid of needle and thread, but held in place with paste, which was so daintily used that the method by which the fanciful frock was held on was not visible.
The skirts then were pulled out at the middle all the way around. They extended about an inch or perhaps two inches longer than the feet of their wearers. Their stiffness held her quite off her feet.

LIVES OF EASE DO NOT APPEAL TO THEM

As the four daughters of Leo Sam Fong, rich Chinese merchant of Helena, Mont., neared young womanhood, Lee began to arrange for them lives of traditional eastern ease.
But the daughters had ideas of their own.

"We're Americans," they said, and straightway they set out to support themselves. Jennie and Ruby, at the right, are stenographers; Lillian is a photographer and Mamie, at the left, is a bookkeeper.

CHILL GLASSES FOR SUMMER DRINKS

For long, cool drinks or ices, be sure to chill the glasses before filling. Ice cold lemonade served in a lukewarm glass must lose some of its leanness. Fruit ices become watery in short order if put into warm glasses. If glass is chilled gradually, even the finest cut will not break.

Menu for Tomorrow

BREAKFAST—Stewed dried peaches, boiled rice with sugar and top milk, bran muffins, coffee.

LUNCHEON

Asparagus omelet, bath bun, cocoa.

DINNER—Beef bouillon, mayonnaise of chicken, oatmeal bread, red raspberry shortcake, coffee.

MY OWN RECIPES

If strawberry shortcake has a rival it is in red raspberry shortcake. And if a shortcake isn't a shortcake unless made of baking powder or soda biscuit dough.

Bath Buns

Five cups flour ¼ cup sugar, 1 yeast cake, 3 eggs, ½ cup chopped citron, 1 cup currants, caraway seeds (optional), 1 teaspoon salt, milk.
Dissolve yeast in water. Beat eggs, 1 cup of flour and dissolved yeast cake together and let rise in a warm place. Let stand 6 hours or over night. Rub butter into flour, add sugar, citron and currants and caraway seeds. When sponge is light combine mixtures, mix thoroughly, cover with a cloth, brush over with a little milk and bake 25 minutes in a hot oven.

Mayonnaise of Chicken

One cold boiled chicken, 1½ cups mayonnaise, ¼ cup apple jelly, candied 1 cucumber.
To make the aspic jelly, boil a knuckle of veal which has been cracked in several places, for 5 or 6 hours. Season with carrots, onion, parsley, salt and pepper. Remove scum as it rises. Strain and let set. Cut the chicken into small pieces. Remove skin and ends of bone. Dissolve jelly and add to mayonnaise when cool. Put the chicken on a wire tray and pour over the sauce with a tablespoon. When the sauce is set pour over a little plain jelly. Arrange chicken on a bed of lettuce and surround with endive and sliced cucumber. Any jelly left in the mold may be cut into cubes and used as a garnish. (Copyright 1921 by The Lowell Sun)

BRIGHT RED PURSES

NEW YORK, June 11.—Even purses are changing their lines. After a period of the handbag into which one dived and brought forth almost anything, we have arrived at the envelope purse. They are of rather large dimensions and their flatness is a welcome change.

A note of brilliant color is often found in them. The fact just at present is for bright red, especially where the carrier is clad in gray.

GAS INITIATIVE IS ALIVE

Strikers' Representative Says That Many Signed Petitions Are Being Received

A report which had been circulated that the initiative movement started by former employees of the Lowell Gas Light company to have the city establish a municipal gas plant has been dropped was denied today by representatives of the gas men. "The signed petitions are coming in to us faster than we can examine them," said a representative of the strikers this morning. "The petitions will certainly be filed with the city clerk for placing before the municipal council."

A meeting of the strikers was held in Machinists' union hall, 212 Merrimack street, yesterday afternoon at which the initiative movement was discussed and a similar meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon in Central Labor union hall at 3 p. m.

It is stated by an attorney connected with the case that no date has yet been set for a hearing before a master on the issues involved in a suit for making a temporary injunction issued against the strikers permanent. The injunction prohibits the former employees of the Gas Light company from in any way interfering with the carrying on of the business of the company or the molesting of present employees.

The court order accompanying the injunction, which was issued about ten days ago, provides that the hearings before the master shall proceed "forthwith."

PLANNING A LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S DAY

The Vesper-Country club is planning for a ladies' and children's day at the club's grounds on Tyngs island, June 23. For entertainment there will be a band, a merry-go-round, and many games for the children. In the evening an orchestra will furnish music for dancing. The entertainment committee is composed of Alvah H. Weaver, Edward Woodward, George O. Robertson, Ray Farquhar, and Robert B. Wood. The executive committee of the club is composed of Harry G. Finner, Otis Humphrey, C. Marshall Foster, Arthur Murkland, H. Hutchins Parker, John C. Leggat and Andrew G. Swapp.

ON MAKING BEDS

There is art about making a bed in such a way that it is really comfortable.

In the first place, before the bed is made, it should have aired for two or three hours. During this time the covers should be thrown back over the footboard and the bedroom windows should be wide open.
Before attempting to remake the bed, remove all covers, leaving only the under sheet on. Whether that sheet is short or long, to prevent its rolling down into bunches during the night tuck it under the mattress at the head of the bed.
It is possible that the sheet will be too short to reach to the foot of the bed when it is tucked under at the top, but there is no necessity of its coming to the exact foot of the bed.
The upper sheet then should be tucked under the mattress at the foot and thus held securely so that it does not pull away from the feet. The blanket, which should be next to the sheet, should be tucked under as well as the comfort.

Most people prefer spreads of the loose variety nowadays which are left out all the way around.
At least once every week the mattress should be turned so that it will not become lumpy. For those of the two-piece sort, the square piece should be given only a quarter turn.

Tells Girls How She Found Relief From Pain

West Palm Beach, Fla.—"When I was 19 years old I was irregular and I had such terrible cramps it felt like a knife going through me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I was cured. After I was married I had the same trouble caused by the added work of farming and heavy washings so I told my husband to get six bottles of the Vegetable Compound and by taking it regularly my troubles ceased and now I never have a pain or ache, and am regular. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and think every young girl should take it. You can publish this letter and it may be the means of helping some other girl or woman."

—Mrs. MARY M. WAGNER, Box 759, West Palm Beach, Florida.

While no woman is entirely free from periodic suffering it does not seem to be the plan of nature that woman should suffer so severely and when pain exists something is wrong which should be set right. Every girl who suffers from monthly cramps should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

TRIBUTE TO GALBRAITH

International Phase Given to Funeral of National Commander of Legion

CINCINNATI, June 11.—An international phase was given today to the funeral of Col. Fred W. Galbraith, national commander of the American Legion who was killed in an automobile accident, by the presence of Marcel Knecht, French high commissioner to the United States, who was a close friend of the colonel and Captain Le-gierne, air attache of the French embassy at Washington, representing Ambassador Jusserand.

M. Knecht came to Cincinnati accompanied by two French veterans to carry the Tri-Color in the funeral procession. A palm on the coffin bore a card reading: "To one of the bravest liberators from the city of Chateau Thierry." The citizens of that city called to M. Knecht to order the tribute.

Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy; Col. T. M. Miller, allen property custodian, and J. T. Taylor, vice chairman of the legion's legislative committee, came from Washington to attend the funeral. Other arrivals were Governor Davis of Ohio, all the members of the Ohio supreme court; Franklin D. Miller of Philadelphia, past national commander of the American Legion; John H. Emory of Grand Rapids, vice national commander, and Maj. Gen. George W. Read, commander of the Fifth Army Corps area.

MUSICALE AT THE PAWTUCKET SCHOOL

The pupils of the Pawtucket grammar school gave a most delightful musicale in the school hall yesterday afternoon. The affair was attended by the teachers and pupils of the school together with a large number of parents and it was most successful in every respect. The skill and ease of the young musicians reflected great credit on their teachers. Miss Gertrude E. O'Brien, piano, and Miss Goldie Gardner, violin. William P. Barry, principal of the school, assisted materially in the success of the occasion. The program was as follows:

Entire Violin Class
Piano Solo, "Cuckoo."
Madeline Grondin.
Duet, "Mistress Mary."
Helen Hayes, Catherine Casey.
Solo, "Muffin Man."
Daniel Cronin.
Violin solo, "Dream Waltz."
Vera Shepherd.
Scales.

Solo, "Butterfly March."
Jane Hall.
Solo, "Dream of Fairland." Pauline Desrochers.
Violin solo, "Miserere."
Doris Casey.
Solo, "Shepherd Song."
Mary Cronin.
Duet, "Queen of Hearts."
Agnes Walsh, Mabel Savage.
Solo.
Irene Landry.
Violin Group, "Old Black Joe."

PROFESSIONAL AND BUSINESS WOMEN MEET

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 11.—The convention of the New England Federation of Business and Professional Women began today with the New Haven club as the hostess. Delegates enrolled from two score or more cities and breakfast together. The first general meeting of the Chamber of Commerce hall was presided over by Miss Sara M. Wheeler of Cambridge, Mass. The vocational groups later had as leaders Miss Helen Maclennan, for the nurses; Miss George Troup, New Haven, newspaper advertising; Miss Grace Fuller, librarian; Miss Florence Child, business; Miss Edna Siebbins, clerical; Miss Katherine Brennan, teachers; and Mrs. Mary S. Burnham of Portland, Me., miscellaneous.
At the dinner tonight the toastmasters will be Judge Gratia L. Rice of New York and the principal address will be by Miss Lena M. Phillips, the national executive secretary.

LOWELL MAN A BEARER

John Golden, Labor Leader, Buried With Simple Ceremony at Fall River

FALL RIVER, June 11.—John Golden, for 18 years president of the United Textile Workers of America, who died in Brooklyn, last Thursday, was buried with simple ceremony in St. Patrick's cemetery here today. Attending the regular mass, celebrated at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, were the high officials of the organization, together with representatives of the United Garment Workers of America, the Boot and Shoe Workers' International organization, the International Furriers' union, the United Hatters of North America, and several textile councils of New England, including that from this city.

Workers in Silent Tribute

Mrs. Sara Conboy, secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers, announced that according to word received last night, thousands of operatives in various textile centers of the east, planned to stop work for several minutes as the body of Mr. Golden was being carried into the church. Employees of local mills, however, continued their work.

Members of the executive council acted as bearers. They were John H. Powers, Pawtucket; Lewis Ludwig, Dighton; James Starr, Pater-son, N. J.; John Hanley, Lowell; Dennis M. Fleming, Manchester, N. H.; John Thomas, Guelph, Ont.; John White, Cohasset, N. Y.; and Luther M. Barnhardt, Charlotte, N. C.
Mass was celebrated by Rev. James Carr of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, assisted by Rev. John Sullivan and Rev. Henry McCann of Southboro, Mass.

POLICE SEEK MISSING BROOKSIDE GIRL

The police are searching for pretty sixteen-year-old Blanche Davis, of Brookside, missing from her home. The girl is described as being dark, about 5 feet, 4 or 5 inches in height, and wearing at the time of her disappearance a blue one-piece dress with white spots, a brown belt ½-inch in width, a white collar, and a wrist watch. If the girl is located, the police or Mr. Donnelly, telephone 8092, may be notified.

Six Months' Sentence

Arthur McGillicuddy, an elderly man, was sentenced to serve six months in the house of correction for assault and battery on a little girl. The alleged offense was committed May 16, and a local physician was one of the witnesses for the prosecution, as well as the girl herself, and her parents. The mother and father testified that they had extended the hospitality of their home to McGillicuddy, and that the assault was committed at their residence while the latter was their guest.

Auto Law Violation

Addison N. White paid a fine of $10 for violation of the automobile laws. The complainant charged that the defendant was operating his automobile on Middlesex street, when a car of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company stopped to discharge passengers. It is claimed that White passed within eight feet, to wit, six feet, of the running board and lowest step of the conveyance while there in use by passengers for the purpose of alighting. A plea of guilty was entered.

Johnny Kilbane's Sizeup
Of Georges Carpentier

KILBANE AND CARPENTIER

BY JOHNNY KILBANE
Featherweight Champion

MANHASSET, L. I., June 11.—I've just made a close-up of Georges Carpentier, the French challenger.

I called at his barbed training camp on one of his non-visiting days, for I wanted to see him work when he wasn't performing for public consumption.

I talked with him afterward for more than an hour on the flower-bordered porch of the old farmhouse in which he is quartered.

Georges is the fastest heavyweight I ever have seen.

Although he has been using his right hand mainly in public sparring with Fannette, Journe (who's a double for Al Palmer) and his other partners, the challenger has a wonderful left that is lightning fast on jabs and hooks. It was with this left hand that he jabbed his way with Joe Beckett to an opening that put the Englishman's chin in line for the right-handed knockout blow in the first round.

His right cross is a dandy and he has a "dying punch" that he seldom uncorks and which I never have seen used before. It may be that he's holding it out for July 2. When an opening to the chin occurs Georges, who is always on his toes, veritably throws himself through the air at his opponent, with his right arm straight out before him. Every ounce of steam and strength is behind his blow, and if it lands, it's a 10 to 1 shot that a knave will result. Burly Joe Beckett crumpled like paper when it collided with his chin.

There's been a lot of talk about Carpentier's "waltz punch." It's nothing much more, as I see it, than a series of rapid-fire left jabs to the face, the Frenchman meanwhile dancing in and out and circling his opponent to make him turn.

Carpentier is training differently than Dempsey. The champ is working for strength, endurance and hitting ability; Georges is centering his efforts on increasing his already amazing speed. Dempsey plans a give-and-take fight; the challenger's campaign calls for him to do most of the giving and very little receiving. For it's generally admitted in the Carpentier camp that should the "man-killer" get in one of his famous "socks," there would be little hope for Georges.

Descamps figures Carpentier has an excellent chance if he sticks to long-range fighting, for the challenger packs a wicked wallop himself, and is capable of delivering it while traveling at high speed.

The Frenchman's plan will be to go into high gear in the first round and stay out of a mix with the champ at all cost. He'll try to keep off Dempsey's bull-like rushes with his stinging jabs, watching always for an opening for his "dying punch."

Both the indoor and outdoor rings at Manhasset are 12-footers. Georges is training in these for speed. He'll go into the big bout accustomed to working in a small area and the 20-foot ring at Jersey will give him acres of room to dance away from the champ.

In the smaller ring, working with Big Journe and Jannette, Carpentier gets accustomed also to working on the ropes, and if Dempsey does crowd him into a corner on July 2, the challenger will be in better shape to fight his way out than if he had not been training for it.

Nick Tumbles for Golf

NICK ALTROCK—HIS GOLF SWING AND A PAIR OF EXPRESSIONS

Nick Altrock can be serious. It's when he's playing golf.

He has to be serious then. There are no galleries to make laugh as he "putts" around the course.

So Nick, the greatest laugh specialist in baseball, becomes a hard thinker on the golf links.

He spends all the leisure time he can get away from his clown job with the Washington Senators buzzing around the greens.

While he is not a Walter Hagen or a Chick Evans with a set of sticks, Nick's game is coming along.

His ambition is to be able to beat Warren G. Harding, Clark Griffith and Colonel Bogie some day.

It's on the sidelines at the ball park where Nick shines.

Gloom-Killers
He has a brand-new set of gloom

killers this season.

Clark Griffith has a standing offer at the Georgia avenue park in Washington, guaranteeing to give any fans' money back that Nick can't separate from a long hearty giggle.

So far Griffith hasn't made any refunds.

Nobody knows except the club officials when Nick draws down in his pay envelope as the club's laugh specialist. Whatever figure it is Nick is worth it. He is a good 50 per cent. of the drawing powers of the Washington ball club.

Nick has been clowning for Griffith since 1912.

Each year he adds fresh wallops to his fun repertoire—and he'll.

Circus managers and movie magnates have tried to book him. But Nick likes his job at the ball park best.

Centralvilles Clubbed Out of Top Position by Highland Daylights
In a Fast Game

TWILIGHT LEAGUE STANDING
	Won	Lost	P.C.
South Ends	5	2	71.4
Centralvilles	3	2	60.0
Broadways	3	2	60.0
Brooklyn	2	3	40.0
C.N.A.C.	2	3	40.0
Gillespies	1	5	16.7

The Highland Daylights knocked the Centralvilles from top position in the Twilight League last evening by defeating them, 4 to 3, in a close and interesting game on the South common.

As a result of the downfall of the Centralvilles, the South Ends slid into first place and were safely ensconced there over the week-end.

The Daylights won the game in one inning, the second, when they singled across four tallies. It had bounding ball which got past Lynch in left field allowed three of the runs to come in. The concrete sidewalk in left may be blamed by the Centralvilles for their defeat.

John Smith was on the mound for the Daylights and pitched good ball as did his opponent, Whitney. Both twisters went the entire distance without difficulty. Fielding was sharp and fast in both camps.

There was little excitement in the first inning but in the second the Centralvilles were all set for some scoring when Cahill made first on a scratch hit after Lynch had fanned. He was distinguished when they tried to steal second. Fielding was sharp and fast in both camps.

In the 3d half the Daylights were a bit more successful. Belleville took first on a grounder and Freeman singled to right. Lyons bunted but McPherson, who was covering first failed to hold Whitney's throw and there were three on. Cahill hit hard to left and the smash was good for a single anyway, but when Lynch struck out his hands to envelop the ball it took an unexpected bounce and went over toward the home plate.

There was another big crowd on hand and most of the fans stayed until the last man was out, so close was the score.

grounded to Purcell but Cahill got home. The Daylights lightened up and brought the scoring to a halt.

In the sixth, however, Manager Freeman made a great attempt to tie the score and came within a run of doing so. A brace of opportune hits and a misplay by J. Sullivan at second gave the boys from over the bridge two runs. There was no further scoring. The score:

NOTES OF THE GAME

Nothing doing until Monday when it is expected the C.N.A.C. and Broadways will play off their 5-6 game of last Wednesday.

Gallagher played a great game in the field. Out of all the players were on their toes and there is now a marked difference in the brand of baseball being played as compared with the first week or two of the season.

There was another big crowd on hand and most of the fans stayed until the last man was out, so close was the score.

DERBY WINNER HAS NEST
EGG FOR OLD AGE

LEXINGTON, Ky., June 11.—When Behave Yourself, Col. Edward Riley Bradley's now world-famed brown horse, stuck his aristocratic nose under the wire just ahead of his stable-mate, Black Servant, at Louisville, thereby capturing the Kentucky Derby, he won for himself assurance of a pension in the days when age creeps upon him.

His ability to travel faster than his rivals from the east and west alike brought to the coffers of Col. Bradley just $35,560 in cash.

Family Stocking

While that particular purse may not be laid away in the Bradley family hokey for Behave Yourself's own "personal" use, a similar amount or as much as is required, will be at the bidding of Behave Yourself when his running joints are not as supple as they are now.

Behave Yourself will be retired sooner or later, to the broad acres of Idle Hour farm here, to meditate upon the grandeur that is past, and the glory that was his while it lasted.

And while there is a lot of rapidly remaining in Behave Yourself's nimble heels, his future welfare has been assured.

He has laid up money to care for him in his old age. Many a man and woman, too, work a lifetime and is unable to accumulate enough for that. Behave Yourself did it in a couple of minutes at Louisville.

Luxurious Home

Idle Hour farm is like a jewel set in a great emerald. The stable colors are green and white, and Col. Bradley has every fence on the great farm painted a dazzling white.

The bluegrass makes a rare green—no bluegrass is not really blue—and the farm appearance carries out the racing colors, which are the choice of Mrs. Bradley.

Behave Yourself will be shipped from Churchill Downs to Latonia, where he is entered in the Derby.

From there he will go to Saratoga to race in the autumn, and will then likely be returned to Idle Hour for the winter. Whether he will race again next year remains to be seen.

The great colt has four daily meals—he is a hearty eater. He does away with 12 quarts of crushed oats and 18 to 20 pounds of hay. On Friday he has a "Sunday dinner"—it is bran mash.

When a horse on the Bradley string retires after an active life, Idle Hour receives him or her into its own. Every employee about the place at once takes on himself the business of making a friend of the animal.

New "Soccer" Overshadows
All Other Sports in Canada

ADAMSON (LEFT) OF THE GRAND TRUNK TEAM TRYING TO BLOCK "HOME RUN" BY HORNEBY OF THE HIGHLANDERS. HE FAILED.

BY DEAN SNYDER

Canada is in the grip of the "soccer" fever.

This year clubs have sprung up in nearly every town and city in the Dominion.

A new race of fans similar to the wild baseball fans in the United States has suddenly come into existence.

It is estimated that there are 500 soccer clubs scattered over Canada at present. Over 100,000 people attend matches weekly.

Dyed-in-the-wool followers of the game differ from the American baseball fans. Soccer enthusiasts haven't reached the pitch of excitement where they holler "Kill the referee" or "Throw him out!" etc.

The regular number of players signed to a club is 20, which makes a total of 12,000 players under signed contracts in the Dominion.

In England and Scotland, where the game is further advanced, a rigid line is drawn between amateurs and professionals, but in Canada there are no legal professional players at present.

The wages of the old country professionals vary from $10 to a maximum of $12 per week.

Two influences have been at work to intensify the new interest.

One is the journey of men, "Over There," where thousands learned to play the game, and the other is the magic influence which the miracle team of Scottish players, now touring the Dominion, is having.

These Scots are the "Babe Ruths" and the "Triton Speakers" of soccer.

Their cunning and skill in handling the ball with their toes and heads is as spectacular as the best home run Ruth ever knocked over a barrier, or the most daring strategy Ty Cobb ever pulled.

An Interview in Rhyme With Carpentier.
by Berton Braley

Who win ze fight? I cannot say;
Zis Monsieur Dempsey, he ees tough,
But I am tough too, in my way
An' I expect to treat him rough;
Zis Dempsey, he ees beeg, I know,
Beside heem I am light an' small;
But you know how the saying go:
"How beeg they are, how hard they fall!"

I neaver feel so fit as now
Marcot, my chief, he feed me well;
I have ze pep, ze speed, somehow
I sink zat I shall fight him well!
But please, I am not used to train.
Wiz zees so many crowds about—
But please, perhaps you will explain
Zat's why I mus' keep peeples out.

I hear some experts ze insist
Descamps has ze hypnotique eye!
Well, I have ze hypnotique fist
Zat puts to sleep ze other guy.
Zey say zat I mus' give away
Some twenty pounds in zis affaire;
Zat's nozzing to Carpentier;
Four, I should worry; I no care!

I sink I win; behold, I am
Tres fort—you see zat at a glance;
I fight wiz courage for ma femme
Of ad ma petite fille back in France;
Monsieur, I leave you ze other guy.
Be kind to me in what you write,
I hear ze voice of Chef Marcot;
"Georges, mus' eat if he would fight!"

START PLAYING ON NEW GOLF COURSE

A number of golfers were early on the new 18-hole course of the Vesper Country club on Tyng's Island today. The course is practically completed but it will not be formally opened for use until June 23. Nevertheless there have been a few who have made use of the course during the last few days, and today there was considerable addition to the number of players and there were also a number of members and friends who tramped over the course to get a line on its possibilities for the future use.

K. OF C. TEAM WILL OPEN SEASON SATURDAY

The local Knights of Columbus baseball team will open its season next Saturday afternoon at Spalding park with the Roxbury Red Sox, headed by the famous "Buck" O'Brien, former Red Sox star. As its opponents, Manager Nixey Coughlin has assembled a strong outfit to represent the local council this year and so confident is he of the strength of the outfit that he has arranged games with some of the finest teams in the state.

INTEREST IN RICARD'S
CONTEST GROWING

Judging by the way the votes in the Twilight League most popular player contest poured in to Ricard's the past week, great interest is being taken in this unique contest. Through the mail, by youngsters, by grown-ups, in fact, everybody seemed to bring or send in votes for their favorites, and today's standing shows a rapid increase, both in the number of votes cast and also in the number of participants at the present time. Well, let's go, folks. Keep the ball a-collaring, if you can't bring them in, send them in by mail. They're welcome. Descamps is still leading with 3536 votes. Buckley is second with 2512 and Purcell third with 1516.

The Giants would grow stronger if they had Groh. This is no Rapp.

OMENS OF GOOD 'LUCK' LOWELL GIRLS COMPETE SHOWED ON DEMP.
IN BIG TRACK MEET

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 11.—If Jack Dempsey carries all of the omens of good luck sent him into the ring when he faced Georges Carpentier at Jersey City, July 2, he will weigh about a ton. The heavyweight champion receives from 50 to 300 letters daily, each containing some sort of a trinket which the senders declare surely will bring him good luck in the ring.

Good luck omens of ancient date, rabbits' feet, various medals and miniature dolls are some of the things which a loaded down postman dumps into the champions' post parlor every morning. Dempsey has received a hundred or more good luck "pigeons," mostly the gifts of children from all parts of the country.

Faddy J. O'Brien, a Chicago admirer of the champion, read that Carpentier received a rabbit's foot found in a Missouri graveyard in the monthlight by a blind negro. O'Brien decided the foot would bring him luck because something must have been wrong with the rabbit. So he sent Dempsey a spring chicken, suggesting that he conceal it in his corner for good luck.

ON MT. PLEASANT LINKS

The second qualifying round in the club cup and golf ball sweepstakes contest was being played today on the links of the Mt. Pleasant club. Next Saturday the annual spring open tournament is held medal play, will start. The course will be open for use by entrants next Thursday and Friday. Luncheon is to be served in the clubhouse near the club house.

Where You Get What You Want at Right Prices

CAMBRIDGE, June 11.—Middy houses and bloomers were the costumes of the day at the Harvard stadium today, as women competed in a track and field competition. Competing in events modified somewhat for their sex, 155 athletic young women from various New England colleges sought to gain the first sectional championships of the Young Women's Christian association. It was the first appearance of women in athletic competition at New England on a large scale. The object of the meet was announced as the stimulation of athletics among working girls.

The events listed included a 75-yard dash, baseball throw, running high jump, five-pound shotput, 60-yard race over hurdles two feet high, running broad jump and relay race. The girls represented included Portland, Me., Newburyport, Boston, Haverhill, Brockton, Lawrence, Lowell, Springfield, New Bedford and Pawtucket.

CAMP PLAYS GOLF

MANHASSET, N. Y., June 11.—Georges Carpentier today passed up his usual road work to play golf. He played at the New England Golf Room in Garden City, L. I., and intended to return after lunch.

The challenger will do no heavy work today or tomorrow. He has promised, however, to attend a foreign relief benefit in Roslyn, L. I., and to spar a few rounds with one of his partners. He will resume training Monday and said today that he would probably repeat his six-round sparring session of yesterday.

FEAR OF OVERTRAINING HAUNTS CARPENTIER

NEW YORK, June 11.—Fear of overtraining appears to haunt Georges Carpentier and his manager. In his eagerness to be in complete trim when he faces Jack Dempsey on July 2, the French pugilist has apparently reached top condition well in advance of the date of combat. That this situation is realized by his advisers, may be inferred from the frequent changes in the announced training program and the statement that for the next week or so Carpentier would work when and how the impulse moved him to do so.

Several close observers of pugilistic conditioning methods have intimated recently that Carpentier was training at too fast a pace for a bout to be held in the early part of July and if a fight can be gained from his last public workout the warnings are not without basis. While the challenger did not indulge in sparring matches with his partners on Thursday, his open exhibition of bag punching, shadow-boxing and body strengthening exercises appeared to produce an impression of fatigue out of proportion to the amount of physical energy expended. The session lasted 33 minutes and Carpentier did not appear to take the work seriously. Part of the time his attention was centered upon the comment and movements of the spectators.

At the finish of his exhibition, those who followed Carpentier from the ring noted that his jaw was sagging loosely and he wore a tired, haggard expression in speaking to the press. He was seen to be yawning and his jaw ached at the beginning of the afternoon's workout.

Mentally Stale.
Among those who watched the workout was Floyd Comstock, former trainer of the University of Southern California team. Comstock, who has given his opinion of the exhibition, said:

"In many respects Carpentier is a most remarkable athlete, but I should not right now be mentally stale, if not physically so. I am not in a position to judge his boxing ability as he did nothing unusual in the ring but studied as an athlete specimen, he is most interesting. To begin with, he has a really wonderful muscular development from his toes to his knees and should be able to move around the ring like a shadow. From knees to hips, his development is nothing abnormal from an athletic standpoint.

"Considered as a whole, I would say that Carpentier's bodily development leaned toward that of a track athlete or an acrobat rather than that of a heavyweight pugilist.

"I was more interested, however, in his apparent lassitude and indifference throughout the work. This impression was heightened by the generally sober and somber atmosphere which pervaded the spectators and camp routine. Everybody spoke in a whisper, as it appeared to have the general effect of a funeral. If I were handling Carpentier, I would import a court jester and a couple of Negro minstrels to liven up the Frenchman's camp. It would be a pity to see him mentally fagged out as this exercise was on the eve of just such an important contest."

Lightning struck a barbed wire fence near Lamarco, Colorado, killing fourteen valuable cows along the line of the fence.

WOBURN FANS HONOR WHITE SOX PITCHERS

BOSTON, June 11.—The visit of the White Sox today in the first of a three game series with the Red Sox was the occasion for a demonstration by fans from Woburn in honor of Dominick Mulrennan, a Chicago pitcher. They arranged to give him a diamond ring. The first appearance in a Chicago uniform of Harry Hooper, long a member of the Red Sox went unmarked by any set demonstration, but fans are in the mood to give a big day as a testimonial to him during the second trip of the White Sox in early August. The Hooper day program, its promoters July 25, 1920 and next was event of its kind in this city. It is in charge of John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor, who has been a warm friend of Hooper since he was noted at Woburn in the world series of 1918 when Red Sox and Cubs went on strike for a time.

FITZ FAILED TO RECOVER TITLE FROM JEFFRIES

Three years after Bob Fitzsimmons lost the heavyweight crown to James J. Jeffries, he tried to get it back and failed. Jeffries knocked him out in less time than their first meeting. The second encounter was at San Francisco July 25, 1920, and in the eighth round it ended in victory for the champion. Their first fight lasted 11 rounds.

It was not because Fitzsimmons was an inferior fighter that he failed to come back, for the sport critics said he outboxed Jeffries at every point, guarding his opponent as carefully as a cat. He was reputed to have had for food, besides, he had a tremendous advantage in weight. Fitzsimmons weighed 185 pounds, while the champion from California entered the ring with 220 pounds to back up his blows.

Fitzsimmons danced about the heavy-swinging Jeffries and sent home many a hard hitting fist. The force of these was impotent against the great bulk of the champion, however. The speed of the challenger was a great factor in staving off defeat in the early rounds.

Fitzsimmons fought a heroic fight. In the deciding moment of the bout Jeffries sent a hard left hand smash against Fitzsimmons' jaw and followed it with another left to the stomach that knocked her lighter opponent to the floor.

Fitzsimmons' fighting power was crushed, but not his spirit. Badly dazed, he rose in an effort to continue. His strength was gone and he sagged down and was counted out.

TIGERS OF BOSTON AT GRANITEVILLE

The Abbot Worsted Co. baseball team of Graniteville met one of its strongest opponents of the season this afternoon when it lined up against the "Tigers of Boston" at Abbot park, Graniteville. A large crowd of fans watched the game. Williams and Carrigan did the battery work for the mill team.

JOHNNY DUNDIE WINS OVER GEORGE CHANEY

BOSTON, June 11.—Johnny Dundee, the clever and elusive lightweight from New York, won the decision over George Chaney of Baltimore in their 10-round bout at the Faneuil A. C. show in Mechanics building last night.

Between 6000 and 7000 fans saw Dundee work in masterly fashion. In the last round, however, he came near sharing the same fate many of Chaney's opponents have. In the last minute of the battling, he started to mix it and Chaney's dangerous left landed on his jaw.

Dundee went to the mat, but was up in a jiffy, fighting back as hard as ever. Again Chaney's left landed on Dundee's jaw. It only staggered him and after that he worked carefully till the bell sounded.

It was the only times in the battle that it looked as if Chaney had any chance. In the third Chaney would have lost on a foul except that Dundee insisted on continuing. Chaney hit Dundee low with the left and Johnny had to stop. A physician was called and reported that Dundee had been felled, but as he did not seem to be in the fight in that fashion the contest was allowed to go on after Dundee had been given several minute's rest.

BIG CONTEST ON AT SPALDING PARK

A large crowd of fans were on hand at Spalding park this afternoon at the opening of the "blood" contest between Joe Peers and the Buntlings for a purse of $100. The teams lined up as follows:

St. Peter's—McHale c, Carroll 1st, Smith 2d, O'Malley ss, Quinn of, Regan p, Ryan 3d, Potts 1b, Gath, 2b.
Buntlings—McMullen c, Cavanaugh of, McGuire 1st, Lavelle 2b, R. McQuade ss, Schofield 3d, Hill 1b, Hodgson c, Morning p.

LATONIA DERBY

CINCINNATI, June 11.—Only five thoroughbreds were carded to start in the 35th running of the Latonia derby at Latonia this afternoon. Of these Behave Yourself, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Black Servant, winner of the Blue Grass stakes, and the Proctor Knott handicap will run as the E. R. Bradley entry and are expected to rule as favorites.

PANTUCKET SCHOOL

A delightful musical was given by the pupils of the Pantucket school in the assembly hall of the school yesterday afternoon. The affair was in charge of Miss Gertrude F. O'Brien, assistant director of music in the public schools, who was assisted by Miss Goldie Gardner, teacher of violin, and the program was as follows:

"America," entire class; piano solo, "Cuckoo," Madeline Grondin; duet, "Miss Mary," Helen Hayes, Catherine Carey; solo, "Muffin Man," Daniel Cronin; violin solo, "Dream of Fairland," Desires; solo, "Willow Tree," Doris Carey; solo, "Shepherd's Song," Mary Cronin; duet, "Queen of Hearts," Agnes Walsh, Mabel Savage; solo, "In the Treoplane Landry," violin group, "Old Black Joe."

THOUGHT SHE HAD HEART DISEASE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Made Complete Cure of Stomach Trouble

MRS. FRANK W. WALLACE

Moultonville, Carroll Co., N. H.

"An account I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' or 'Fruit Liver Tablets' in one of our newspapers prompted me to try this remedy.

I was all run down and work was burdensome owing to indigestion and fullness, due to gas on my stomach which caused me to belch a good deal. My heart seemed to be affected.

It was two years ago that I was in this condition and began the use of 'Fruit-a-tives'. Even though the trouble had been of a few years standing, the use of 'Fruit-a-tives' proved the very remedy I required. I was freed of the indigestion, which I attributed to my heart; and I can conscientiously recommend 'Fruit-a-tives' as a remedy of merit!"

GRADUATION AT MOUNT HOLYOKE COLLEGE

The 34th commencement at Mount Holyoke college will be observed Tuesday morning at 10.30 in the Chapin auditorium, when 202 members of the senior class will receive the A. B. degree. The speaker at the exercises will be Hon. William Howard Taft, whose subject is "Some Laymen's Thoughts on Higher Education."

The events of commencement week began Thursday afternoon at 4.30 when the seniors gaily started off in trucks for Mount Holyoke to perform the duties of college days. The sophomores, as underclass sisters, saw them off with songs and best wishes and were waiting to greet them in the same manner when they returned from the mountain Friday at 5, after a wonderful collection of hats, handkerchiefs, including toasts, class meetings, representative of the four years, mountain mail, class will, prophecy, and awards, and all sorts of "stunts."

Today was given over largely to alumnae events, the alumnae forum being held at 10 this morning and the business meeting at 2 this afternoon. After the alumnae banquet this evening in the Wilbur banquet hall, there will be the alumnae fete in the Chapin auditorium. The graduates will march in by classes, each class being distinguished by an original costume, and the cup will be awarded each year to the class having the largest percentage of its members back for reunion will be presented.

The step exercises, when the seniors give over to the junior class the exclusive right to sit on Skinner steps, took place this afternoon. After the seniors sang their step and class songs, the president and vice president handed over their caps and gowns to the officers of the junior class; the seniors relinquished the steps to the juniors who sang their class and step songs. The senior serenades by Lower Lake at 9.30 this evening will bring to a close the entertainments of today. This is always one of the most effective events of commencement week. The seniors in cap and gown and carrying Japanese lanterns sing college songs, both old and new, across the water.

The Rev. Dr. Rockwell Harmon Potter of Hartford, Conn., will preach the baccalaureate service tomorrow at 10.30 in the Mary Lyon chapel. There will be a campus sing in the afternoon led by Miss Dorothy E. Kellogg, 1921, of Buffalo, N. Y., the college song leader, and the vespers service at 7.30 in the evening will be conducted by Francis M. E. Woolley.

At the final service of the year Monday morning, President Woolley will announce the names of the sophomores and seniors receiving honors for excellence in scholarship. At 10.30 the grove and ivy exercises will take place. Tribute is paid to the memory of Mary Lyon, the founder of the college, at the grove exercises, when the seniors dressed in white and bearing a long laurel chain, march into the enclosure around her tomb, passing between lines of sophomores softly singing "Lead and True." There the seniors sing the grove song as they enter the laurel around the tomb, and forget-me-nots are laid on the grave. The ivy will be planted near the Student-Alumnae hall and the ivy oration will be delivered by Miss Mary Mansen, 1921, of Greenbush. The annual alumnae luncheon comes Monday at 1 o'clock and in the evening the Dramatic club will present Barrie's "Quality Street" in the Chapin auditorium.

Prof. William Churchill Hammond and Prof. Julia B. Dickinson of the music department will give a recital Tuesday afternoon in the chapel. The events of commencement week will close with the president's reception that evening on the lawn in front of New Hall.

Mrs. E. F. Hemenway of Chelmsford and Miss Maria D. Hill of Methuen are among the alumnae who expect to return to Mt. Holyoke for their class reunions at commencement time.

FOR FROCKS

This season lends itself well to the making over of the small girl's frocks. If her skirt is too short and there is no other way of lengthening it, a good idea is to buy harmonizing or contrasting material, put a hem on with it and then fashion the new collar and collar of the same material.

Jaran has few wild animals and no poisonous reptiles.

Greenbrier Waffe Says:

"Every reader of this Newspaper should read in the BOSTON SUNDAY ADVERTISER tomorrow how Ten Thousand Dollars is about to be given away FREE.

"I mean it.

"No contest! No puzzle! No peddling! Nothing to buy! No work!

"Get tomorrow's SUNDAY ADVERTISER. Read the 'Money' Page.

"Then, pick up the money.

"That's all.

JEWS WILL OBSERVE FEAST OF SHABOOTH

The Feast of Weeks or Shabouth will be observed in the local synagogues tomorrow and in more orthodox congregations Monday.

Originally Shabouth was an agricultural festival in which the gathering of the spring wheat was used as an occasion for special services of thanksgiving. A later tradition associates this day with the revelation of God at Mt. Sinai when the law was revealed unto Moses. By this revelation Israel was summoned from among the nations of the earth to become the messenger of that law of humanity and under the inspiration of this election to stay the floods of sin and corruption that threatened to sweep over the earth. As a result of his example of righteousness, the Jew hopes that zeal for the service of God, which is to do justly and to love mercy, may become the striving of all mankind.

The Reform Synagog stresses this historical feature of the Feast of Weeks as a service of dedication of the Jew to the covenant imposed by his Jewish ancestry on him, to be the teacher and exemplar of the law of love unto humanity.

By means of this symbolization and idealization of the Shabouth festival reform congregations have utilized it as the confirmation day wherein the young men and women pledge themselves anew to continue the covenant of their fathers and to exemplify in their lives and conduct the spirit of justice and humanity to which they have been called by reason of their Jewish birth.

CUSTOM HOUSE FIRE AND BATTLE IN DUBLIN

These pictures show the Irish custom house fire and battle in Dublin, May 25, which destroyed the monumental building and ended in the death of many Sinn Feiners and British troops. The building was fired by Sinn Fein. British troops arrived quickly and a battle raged as the fire gained headway. Above, the custom house burning and (inset) British troops removing men wounded in the battle. Below, British troops searching suspects rounded up in the streets near the custom house.

LEGION CARNIVAL THE GREATEST EVER

Sixteen victory arches, nearly five thousand dollars' worth of free attractions, fireworks, band concerts, sensational vaudeville acts, and other features are promised by the committee in charge of the "Join the Legion" carnival to be held July 2-5 on the South common, under the auspices of Lowell post No. 57. Scores of concessions have already been rented, it is stated, and the affair is said to be the most ambitious enterprise of its kind ever planned in this section of the country. Francis J. Roane of the local body, business manager of the carnival, and announces that Lowell people will be given the preference in disposing of the remaining concessions.

FILLING VACANCIES CAUSED BY DEATH

It is probable that no action on the appointment of successors to Michael J. Lynch, head custodian of the high school, and John J. Walker, attendance officer in the school department, will be taken until the next regular meeting of the school committee scheduled for Tuesday evening, June 23. The impending close of the school year lightens somewhat the pressure in both departments where the vacancies now exist and hence the absence of urgent need for immediate action.

Both positions come under civil service regulations. It is believed that there is an available list of eligibles from which Mr. Lynch's successor may be chosen, but nobody in the school department could state today whether there was an available list for the position of attendance officer.

NO CHANGE IN LOCAL MILL SITUATION

There is very little change in the local mill situation, it was stated today. The Massachusetts Appleton and Hamilton are operating full time, while the other cotton mills are still operating on a short time schedule.

Business at the plant of the Lowell Hosiery Co. in Mt. Vernon street is improving, however, for the plant is now operating five days a week with about 75 per cent. of the help employed. This mill was shut down for some considerable time and only resumed operations a short time ago. The superintendent of the company stated today that the outlook is very bright and he intimated that it will be but a short time before the entire plant will be operating full time with all employees at work.

The Kitter plant of the Saco-Lowell shops is also reporting an increase in business, for beginning this week and until further notice the shop will operate five days a week instead of four as heretofore. Notices have been posted in the shop to the effect that the entire plant will shut down during the entire week of July 1 for the annual vacation of the employees.

RESCUED HORSE

The shifting crew of the Boston & Maine railroad, George Gagnon, foreman, which was at work in the Branch street district yesterday afternoon performed a very good stunt, when they extricated a horse and wagon from the lowlands of the dump on the old Fair grounds. The rig is owned by a man named Silva, a resident of this city and was in charge of a young man, who was about to dump a load of earth. The horse backed too far with the result that the entire rig went over the embankment. The shifting crew of the railroad, which was working nearby, rushed to the young man's assistance and after considerable effort succeeded in pulling up horse and wagon. There was no damage done and the horse was not injured.

Near-Beer Establishment Employee Gets Three Months on Assault Charge

Three months in the house of correction, for "biting" George W. Burns, was the penalty imposed upon Charles Jacobs, employee at a near-beer establishment at South and Sumner streets, today in the police court. Burns told a harrowing story of the circumstances of the assault. "I came along," he testified, "and this fellow had another guy down on the sidewalk and was lifting his head up and banging it down. Then he started taking some bills from his pocket. Just then the guy began fighting, and he soaked him again. I said, 'Don't kill him' and he held the other fellow down by keeping one hand on his stomach, and he bit me with the other."

Questioned further, Burns said that Jacobs made a declaration to the effect that the victim of his violence had failed to pay for a drink which he had sold him, and for which the charge was sixty cents. Some time during the festivities, Burns said, the prostitute being whose head had been pounded upon the pavement was borne mysteriously away.

Jacobs was asked if he wished to question the accuser. "What was your business for interfering?" was his query. The answer was, as before, that Burns did not want to see him kill the unknown. Jacobs then explained that the man had refused to make lawful payment for refreshment which had been accorded him, and "had to get the money by force."

Judge Enright then took a hand in the questioning. Responding to a query as to whether liquor is sold on the premises where he is employed, Jacobs gave a decided negative. "Nothing over one-half of one per cent," he averred. After further questions on the same tenor, His Honor imposed a three months' sentence. Jacobs appealed, and was held in bonds of $200.

Too Much Jakey

Two months in the house of correction, it is hoped, will act beneficially upon Patrick Bordelean, charged with drunkenness. At all events, Judge Enright resolved to give him a trial, and imposed sentence to that effect in the police court this morning. Probation Officer Slattery, who has had the defendant's book-book in his custody, told of finding Bordelean, much intoxicated, in the back seeking to draw out money. Since January

Bordelean has removed $500 from a local bank, and the court officials have been endeavoring to conserve for him his remaining financial resources. He spent a week at the state farm, and was fined $15 at the end of that period. It was thought that this rescue might assist him. But Judge Enright said this morning, "You went right out and did it again." Bordelean, according to Officer Slattery, had with him at the time of his arrest, a cargo of Jamaica ginger both within and without.

being connected with the murder plot, according to the police.

Travel-worn and weary from lack of sleep and from more than 10 hours' questioning in New York, Mrs. Kaber was submitted to another severe all night inquiry here.

After Bertillon pictures and finger prints had been taken, the two prisoners were confronted by the woman through whom Mrs. Kaber is alleged to have fired the assassins to stab her husband to death two years ago, and who is alleged to have furnished poison which was administered to Kaber in his food.

Pronounced $3000 for killing.

Both Mrs. Kaber and Miss McArdle identified the woman. This identification brought from the Sadulsky woman, the police say, the admission that she had supplied "medicine" for Kaber and that it was at her home in Cleveland shortly before the murder, that Mrs. Kaber met a man to whom she promised $3000 for doing away with her husband.

Mrs. Kaber denied every accusation made against her by the woman pertaining to threats of her husband's life.

It developed in this examination that one of the statements made by the mother and daughter in New York, to Chief of Police Peter S. Christensen of Lakewood, said that one of the participants of the conspiracy attempted to set fire to Kaber's home shortly before the murder.

A man held on suspicion that he was connected with hiring the two men who did the stabbing, was brought before Mrs. Kaber and her daughter, but both denied that they had ever seen him.

At the conclusion of the examination, Mrs. Kaber and Miss McArdle were placed in the county jail. There Mrs. Kaber's wrist, which she had slashed in an attempt to end her life in a New York jail, was treated by the jail physician, who said there was a possibility of infection.

Mrs. Kaber was lodged in a cell once occupied by Mrs. Cassie Chadwick, swindler of many Ohio banks about 20 years ago. Her daughter occupied the cell on the floor above and near one in which was Mrs. Mary Brickell, her 65 years old grandmother, also under indictment for the crime.

Seeks Immediate Trial.

County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton declared today that he would ask for a trial of Mrs. Kaber on the indictment at this term of court, which has 20 days to run.

On the journey from the east, Mrs. Kaber told the party that she would commit suicide before she would stand trial. "I never will be tried on this charge," she said. She will be kept under constant surveillance.

Ask Church Singer to Return to Choir

RICHMOND, Va., June 11.—The board of deacons of the Woodland Heights Baptist church has voted to ask Miss Julia Priddy, 18-year-old choir singer, to resume her place in the church choir, which she was requested to vacate by the pastor, the Rev. W. A. Gunton, following her participation in an informal dance given at a reception tendered students of the John Marshall high school by Governor and Mrs. Westmoreland Davis. The chairman of the board, in previously opposing a proposal of the pastor that a letter of censure be addressed to Miss Priddy, was upheld by his fellow members by a vote of 6 to 2.

Short Skirts and Silk Stockings Issues In "Holiest Town" in America

BY R. J. GIBBONS
LOWELL, June 11.—The holiest town in America is divided in a fierce struggle.

Opposing each other are the rival factions of Chief Overseer Wilbur Glenn Voliva and an independent group who have banded into a vigilance committee of 1000 members.

There have been innumerable cracked heads, wholesale arrests and counter-attacks on the police by vigilantes.

Heating the pot is Rev. Thomas H. Nelson, pastor of the Grace Missionary church, whom Voliva has ordered out of town.

The vigilantes have a woman's auxiliary directed by the Misses Helen Peters, Jessie Upp and Mary G. Wheelock. They want removal of style restrictions imposed by Voliva, with freedom to wear silk hose, sheer waists and short skirts, if they desire. The male vigilantes have this platform:

Outing of Voliva.
State investigation of his administration of city finances.

Control of the public parks by the people.

Right to worship as they choose and recognition of property rights.

Refusal to recognize Zion flag of gold, white and blue.

Zion City was incorporated in 1902 by John Alexander Dowie, a religious leader who settled with his followers on a tract 11 miles square.

Today the town numbers close to 5000, of whom profess allegiance to Voliva and have the edge on their independent neighbors by a majority of 4000 voters.

Lead "Blue Law" Life
All true Zionists lead a plainly severe life. The bible is their strict and only code.

Voliva, as successor to Dowie, is absolute dictator.

He boasts that all municipal officers "are my men, and do as I wish."

Friction started about a year ago when the independents increased their number through the arrival of new residents.

The Zionists resented what they termed "an encroachment upon holy ground by the non-believers in Zionism."

During the year they have enacted a number of blue law ordinances, all sponsored by Voliva, which prohibit:

Smoking within the city limits.

Public use of the parks, which Voliva claims are his.

Modern dress by women, including wear of short skirts.

Vaccination against communicable diseases.

Moving picture shows, dances and even social games of cards.

Baseball, sale of ice cream and confections and operation of restaurants on Sunday.

Operation of drug stores within the city.

Following promulgation of these edicts, the independents raised a $75,000 defense fund, and put Rev. Nelson in charge of an offensive against Voliva.

Rev. Nelson says more than $10,000 has been expended paying fines and court costs for vigilantes who ran counter to Voliva's police.

Defies His Assassins
Voliva himself, in his executive headquarters atop the Zion home, where he lives with his wife and daughter, Ruth, hurled this deft at his attackers:

"I'm ruler here! Those who do not want to obey my will, will have to get out."

"This city and every inch of its land is consecrated to God, in the name of our good leader, Dr. John Alexander Dowie, and I am his appointee to carry on the work by consent of Providence."

"These insurgents who are causing so much mischief are all poachers. The ground their homes stand on belongs to me. All their property is held under leases, and I as overseer of Zion, hold the title and fee simple to the land."

"They'll never drive us out," he continued. "Zion is an eternal city. It will always endure."

"But all this agitation is a sign of the times—the unrest of sex and nations."

"Women are at the bottom of it. They have stepped from their place in the homes where they rightfully belong as a helpmate of man, and their wild play is bringing disaster."

"Why, see their immoral clothes! Those frightful dresses, those shameless silk stockings and all those other disgusting lures which they use to drag men to their ruin!"

"We do not want such in Zion. We will not have what is unclean. That's why tobacco was banned. That's why we will have no medicine, no doctors, no amusements that corrupt."

"My police are on the guard. Every dissenter shall be thrust back into the world of sin. Zion does not belong to the world."

Deny Voliva's Claim
Regarding Voliva's assertion that he owns the town and all its land, the independents also in a body, and put in a heated denial.

In addition to claiming the entire town as his rightful possession, Voliva claims his own name all the principal industries of the city.

These include a bakery with a road force of 18 salesmen, two newspapers, a printing and publishing plant, a hotel, a candy factory, a bank and several minor establishments engaged in the production of aprons and miscellaneous wearing apparel.

"Yes I'm a multimillionaire, if you want to call me that," Voliva said. "And I take just and honest pride in having accumulated all this wealth from a jumping-off spot with 33 cents."

Despite all his claims to riches, Voliva maintains he lives the simple life with a big "S," and uses only $250 a month to keep himself and family.

While he talked the overseer cast frequent glances toward the door. Once or twice he inspected the heavy array of bolts and locks.

"I've got enemies—many of them," he explained. "They'd like to kill me, if I half a chance slipped along. Therefore I'm careful."

Voliva's precautions against assassination keep him locked almost continuously in his chambers. A "personal attendant" fully armed is his constant bodyguard.

Voliva's precautions against assassination keep him locked almost continuously in his chambers. A "personal attendant" fully armed is his constant bodyguard.

An End To Tyranny
"Voliva is a tyrant," said Rev. Nelson. "He wants us to believe Zion is not part of these United States. We want to worship here as guaranteed under the constitution."

"If he lets us alone we'll let him alone. But we're not going to be tyrannized over by him."

"Zion is a beautiful little community. We want it to be an American city where life and liberty are pure and free."

On a corner opposite Rev. Nelson's church the overseer had erected a billboard which notifies passersby that Rev. Nelson's church is a "goat house."

On rival vantage points the independents have erected billboard posters espousing their own cause "for liberty and freedom."

These in substance say that "all living in Zion City are not religious fanatics."

LETTER CARRIERS OF STATE TO GATHER

Letter carriers will begin to arrive in this city late this afternoon and tonight and tomorrow there will be hundreds of them in the city. They will be in attendance on the annual convention of the Massachusetts State Letter Carriers' association. Extension preparations for the entertainment of the visitors have been made by the local postal men. The convention will open in Odd Fellows hall tomorrow morning at 10.30 o'clock. It is expected that the session will end in time for a banquet at 3 p. m.

Quarter Century Ago

Quarter century ago, the late J. L. Chalfoux, founder of the present Chalfoux department store, was an active worker in the board of trade. In the subjoined item from the old Sun, it is shown that he was a member of a delegation that went to Philadelphia in the interest of local traders:

"J. L. Chalfoux and A. S. Lyon went to the Philadelphia Museum of Commerce, and Treasurer Clark of the Talbot mill in Millersburg, and Secretary J. T. Smith of the board of trade, went with them, in the interest of the proposed textile school. They returned home Saturday and gave a very interesting account of their experience."

"The museum is a department of the Philadelphia museums, and consists of collections of natural products from the countries of the world which have already entered American markets, or which may be made available to them, together with samples and cases of manufactured products from foreign countries which may serve as aids to our manufacturers. The object is to bring before our manufacturers, dealers and consumers, all the varied products of the world, that they may make the best selection for their own special interests."

P. J. Brady License Commissioner
The older politicians of Lowell will recall Hon. Peter J. Brady, who was appointed license commissioner, as told in the following item from the old Sun:

"The suspense in regard to the appointment of license commissioner is over, and Hon. Peter J. Brady is now the third member of the commission by virtue of his appointment by Mayor Courtney, last night."

In those days there was a fearful scramble for liquor licenses every year. There was one license granted for every 1000 people of the population, and at that time the population was about 14,000, and the number of licenses was, usually, three times the number to be granted. Commissioner Brady was a popular young man. He moved from Lowell to the west some years ago.

First Baptist Church
Says the old Sun:

"Rev. Smith D. Ford, the new pastor of the First Baptist church, preached his first sermon yesterday. Rev. Albert Pick of Clinton, preached as a candidate at the Westminster church, and two large audiences were present."

Barlett School
Says the old Sun:

"Bids for the construction of the new Barlett school, opened by the lands and buildings committee last evening. The contracts were awarded to the lowest bidder: woodwork, C. P. Conant; brickwork, P. O'Hara; plumbing, Walsby and Meers; sheet metal and iron, Cushing and company; slating, James Burns."

Local Hot at Ball Game
Here is part of the account of a riot or rumpus between two ball teams. I believe it was written by the late James Hearn and is true to life. Many of the ball players of that day will remember the excitement when Empire Kenney was mobbed. The report runneth thus:

"Unions 7, Emeralds 7. Game was called after nine innings. Cause, wildness of 1500 baseball cranks from Lowell and North Chelmsford."

"Never before in the history of baseball in Lowell, has there been such a game as that of the Unions and Emeralds in the Fall grounds Saturday, when fifteen hundred spectators saw everything from good playing to a riot."

For eight and one-half innings it was a game to be proud of, but after that there was blood, and the genuine article too. Everyone expected that this game between the unbeaten Unions and their closest competitors, the Emeralds, would be worth seeing, and it was not surprising to see 1500 people on the grounds. Unfortunately, the field near the base line was not roped off, and when the evening session of the Emeralds came, one-half the crowd, in the exuberance of its joy, the other for spite perhaps, forced itself into the diamond and though Officers John and Frank Fox, Maher and Caggar, worked as hard as any four cops could, they couldn't regulate it. It would take a company of militia and a couple of gatling guns to keep it quiet for while there was life, there was noise to burn."

"When the first of the ninth warmed up with the score 7 to 1, the crowd started to leave, expecting to see the fourth common boys done up quickly. 'Wait till you see us finish,' cried some of the Emeralds. The crowd waited, and they finished. Not only the game did they finish, but they came near to finishing the umpire's useful career, and those of several of the spectators."

"The police, armed with their clubs and baseball bats, made many a bone and lock blue in their endeavors to keep the crowd. Day started out with a base on balls, got to second on a passed ball, and stole third. Connie Donovan singled, brought him in, and then pitched a second. Connors flew out. Ed Donovan hit Nestor and O'Neill fumbled it. Donovan started home, a crowd running with him. O'Neill, recovering the ball, threw home in a hurry, and Hoyie muffed it. C. Donovan scored. Ed going to second. All this time, he remembered, the crowd was yelling like fiends. Murphy got his base and he and Donovan made a combination steal, and then little Jimmie Slimes came to the bat with a look like that of a star scholar. He hit the ball full hard, somewhere out toward the race track, and then ball players, bases doubled and a fire disappeared from view. The air was full of hats, caps, sweaters, hats, overcoats, high jumpers, cheers, curses, and other old time things that wasn't nailed down. The two men on the bases scored. Slimes ran to third. The ball was fielded to Nestor for a second time. Four of the Emeralds rushed third, held Slimes there. The crowd rushed too. The crowd fell all over Nestor and the ball. Nestor's legs were discovered, but the ball—nail! Slimes made a break for home. The Chelmsford crowd grabbed him bodily and held him tight. The man who held him tightest let go quickly. He had to.

Some one had dislocated his nasal organ. He hit the nearest man. The police scored several hits, and when the smoke cleared away, Western Slimes was sitting on the home plate, very much the worse for wear, and the umpire, poor man, was being touched down by a howling mob of about two hundred. When Kenney got his wind, having been assured by one of his friends that the first man who threatened him would be a candidate for a dwelling place just across the street, he declared that Slimes must go back to third base, and he called the game until the crowd got off the field. Slimes went back, and the crowd got off, after portions of it had threatened Kenney with all sorts of awful fates. Just imagine the feelings of an umpire who is threatened by a crowd from a town where the principle occupation of some residents is that of working in an iron foundry."

"With the crowd back, but order not restored, Garrigan hit to Quigley, who was so badly rattled that he threw wild and Slimes scored. Garrigan got to third by stealing, one of the Emeralds' followers running after him with a bat in his hands. Then he scored on Whalen's fumble of the ball. Ross Kenney tried to steal second, and got out. And Day wound matters up with a grounder to Slimes, who fielded him out. Slimes tried to steal third, but he easily seen that no tenth inning could be played, and Kenney wisely called the game a draw."

THE OLD TIMER.

BOSTON WOMEN IN FIGHT
—ONE SHOT

BOSTON, June 11.—Mrs. Elizabeth Patterson, of 35 Dartmouth street, Somerville, is at the City hospital suffering from three scalp wounds which it is alleged that she received in an altercation with Miss Mabel Wilson of 64 Astor street, Back Bay, Wednesday afternoon.

The police report that Mrs. Patterson went to Miss Wilson's apartment on Astor street and they became involved in an argument.

Mrs. Patterson is alleged to have drawn a 32-caliber revolver on Miss Wilson in a fight which followed.

Miss Wilson was arrested charged with assault on Mrs. Patterson, and Mrs. Patterson is charged with assault with a revolver on Miss Wilson.

The Test of Comparison

YOUR purchase of an automobile, if wisely made, will be determined only after a down-right, relentless, thorough comparison of values.

Your first impression will be favorable to those cars which dare invite comparison.

Your investment will be made in that car which stands the acid test—with a wide margin to spare.

You buy other things that way—why not automobiles?

Compare Today's Oakland Six with any car you may be thinking of buying.

Then judge for yourself which car possesses the greatest value for you.

You can prove Oakland value if you will. It is easy to do.

Above all, test Today's Oakland overhead valve engine. Compare it for power, performance, economy.

You will learn that its new light-weight pistons are now made of an aluminum alloy that is very light and tough.

They are self-adjustable to the cylinder walls.

You will learn we are now honing the cylinder bores to the perfect smoothness of glass.

You will find them absolutely round and straight up and down.

You will find we have effected an exceptionally close piston fit, at the same time avoiding the possibility of their sticking or freezing.

In these new pistons we have created a piston efficiency that is not surpassed, if equaled, in any other engine.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

Party and Dance at St. Anne's Parish House

Showers of rosebuds, and distribution among the guests of the blossoms lent charm to the rosebud party and dance held last evening by the St. Anne's campfire girls at the parish house. The star entertainer of the evening was Master Manuel Dias, of 163 Chelmsford street, clever ten-year-old dancer who has already scored many hits at local affairs. His brilliant repertoire includes Chinese, Spanish, and other folk dance specialties, as well as a minuet which exhibits several interesting steps. His appearance last evening was greeted with prolonged applause with each number, and he was obliged to respond with a number of encores. Effective costuming was an additional feature.

of the skillful exhibition which he presented.

A veritable indoor woodland of greenery of all descriptions adorned the parish house for the occasion. The rosebuds were presented to the guests by Misses Helen Nudd and Gertrude Pratt, who were appropriately crowned. The patronesses of the party were Mrs. Hugh Thomas, Mrs. Arthur Teeson, Mrs. Reuben White, Mrs. Harvey Laford, and Miss Katherine Kelly.

Miss Elizabeth Buzzell was general manager of the affair, while the floor director was Miss Mildred Buzzell. Heading the committee on decoration were the Misses Elizabeth Crossley, Hilda Phil, and Roberta Lawless, while the ice cream committee comprised the following: Misses Laura Derbster, Dorothy Bainbridge, Vivian Fife James, Helen Kennison and Ena Harrison.

Leo Cohen, to lower floor of store about 18 inches to level of sidewalk at 217 Middlesex street, $100. N. Warnock, contractor.
A. H. Bacheider, addition and alteration to building at 396 Pine street and convert it into a garage; now 10 by 10, will be 10 by 16 concrete floor, $15. J. B. Bernier, 91 West Sixth street, carpenter.
Bertha F. Fall, at 694 Varunum avenue to add second story over piazza for sleeping porch, 6x5, wood, $175.
Sarah J. and Helen Cullen, at 27 Seventeenth street, to build garage of wood, 18x13 in size, $300.
Joseph Jankowski, 77 Albion street, to change tenement to store, addition for store front, 24x14.
Joseph Dineen, at 10 Hale street, to build front to open shed, $25.
Achill Roy, at 103 Eustis avenue, to make addition for piazza to rear of house, 5x21, wood, $35.
Frederick H. Crosby, at rear 111 Moore street, remodel building to make it 1 1/2 stories instead of 1; stucco outside; provide three new chambers upstairs and new bath room; some new plumbing, $1500.
George C. Fairburn, Merrimack and Bridge streets, to erect 40 new partitions on third and fourth floors for 40 offices; enclose rear stairways on second floor, $10,000.
Burnham & Davis Lumber Co., at 156 Western avenue, to build garage for two machines, fireproof with cement blocks, 21x26, $600.
C. J. Miller, rear 312 Boylston street, to build storage shed, 21x15 wood, $15.
Mrs. Calise, 724 Merrimack street, new side piazza of wood, 15x26, $50. J. Duchesne, carpenter.
Catherine Ward, 103 Blossom street, change to two-family dwelling, addition 12x16, for one new bedroom over old, new plumbing, $1500.
Thomas Mahan, at rear 10 Agawam street, make over stable for garage for one machine cement floor, addition of 6x4, $15.
Samuel and Emma Hardy, at 266 Third street, to build a one-family dwelling, 26x26, rooms (a and b), $2500. Charles W. Porter, builder.
Mrs. Ellen Barrett, at 707 Wilder street, finish room in attic, $150. Joseph Durand, carpenter.
Mrs. Ella Goldman, 65 Railroad street, new porch under piazza, replace footings with cement, $25. Nathan Goldman, carpenter.
William A. Severance, 47 Lane street, extension to ell for shed and workshop, wood, 10x11, $150.
George P. Gardner, at 77 Beech street, to build garage, 15x10, cement blocks, $200.
Mrs. Julietta Benson, 50 Fourth avenue, change over one machine garage for a two-machine garage, make door wider by 15 inches, $50.
Mary Griffin, at 227 Lincoln street, new roof on piazza, $12. Charles Richards, carpenter.
City Iron Foundry, 250 Plain street, new wood storage shed, 16x22, $100.
Roger H. Simpson, 23x33 Marshall street, restore building to such a condition that it may be rented for two seven-room apartments, $500.
Arthur Desiel, rear 156 White street, facing Crawford street, a new garage, cement blocks, 33x10, $200.
Priceless historical documents stored in the castle of Simancas, near Valladolid, Spain, are placed in peril due to neglect of government officials to keep the building in proper repair. Thirty-three million documents, comprising the archives of Spain, many of them preserved since the days of Cardinal Ximenez, are in danger.

Held For Murder of Fourth Husband

TWIN FALLS, Idaho, June 11.—Mrs. Lyda Southard, charged with murder of her fourth husband, Edward Meyer, was in jail in Twin Falls today to await trial. The last part of the journey from Honolulu was made by automobile from Wells, Nev., to avoid crowds. Mrs. Southard is suffering from nervous headaches.

American Athletes Lead at Coblenz

COBLENZ, June 11.—American track athletes engaged in the games organized by the occupation forces in Germany have taken the lead in the number of points made during the meet, with 40. The French have 31 and the Belgians 17. The Yankee doughboys yesterday won the first three places in grenade throwing, the most distinctly military event of the tournament, and defeated the British basketball team, 51 to 35. The track meet was resumed this afternoon and it was expected the score would be close between America and France.

Prize Winning Dog Dies at Boston

BOSTON, June 11.—Censor, an English bulldog, was the best dog at the annual show of the Ladies' Kennel Association of Massachusetts when prizes were awarded yesterday, but a few moments afterward he was dead. Extreme heat and the nerve strain incident to exhibition, were said to have caused heart failure. It was the first time Censor had been benched in competition. He was seven years old and was owned by Mrs. W. N. G. Clark of Beacon street, this city.

Douglas

WASHINGTON, June 11.—No immediate return to prosperity is in sight, says Arthur Wall Douglas, chairman of the committee on statistics of the chamber of commerce of the United States in his semi-annual report today on business and crop conditions. There need be no delusions about a resumption of a war-time volume of business, Mr. Douglas declares, adding that while things are better during the summer the termination of harvest may bring somewhat better business and a slow and gradual improvement.

"There is a growing realization of the fact," says Mr. Douglas, "that returning prosperity in this country depends upon the recovery of Europe, since she is and will be for a long time to come the best market for our surplus, for that surplus which we have accumulated and still have on hand in every phase of industry. Meanwhile the slow progress of business finds its chief stimulus in the gradual depletion of stocks both of merchandise and commodities, and that demand for replacement and repair which in itself produces the principal volume of our domestic commerce. There is still money to be spent where bargain prices are in evidence, showing that purchasing power is still high, despite many unward conditions."

"There is an almost unprecedented reduction of the cotton acreage in the south this year, with the plant still struggling against much wet weather and a late start. At the same time, wheat promises a larger yield than last year by from thirty or forty million bushels."

"Corn is not yet all in, but it is significant that the south expects to grow more corn this year than last, and much more feed for live stock. The acreage in rice will be less than the 1920 crop because of the large surplus carried over and with scarcely any demand."

"The general condition of livestock is most excellent, save in southern Arizona and Southern New Mexico, where the ranges were burned up by drought. The low prices of cattle, hogs and sheep still make them unmercenary to the farmer, while wool is in tremendous supply at exceedingly low prices."

"Most of the early fruit was practically destroyed by freezes in the spring. Fortunately there are still some exceptions in scattered portions of Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Connecticut, Idaho and some of the South Atlantic states. The citrus crop is generally good, though damaged to some extent by the wet weather in Florida. There will be a good crop of strawberries."

"While the dairy industry is growing throughout the country, the reduced prices for butter, fat, milk and other dairy products cause some farmers to think that the bottom is dropping out of everything. Fortunately there is another side to the live stock-dairy interest in the promise of a great harvest of feed at low figures, which may thus more nearly equalize present prices with the reduced cost of production."

"Tobacco growers look forward to a better season than they experienced last year because of the confident expectation of higher figures for their product."

"One of the serious conditions, serious because there are immense possibilities of its being much better, is the slow growth of building, due to the continued high costs of the whole construction. Until these costs are reduced building will be only such as comes from the impulse of necessity. Lumber naturally sympathizes with the industry of building, and despite its low prices suffers from lack of demand."

"There has been some increase in the output of automobiles, notably in certain localities. All the various phases of leather production and manufacture seem to have struck bottom, both in price and in demand, and to have had some moderate healthy rebound. The steel industry is running on short time with limited output and reduction of orders in hand. Railroad shops are very quiet. Textiles, more particularly wool and linen, are doing somewhat better, as is likewise the shoe industry, especially in women's footwear. In a word, each industry is affected by different conditions and is to be judged after this fashion."

"Mining in general is a striking example of a particular economic trouble affecting the country as a whole. Most of the minerals, whether coal or copper or zinc or lead, have a great deal of potential capacity than there is any demand for in sight at present. Consequently mining in general is very dull and where running is doing so on short time."

"One bright spot in the coal mining situation is down in southwestern Virginia, where there is increased demand for export, due to the general coal mining strike in Great Britain. Coal mining is very naturally affected, not only by the slump in manufacturing, but likewise by the great falling off in the volume of railroad business."

"The railroads are using their utmost thought and endeavor to get their house in order by reduction in the cost of operation, and by various economies. All of which inspires the hope on the part of the general public that these things when accomplished and they now seem under way—will result in reduced cost of transportation. For such costs of transportation are a heavy handicap to business in these and other lines so affected, thus being a direct loss both to the producer and the transportation companies. One of the interesting developments of the time is the growth of the electric trolley car and the auto truck in short hauls, in which they are already formidable competitors of the steam railroad."

"So true is this that it is actually curtailing business in these and other lines so affected, thus being a direct loss both to the producer and the transportation companies. One of the interesting developments of the time is the growth of the electric trolley car and the auto truck in short hauls, in which they are already formidable competitors of the steam railroad."

KNOWLTON HYDRAULIC AIR MOTOR

Ever since the world began the dream of today became the real thing of tomorrow. And as the writer stood upon the banks of the Saugus river and watched the suction dredge eating its way into the part of the land where the spillway of the Universal Tide Power Co. is to be located he realized that the mind which had conceived the plans for this power plant was a mind that had looked far into the future and given to mankind an invention that would for all time be a great boon to humanity.

October 21st of last year the first pile in the dam of what is to be the first plant in the world to harness the mighty power of the tides was driven and it is confidently expected that on October 21st of this year the button which will start the plant in operation will be pressed. If our readers could only see the go and energy that is being put into the upbuilding of the plant they too would be confident that in a short while the world was to see the fulfillment of the wish that has been father to the thought, the harnessing of the mighty powers of the tides.

It has been necessary to do a lot of dredging and a dipper dredge was used to do the work—every time the dipper dug into the bank it brought up enough mud to fill a two horse wagon and 17 of these wagons were necessary to carry the mud away as fast as it was dug, this was pretty lively work, but not fast enough to satisfy, so a suction dredge was built and on Dec. 31st launched and put to work. Go see it, it's marvelous. It would take five dipper dredges and 32 two-horse wagons to keep up with it, for it dredges 600 cubic yards every eight hours, sends it through a ten inch pipe and deposits it hundreds of feet away on marsh land that was worthless, but as soon as the water seeps away and the mud dries is the best kind of factory land. No there isn't any doubt about the plant being completed and when it is power from coal should become a thing of the past. We have in the past told our readers of the progress and possibilities of the Universal Tide Power company, but this is the most satisfactory report we have been able to make.

Grasshoppers are an excellent food for live stock, according to the findings of a commission appointed by the government of Uruguay. When dried, an analysis of the product showed a fatty matter content of 40 per cent, and more than this amount of digestible protein. The product is superior to all cakes and horses, sheep and pigs eat the dried locusts readily.

SIMS AND HARVEY
GOLD DUST TWINS

Sen. Harrison Assails Two Men Now Representing
U. S. in England

Declares Their Remarks "An Outrage to Red-Blooded Americans"

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Rear Admiral Sims and Ambassador Harvey were described today in the senate by Senator Harrison, democrat, Mississippi, as "these two gold-dust twins, who now represent the government of the United States in England."

Senator Harrison, author of the resolution adopted yesterday directing the naval committee to investigate Admiral Sims' speech criticizing Sinn Féin sympathizers, declared the admiral's speech and that of Mr. Harvey at the Pilgrims' dinner were "an outrage to red-blooded Americans."

"I hope the senate committee will secure the report that Secretary Denby has demanded from Admiral Sims," he said. "I hope congress will take immediate action if Secretary Denby fails to do anything to him if he were quoted correctly."

Senator Harrison said that Admiral Sims "ought to be got rid of from the navy" if he was quoted accurately and he also reiterated his demand for Ambassador Harvey's recall.

Noting that Secretary Denby had called upon Admiral Sims for an explanation within 24 hours, Senator Harrison said that no official of the government had taken similar action as to Ambassador Harvey.

"He has not been called down by the president or the secretary of state or any other official," said the senator.

100 MINERS TRAPPED
IN MINE BY FIRE

PERU, June 10.—More than 100 miners were trapped today by fire in the mine of the St. Paul railroad at Mark, near here. A rescue crew equipped with helmets, attempted to reach them.

CHARGES FORMATION OF BOOTLEGGERS' TRUST

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Charges that certain brewers and men prominent in big city financial affairs have organized a bootleggers' trust which spreads far and wide and have made law enforcement extremely difficult, were made today before the house rules committee by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League of America.

He appeared in support of the request of Chairman Volstead of the judiciary committee for a special rule to give his beer and prohibition tightening up bill right of way in the house, but the committee adjourned until next week without taking action on the request. Mr. Wheeler was not questioned about the liquor trust and did not go into details.

Asked if it would be possible to take out the beer section and pass it as a special bill, he insisted it was just as important to include other sections designed to break up indiscriminate traffic in intoxicants masquerading as medicine.

COMPARES U. S. TO SECOND ROME

Sen. McCormick Repeats Conversation He Had With German Financial Leader

Said Destiny Would Lead United States to World Dominion

CHICAGO, June 10.—Senator Medill McCormick, speaking at a convention of Illinois bankers today, repeated a conversation he had with a German financial leader, who compared the United States to a second Rome, whose destiny would lead it to world domination.

"Last year at the American embassy in Berlin," Senator McCormick said, "one of the German leaders in finance who today is a member of the cabinet said we had witnessed the re-enactment of a very old drama. We had seen again the wars of ancient Greece—the dissipation of wealth and the stricken civilization of Europe."

"Now we shall witness," he said, "the inevitable and irresistible coming of a second Rome, to conquer the old civilized states of Europe, smitten with decay engendered by rivalries, divisions and hatreds which they cannot cure. Hence, a Roman and lasting peace, will be laid upon them by the new master of the world."

"There is nothing further from the thoughts of the American people," he replied, "nothing more remote from their hearts than conquest."

"It is not a question of your will to conquer," he said. "An inevitable, irresistible destiny will carry you on to dominion whether you will or not. What matters it whether your conquest be economic or military? It will control."

MRS. BERGDOLL ESCAPES JAIL

Greek Warships Bombard Karamursal

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Greek destroyers have bombarded Karamursal, a village on the northern shore of the Gulf of Ismid, and there have been several skirmishes along the Turkish front in Asia Minor. Coast towns along the Black sea, the Sea of Marmora and the Aegean, are filled with refugees, who have fled from the interior because of the imminence of the Greek offensive against the Turkish nationalists.

GOOD CROPS THROUGHOUT NEW ENGLAND

WAKEFIELD, June 10.—The apple crop in Maine shows better prospects than that of any other state in the country. Reports to V. A. Sanders, New England statistician of the federal bureau of crop estimates today, placed the Maine condition on June 1 at 95. The next highest state was Washington for which the figure was 93. Among the New England states, New Hampshire ranked next to Maine with a condition of 85, which Mr. Sanders said was "somewhat above the average. Other states fell below the average, Vermont being 59, Connecticut 65, Rhode Island 60 and Massachusetts 55.

The New England peach crop would be about two-thirds of normal, the reports indicated and the pear crop light. Cape Cod cranberries were damaged about 25 per cent. by frosts in May.

The productivity of the banana is much greater than that of other food-bearing plants. One acre, under scientific cultivation, will annually produce seven thousand pounds of fruit. There are over sixty known varieties of the banana, with a great variation in character.

DAVIS AGAIN SEEKS TO SETTLE SHIP TROUBLE

WASHINGTON, June 11.—After a conference today with President Harding, Secretary Davis announced that he would make another effort to have Rear Admiral Benson, chairman of the Shipping Board, sign an agreement between the men and the board on wages and working conditions. The private ship owners. Secretary Davis said, probably would not be party to the agreement.

Secretary Davis is understood to desire to have the agreement signed by Admiral Benson before the new Shipping Board takes over its duties
Monday as he believes this would obviate a delay that would be entailed by a study of the whole question by the new board.

The proposed agreement is understood to provide for a 15 per cent reduction in wages and would continue in effect until April 30, 1922.

The secretary was accompanied to the White House by Representatives of the Marine Engineers' Beneficial association. Secretary Hoover issued a statement of the effect of the strike on shipping since the men walked out on May 1 to June 9, inclusive, 1855 American vessels have cleared from the various ports of the country. On June 9, 170 were detained in port.

SIX-YEAR-OLD BOY INJURED BY AUTO

Six-year-old William Kelly, residing on Watson ave. was knocked down on the Chelmsford street bridge shortly after 2:30 p. m. today by an automobile operated by Gerald M. Kennedy, of Chelmsford Centre. He was taken to St. John's hospital by Kennedy in his machine, and Dr. Nathan there reported a possible fracture of the collar bone. Kennedy, after removing the injured boy to St. John's hospital, immediately reported at police headquarters, giving the following details of the accident. He states that the Kelly boy came from a store located on the bridge and started to cross to the opposite sidewalk, but turned back unexpectedly and was thrown beneath the wheels of the car. The wheels, however, did not pass over the boy's body.

charge, was indicted for second degree murder today. The officer claimed that he fired in self defense when Quitt attempted to escape. He was released in $500 bonds after pleading not guilty.

NEW STREET BUILDING PLAN FOR LOWELL

Lowell's macadam streets will hereafter be built along the same lines as thoroughfares of that type of construction in such cities as Springfield and Brockline, where streets of this sort have stood up under continuous
wear and tear for many years in a most satisfactory manner. In addition,
the street department authorities hope
to make a substantial saving in the cost of construction.

LOWEST DEATH RATE FOR TWO YEARS

The lowest death rate recorded in Lowell for nearly two years was reported by the board of health today
for the present week. There were
not since the week ending July 26,
1919, was there such a low weekly
mortality record. The rate for the
week and 9.55 for the week before.

Another feature of this week's health report is the fact that not a single case of measles was recorded,
this being the first week in more
than 13 months that such a record was made. The entire absence of the disease here gives the health department authorities reason to believe that the epidemic which got a foothold here in May, 1920, has been
finally conquered.

There were two deaths of children
less than a year old this week. One death was caused by an infectious disease, one by pneumonia and one
by tuberculosis.

The infectious diseases reported included seven cases of diphtheria
and 11 of tuberculosis.

The outing of the Massachusetts
mills social and educational club was held this afternoon, at the Martin Luther club grounds, in Tyngsboro,
and the affair was participated in by
about 75 members of the organization, which is composed of overseers,
second hands, and in fact, all heads
of departments at the mill.

with pennants bearing the organization's name, gathered in front of the mill and after the picnicers had boarded the machines, a brief parade was held, the autos swinging out of Bridge street into Merrimack, Central and Middlesex as far as Thorne-dike. Then the parade swung into Thorncliffe street, over Fleicher street to Pawtucket, and over the Pawtucket bridge to the Pawtucket boulevard.

Upon reaching the grounds the merry makers were served a buffet luncheon and then sporting events were carried out, the first number on the program being a baseball game between the benedictines and single men, the former team being captained by President Richard W. Potter, while the unmarried players were headed by Orin H.
Webster. Sack races, shot put contest, 100-yard dash and other events took up the greater part of the afternoon, while a feature of the program was the greased pig scramble.

At 6:30 o'clock dinner in the form of an old-fashioned clam bake was served and after dinner speeches were delivered by Agent William A. Mitchell, President Potter and others. The arrangements for the event were in charge of the entertainment committee, which is headed by O. W. Hardy.
The officers of the club are as follows:
Richard W. Potter, president; W. H.
Stearns, vice president; K. S. Lunan, recording secretary; J. J. Cheetham, financial secretary and E. Coburn, treasurer.

contractors which provides a cut of 10

15 cents an hour. It is unofficially announced that the bricklayers will refuse the 10 cent cut but that some other crafts favor acceptance.

DEDHAM, June 11.—Nicola Sacco from the prisoner's case in the court room where, with Bartolomeo Vanzetti, he is on trial for murder, today invited attention to himself in connection with the question as to the identity of a man who was seen working on an automobile near the scene of and shortly before the murder of a paymas-tar and his guard at South Braintree in April, 1920. Mrs. Rosa R. Andrews, a nurse, was testifying at the time.
She pointed out Sacco as a man to whom she had spoken as he was tin-about four hours before the murders and robbery occurred.

As Mr. Andrews was pointing toward the prisoner's engine, Sacco rose and in the first words he had spoken before the court since he pleaded guilty.

"Take a good luck. I am myself."
He was assisted to his seat again, and Mrs. Andrews continued her testimony.
Mrs. Andrews said she had gone

taking their weapons and $200 in cash.

It was Gardner's second escape from a Sacramento, Cal., yesterday, to officers. He was aided by another search for a mail sack, said to contain prisoner. It was reported, Gardner nearly $100,000 in bonds, which he said jumped out of the car window. A he had hidden under a tree near that

Urges Government to Buy Cape Cod Canal

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Purchase by the government of the Cape Cod canal for $11,500,000 has been recommended to congress by Secretary Weeks.

The price, it was announced today at the war department, has been agreed upon by the canal company and the department. A federal court jury at Boston, in condemnation proceedings, fixed the price at $16,651,- 000, but this was reversed by the circuit court of appeals, not on account of the amount involved, a statement issued at the war department said, but for various errors in the methods of computing the value of the canal. New negotiations then were instituted outside the courts and an agreement reached.

If congress approves the purchase of the canal, recommended by the secretary of war, navy and commerce, the only appropriation required will be $5,500,000 less any cash now in the treasury, that has accrued from the operation of the canal by the war department since February 29, 1920.
The remainder of the new purchase price is represented by $8,000,000 worth of five per cent. bonds having 39 years still to run.

Under the agreement the government may assume these bonds and call them in at its option, or allow them to run the full 39 years. Inasmuch as money is now costing the government in the neighborhood of six per cent, Secretary Weeks said the bonds probably would be left outstanding until the price of money fell below five per cent.

Authority for the government to institute negotiations for the acquisition of the canal was contained in the river and harbors bill of 1917, which provided that the secretaries of war, navy and commerce should determine the advisability of the acquisition of the canal and make an appraisal of its value.

If the secretaries favored the purchase, the secretary of war was to enter into negotiations and if the price was reasonable, contracts for the purchase were to be entered into subject to the ratification of congress.

In addition to the canal proper, 600 acres of land owned by the canal company are included in the agreement.
The canal was taken over by the railroad administration in July, 1918, and operated until February, 1920, when it was transferred to the war department.

New Playground Equipment Installed at St. Peter's Orphanage Keeps Kiddos Happy

PLAYGROUND SCENES AT ST. PETER'S ORPHANAGE

The exuberance and enthusiasm of youth, especially when aided and abetted by adequate apparatus for play and sport, is a thing of joy to behold, and in few places is this spontaneity more apparent than in the playground in the rear of St. Peter's orphanage in Stevens street, where more than 1500 worth of apparatus has just been installed through the efforts of St. Peter's Orphanage association, composed of persons interested in the welfare of the institution, and Rev. Charles J. Gulligan, pastor of St. Margaret's church.

The 135 children who are now at the orphanage seem to have taken on a new lease of life since the installation of the apparatus and it is with difficulty that the sisters of the orphanage restrain them from playing continually. The new apparatus includes two long swing poles, one of six swings for the older children and the other of eight for the younger kiddos of the orphanage. The latter swings are so constructed that the child is automatically held in his or her seat while all danger of accident is eliminated. There has also been installed a large merry-go-round, capable of holding scores of children and once it is set in motion and gains momentum, it gives the youngsters all the thrills of one of the speediest affairs that yearly take root on the fourth commonwealth day.

Then there is a slide that is more than appreciated by the children and a horizontal bar apparatus which delights the boys who are athletically inclined.

HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR SOLDIER RELIEF

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The house late yesterday passed the Sweet bill under which the government agencies dealing with former service men would be consolidated. The measure now goes to the senate.

The bill was passed by the unanimous vote of 325 to 0.

The house spent more than a week considering the bill and adopted a few minor amendments, but the measure was approved practically as it was reported by the house commerce committee.

Provision is made in the bill for creation of a veterans' bureau in the treasury department, to which would be placed the war risk insurance bureau, the federal board for vocational and financial aid of the public health service relating to war veterans.

Fourteen regional offices would be created for expeditious handling of claims of former service men for compensation, hospital and medical care and vocational training. The director of the new bureau would have power to determine the extent of authority of regional branches to make final settlements of claims.

Provision is made for establishment of 140 offices at which war veterans could apply for relief. These would replace 137 soldier relief bureaus now maintained by the government throughout the country. The location of the new offices would be determined by the director of the veterans' bureau.

The house approved an amendment by Rep. Elliott, Indiana, authorizing payment of government insurance to beneficiaries of war veterans who permitted their policies to lapse while suffering from wounds or disease incurred in line of duty from which they died.

HOUSE PASSES BILL FOR HIGH COST OF FOOTWEAR

Increased Prices Resulted From Abnormal Conditions Arising From War

WASHINGTON, June 11.—High prices of footwear which obtained during 1918 and were increased in 1919, resulted from "abnormal conditions of supply and demand," both economic and psychological, arising from the war, the federal trade commission today reported to the house of representatives.

The report was submitted in response to a resolution.

"Incident to these conditions," the report added, "were large margins of profit taken by tanners, shoe manufacturers, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers," whose large earnings were declared to be "out of all proportion to the increase in their cost per unit."

The advance in the price of shoes finally was terminated by the so-called "buyers' strike" in the spring of 1920, according to report.

Failure of leather and shoe prices to decline as extensively as did shoe prices after the "buyers' strike" was attributed by the commission to a "tendency to base selling prices on actual rather than replacement costs" and to the fact that other prices had not declined as much as had raw materials.

"In any event," the report concluded, "the present prices of shoes and shoes and the conditions existing in these phases of industry justify an expectation of still further declines in the quoted prices of leather and shoes."

The report claims large profits on the part of the tanners, shoe manufacturers and wholesalers and retailers in 1918 and 1919. Earnings of 361 retail shoe manufacturers, representing 72 per cent of the 1919 production, averaged 162 per cent on their total investment, according to the commission's figures.

"These large earnings of tanners and shoe manufacturers," the report says, "were due primarily to the fact that their selling prices increased out of all proportion to the increases in their cost of production."

Earnings of 23 typical shoe wholesalers and jobbers averaged about 22 per cent of investment in 1918, and about 34 per cent in 1919. Earnings of 16 typical shoe retailers averaged about 25 per cent in 1918, and about 22 per cent in 1919. These earnings, like those of the tanners and manufacturers, resulted from wide margins of profit taken on each shoe sold.

There was an important decrease in the supply of imported shoes in 1918 and 1919, the commission said, but it could not ascribe to that as the cause of the high prices of shoes even after the 1920-21 season, available in quantity and at a lower price.

The commission noted a change in the retail demand to a higher quality of shoes in spite of the greater price exacted. This was in addition, according to the report, to a marked demand for shoes in 1919, but a "buyers' strike" took on national scope.

French and British engineers, under supervision of the two governments, are working to recover a wealth of gold and silver reported to have been hidden from the enemy by French soldiers in a cache near Viterbo during November retreat from Russia. An estimate of the value put from twenty-five to thirty million dollars.

LOOKS LIKE NOISY FOURTH FOR LOWELL

Lowell is going to have a noisy Fourth of July this year, judging from the number of permits for the right to sell fireworks which have been issued from the fire department office in city hall. Although the holiday is still three weeks away, 67 permits have been issued so far. The permits can be issued between June 10 and July 17. A fee of 50 cents is charged for each permit granted and there is a fine provided by law for any person who keeps or sells fireworks without official sanction from the fire department.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS FALL OFF

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Both exports and imports continued to fall off in May, but the month's trading resulted in a favorable balance of $122,000,000 for the United States, figures made public today by the department of commerce showed.

Exports for May totalled $330,000,000 as against $310,000,000 in April and $116,000,000 in May, 1920, while imports for the month were $208,000,000 as compared with $256,000,000 in April and $131,000,000 in May, 1920.

U. S. MEXICAN DEMANDS WILL NOT BE ALTERED

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Efforts made to induce the Mexican government to enter into a treaty of commerce and amity as a condition to recognition were reported by Secretary Hughes yesterday to President Harding and his cabinet.

The report was understood to have consisted of a brief summary of the steps which have been taken through George T. Sumner, the American charge d'affaires at Mexico City, to reach an understanding for the signing of the proposed treaty.

While official information of the situation was lacking here yesterday, it is known that President Obregon has notified the state department that he does not consider himself free, because of constitutional restrictions, to sign such a covenant as proposed.

Formal statements issued at Mexico City have indicated his willingness to agree to a treaty if certain modifications are made.

There it has been indicated that no modifications affecting the principle involved will be made, and that the United States will insist that property of Americans in Mexico shall be safeguarded against confiscation.

Officials of the administration were said not to be convinced that President Obregon has definitely rejected the offer to negotiate the treaty, and Mr. Sumner, who submitted the proposal, was described as waiting the announcement of a more definite reply.

GREEK COMMUNITY INSTALLS OFFICERS

The new officers of the local Greek community, who were elected last Memorial day, were sworn into office last evening at a meeting held in the Greek Orthodox church in Jefferson street. The oath was administered by Rev. Nestor Souleides and Rev. Nicholas Nienides. Later the school board organized with Harry Loupas as chairman and Peter Patsourakos as secretary. Demetrios Vlahakis was chosen chairman of the board of auditors. At the close of the meeting votes of thanks were extended to Christos Zografos, Demetrios Athanasoulas and Constantinos Chachos, retiring president, secretary and treasurer respectively.

We have Felco Pearls, the highest of which is priced at $50.00. These are the most perfect imitations we have ever seen and are, in our judgment, the peers of all imitation pearls, including those nationally advertised and very much better known. We have had these appraised by experts who, for some moments, took them for real pearls, and we have seen several jewelry salesmen completely fooled. These are probably the most expensive imitation pearls on the market, and justly so.

They are of the so-called "indestructible" variety, of French manufacture, guaranteed against hot and cold water, etc., and every strand was carefully and individually chosen by the head of the New York concern which handles them in America. The output is small and the pearls are matched with exactitude. The prices—50c to $50 per necklace. We also show other lines of Pearls, including La Tausca, at prices from $5 to $150.

ILLUSTRIOUS BARTON SMITH TO RETIRE

TOLEDO, Ohio, June 11.—Illustrious Barton Smith, 33rd, most puissant sovereign grand commander Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite Masons for the northern Masonic jurisdiction of the United States, last night announced his retirement from that office. The announcement was made at the close of the June reunion of Toledo consisting of which Dr. Smith is a member. Advice of physicians that his health would not permit continuous activity caused his action. He will decline re-election when the Scottish rite supreme council meets in triennial session in Boston next September. Smith was elected September 1910, when the late Samuel Crocker Lawrence resigned. He was re-elected in 1912, 1915 and 1918. During these 11 years, the Scottish rite membership has grown from 50,000 to more than 200,000.

Brantree to look for work. She arrived in the town a little after 11 o'clock and went down Pearl street. There she saw a dark complexioned, medium height man working on the engine of an automobile while a thin, sickly looking man sat at the wheel. A few minutes later when she approached the car again the dark man was under it, apparently fixing something.

Mrs. Andrews said she spoke to him and asked how to get to the office of the Rice & Hurling shoe factory. The man got out from under the machine and answered her question. Mrs. Andrews said she saw the man again at the Dedham jail and recognized him in the prisoner's cage in the court room today. It was when she was trying to tell whether the man was Sacco or Vanzetti that Sacco spoke up. Mrs. Andrews then said it was he.

Mrs. Andrews was positive in her identification of Sacco as the man who told her the way to the factory office. She placed the time as about 11:45 a. m. and said the automobile he was working on was a large one.

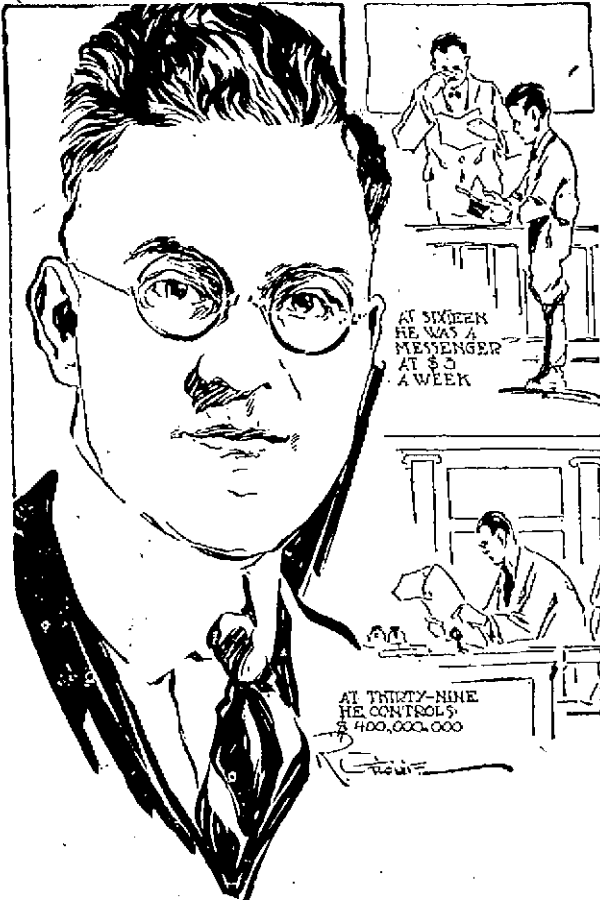

She was accompanied on her trip to South Brantree by Mrs. Julia Campbell, who she said, now is at Stockton Springs, Me. The prosecution brought out through Mrs. Andrews that Mrs. Campbell is 63 years of age and has very poor eyesight, having cataracts on both eyes. This the state's attorney said was to explain why the state would not produce Mrs. Campbell as a witness.

Under cross-examination Mrs. Andrews testified that the man she identified as Sacco was about six and one-half feet from her when she spoke to him near the automobile. This distance was measured off on the courtroom floor. She said she was on the same level with the man and that there was nothing to prevent her having a good look. Her impression at the time was that the man was an Italian.

When court adjourned over the weekend, Mrs. Andrews was still on the stand under cross-examination. Three strings of photographs were marked as exhibits at the request of the defense. These were placed before the witness one by one and together. She was then asked if she had indicated in an interview with Fred H. Moore, counsel for Sacco, that any of them resembled the man she had seen near the automobile on the day of the murder. She denied having previously seen the man, as presented in court today. Mrs. Andrews said she identified Sacco as the man she saw on the street where the murder occurred when she picked him out in the Dedham jail. She watched him for 15 or 20 minutes to make certain of the identification, she said.

OUR MONUMENTS ARE SYMBOLS

From $3 a Week to $100,000 a Year

JOHN A. NYLAN

(By Newspaper Enterprise)
CHICAGO, June 11.—At 16 a messenger at $3 a week.

At 29, president of the Chicago and Cook County Bankers' association, controlling $100,000,000.

That is the jump of John A. Nylan, whose salary is $100,000 a year.

Nylan's formula for success is simply, "hard work, application, grit and ability to dream practically."

The "boy banker" is the youngest man ever chosen to fill the office he now holds.

In addition he is also vice-president and cashier of the Fidelity Trust and Savings bank here.

"Too many young men just now are holding 'blind alley' jobs," he says.

"They are not content beginning from the bottom and working their way up."

"Jobs that pay good salaries to start with seldom hold out much chance for opportunity."

"Give me the man with determination to succeed—one who looks upon every setback with life as a lesson. That is the type that will come out ahead of the game."

"Fate probably was kind to me in letting me be born poor."

CHICKEN PIE SUPPER
Those who took part in the entertainment program given in connection with the chicken pie supper conducted by the Tewksbury Centre Congregational church Young Men's club, Thursday evening, were as follows:

GRADUATION TUESDAY AT NORMAL SCHOOL

Sixty-seven young women will be graduated from the State Normal school in Broadway next Tuesday afternoon, the exercises beginning at 2 o'clock in the school assembly hall.

Frank W. Wright, director of the division of elementary and secondary education of the state board of education, will present the diplomas and the address of the occasion will be given by Miss Mary Morgan of Fall River on "The Place of the Teacher in a Democracy."

A feature of the exercises will be the presentation of a state flag to the school by the graduating class and a national flag by the school staff.

Mr. Wright will accept both emblems on behalf of the state.

A number of the teachers of the Normal school will give special courses in other schools during the summer vacation and most of the girls of the graduating class have accepted teaching positions for next fall.

RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF GOLDEN

Resolutions on the death of John Golden, international president of the United Textile Workers of America, were adopted last evening at a meeting of the Lowell Textile council.

The meeting was presided over by Vice President Louis Shea and a committee was appointed to draw up the resolutions, copies of which will be sent to the family of deceased and to the headquarters of the U.T.W. at New York.

In the course of the meeting it was announced that three Lowell people left yesterday afternoon to attend the funeral, which took place this morning in Fall River, John Hanley, president of the Lowell Textile council and a member of the executive board of the U.T.W., Mrs. Annie Deane, secretary of the Cotton Weavers' union and Walter G. Roche, president of the Beavers' union.

DRIVER OF DEATH CAR FINED $20

A fine of $20 was the penalty paid by Walter Deane, driver of the automobile in which Theodore Boylston, senior at Lowell Textile school, met his death during the past week on the Woburn road, near Silver Lake.

The car which the defendant was operating crashed into a motor truck and Boylston was crushed, dying within a few hours at the Woburn hospital. Deane and two young girls, who were the other occupants of the machine, escaped injury. Yesterday, at the Woburn court, Deane was charged with reckless driving and with oversteering. The former complaint was dismissed and the fine was imposed on the latter count. No charge of manslaughter was preferred, although a complaint to this effect was made at the time of Deane's arrest, and when he was first before the court for a continuance to yesterday.

MILL OVERSEER HONORED

John Dolbe, an overseer at the Massachusetts Mohair Plush Co., who is soon to leave for his old home at Keighley, Eng., was presented a box of cigars by his mill associates Thursday evening, the presentation taking place at the home of his son, William Dolbe, 21 Flemings street. Present at the festive were Subt. Aveyard and all the overseers of the plant. In the course of the evening luncheon was served and entertainment numbers were given by D. H. H. The Southern and Frank Orrell. Fred Harrison presented the gift to Mr. Dolbe.

EDSON SCHOOL ACTING

The annual outing of the graduating class of the Edson school was held Thursday at Canobie Lake park, the children being accompanied by Principal King and Misses Webster and O'Neil. The children were entertained with sporting events and games.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatre's Own Press Agents
MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

"Appearances," Exceptionally Strong Dramatic Feature, Headliner For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The hot weather is with us but that needn't deter movie lovers from enjoying their favorite entertainment. The Merrimack Square theatre is suitably cooled and even on the hottest days it is always cool and comfortable in the popular Palace street amusement house.

The features of the Sunday program will be Tom Moore in "The Desperate Hero," one of his most successful comedies, and "The Notorious Mrs. Sands," an all-star dramatic feature. The usual excellent surrounding program will also be carried out.

The features for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday will be "Appearances," a strong story of young married life, and "The Traveling Salesman," starring our round friend, Fatty Arbuckle.

"Appearances" is an exceptionally strong dramatic feature. David Powell, who has the leading role, is well known to Paramount audiences, he having appeared in such pictures as "The Flying Line," "Tooth of the Tiger" and "Dolls of Clay." Mary Olsen, the leading woman, was seen in the cast of "The Call of Youth," Langhorne Burton, who has a strong role, is one of the best known actors of the British stage. Marjorie Hunt, also in the cast, had an important role in "The Great Day." Percy Standing and Mary Dibley, well known and talented players, complete the cast.

The story deals with the struggles of a reckless young architect to keep up appearances beyond his income. His attempts to advertise his growing success by means of increasing extravagance, is intended to typify the present day struggle for existence of the "middle" and professional classes. While entertaining spectators, the story conveys a sound wholesome moral that cannot fail to prove beneficial.

Roscoe (Patty) Arbuckle smashes the old saying that money loves a fat man, in "The Traveling Salesman," the other feature for the first half of the week.

Mr. Arbuckle denotes to perfection the generous-hearted, likable drummer who goes to the small town, champions the cause of the belle of the village, who is about to be defrauded of her property by two villainous and ends the romance by marrying the girl.

There is an abundance of atmosphere and the comedy is strong as a laugh provoker. One of the funniest spots is a poker game which follows, in which there is virtue in gambling at times.

Betty Ross Clark, the leading woman, is excellent. Frank Holland, Wilson Taylor, Lucille Ward, Jim Blackwell, Richard Wagoner, George Pearce, Robert Dudley and Gordon Rogers render efficient support.

A Sunshine comedy and the International News will round out the bill.

A Japanese representative has introduced a prohibition bill at thirteen consecutive sessions of the diet.

—Big Bill For First Three Days of Week

With a feature production and an all star cast, together with an up-to-date pictorial comparison of two modern gladiators, the Italio theatre offers a big bill for the three first days of next week, beginning Monday. The program will have Joseph Dowling in the big attraction, "The Spriders," also Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier in "The Fight of the Ages." There will also be a snappy comedy, the last episode of "The Son of Tarzan" and the Fox news.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Hebe Daniels will feature in a modern attraction, "Ducks and Deakes." The program will also introduce Jack Thomas and Leslie Austin in "Reckless Wives," also an Educational comedy and the Fox news.

In the attraction for the latter part of the week Hebe Daniels is given the role of Miss Teddy Simpson, a wealthy girl who has been brought up by an orphan who has been urged by that loving guardian into an engagement with Rob Winslow, an attractive young man, who is much in love with the saucy Ted. It is a story you will like to see.

For Sunday the Italio has one of its best programs of the year, featuring Louise Glaum, in "The Leopard Woman," also Shirley Mason in "Love's Harvest," together with an attractive comedy and the Fox news.

The Thirsty Will Be Envious
Of Gloria's Snake Bite

GLORIA SWANSON RECOVERS FROM THE CURE FOR A SNAKE BITE. HER HAIRPIN HAS BECOME A WEDDING RING

BY JAMES W. DEAN

Originality is shown by Hilarious Glyn in her first photoplay, "The Great Moment." Gloria Swanson is married. Milton Sills is the leading man.

A rattlesnake bites Gloria. There is one very well known cure for snake bites, but it has been rather hard to obtain since Mr. Volstead's famous measure became effective. Consequently the popularity of the snake bite has waned considerably.

Anyway, the proper cure is administered to Gloria. Its effect is very pronounced. An irate father places little credence in the snake-bite story. And so he forces her to marry him. A hairpin from Gloria's head is twisted into a circle and with this the ceremony is performed.

The effect of the snake-bite and its cure wears away. At first Gloria doesn't know why the hairpin is upon her finger. Later she recalls the ceremony, twists the pin into its original shape and replaces it in her hair.

At the end she is reunited to her husband. She again bends the pin into a ring and places it on her finger.

Movies Change Faces

"Motion pictures are making the American face more mobile, more plastic," says Henry Clive, artist. He has painted portraits of Gloria Swanson, Hebe Daniels, Wallace Reid, Agnes Ayres and others.

"Film actors have developed faces which register emotions as quickly as the surface of a placid lake records the passing of a breeze," he says.

His effect is seen in the faces of millions of movie fans. Gloria Swanson's feminine admirers have acquired coming week, which includes a triple-feature program for the first three days and an excellent two-feature offering for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

For the first of the week Eugene Hayakawa, the Japanese star in "Black Hoses," May Allison in "The Last Card" and Fatty Arbuckle in "One of the Boys" will be shown, while the last half of the week Eugene O'Brien in "Gilded Lies," and Edith Roberts in "The Unknown Wife" will be shown.

The usual strong program has been arranged for the Sunday concert, including five big-time vaudeville acts and an entire change of pictures.

Suppose you had been made to suffer for a crime you had never committed. Suppose your wife were stolen from you and you were left to spend your entire life in prison. Would you try to escape, to reap vengeance upon those who had caused your suffering?

Hayakawa, in his first great adventure, but succeeds in his great adventure. The picture contains all of the elements of the successful story, and one which will appeal to every type of audience. It offers the spectacle of a powerful estate in the quiet and romance of New York City, the grim atmosphere of Sing Sing and in the excitement of the underworld district where fortune is made and lost in the twinkling of an eye.

A notable cast appears in support of the star, including Tsuru Aoki (Mrs. Sato), Hayakawa who is seen in the leading feminine role, and a woman's instincts, intuition, sixth sense—tell it what you will—conspire to solve a murder mystery where the mystery of logic is embodied in the mind of the law. This is the unusual theme at the core of "The Last Card," in which May Allison is featured. Those who know what Royalty Veiller has done in "Within the Law" and "The Thirteenth Chair," two of the strongest melodramas ever produced in America, will be interested in the announcement that "The Last Card" is one of his creations. Miss Allison has the role of Elsie Kirkwood, the hapless married woman in town, until her husband is put in jail for the murder of a man whose home is found in the basement of his home.

all the facial mannerisms which she shows on the screen. Wallace Reid's manner of lifting his eyebrows has set all the young men of the country to lifting their eyebrows, too.

"For years observers, here and abroad, have declared that the typical American face was rather stern and set. This was true—until the movies came to be such a power and influence. The American is becoming as facially expressive as the Italian or Frenchman."

The Movie Grab Bag
Pearl White, who is in Paris, says "Jack" is dead.

Don't Patbanks get ambition—to climb to the top of Mount Everest.

Helen Jerome Eddy is to support George Beban in "The Sign of the Rose."

Estelle Taylor exercises on a treadmill between scenes to keep down her weight.

"The Archangel" has been purchased as a feature for Gladys Walton.

Charles Chaplin makes Edna Purviance a part in "Vanity Fair" as important as that of Jackie Coogan in "The Kid."

Shibasaki, secretary of the Movie club of Tokyo, writes that the Edgar comedies are very popular in Japan.

Sidney Franklin, director, had jazz tunes played while his filmed convict extras doing a lock-step in "Courage."

Jack Pickford will star in "A Tailor-Made Man" after he finishes co-directing Mary in "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

Sudden inspiration makes her realize that in some inexplicable, strange way the woman next door has really a hand in the murder. Acting on this clear, vorant realization, Elsie sets a clever

DECKER FOUND GUILTY, GIVEN LIFE SENTENCE

WARSAW, Ind., June 11.—Virgil Decker, 12-year-old farmer boy, was found guilty of murder in the first degree in connection with the death of Leroy Lovett, his associate, by a jury in circuit court here last night. He was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The jury was out less than three hours and reached a verdict on the fifth ballot.

Young Decker showed no emotion when the verdict was read into the court or when sentence was passed.

trap in which the murder is enacted to the very last touch, and the real murderer brought to a sudden confession. For her supporting cast Miss Allison has Al Roscoe, Stanley, and the others. The story is from an original one in the Saturday Evening Post.

The third feature for the opening week will be "Gilded Lies," a hilarious comedy—said to be the best laugh-getter ever produced.

During the last three days of the week Eugene O'Brien, the Strangers' favorite will be seen in his newest picture story, "Frozen Lies." Adventures in the frozen north, intrigues in the social world, and the availing malcontents of a spurious promoter who fools society and fleeces them with exulting ingenuity, combine to crowd the screen.

Edith Roberts, the dainty star, will be seen in "The Unknown Wife," and also that you can see the matinee performance for 10 cents and the evening performance for 15 cents, plus the tax.

Don't forget that it's "always cool and comfortable at The Strand," and also that you can see the matinee performance for 10 cents and the evening performance for 15 cents, plus the tax.

NEW LAKEVIEW PARK
Just a few hours out of the city, if enjoyed in Lake Massachussetts' cooling, invigorating breezes, will bring you back to normal, British dull care. The park is a wide variety of amusement for recreation, and Lakeview offers you the golden opportunity. The fare is 10 cents—half what it used to be—available. Bands, fireworks, and other pleasures are always present with pleasing programs. Next week—Alfreda, the Great.

He adopted a nonchalant attitude throughout the trial and seemed in excellent spirits when he was taken back to his cell.
Decker was accused of murdering Lovett, who is said to have been his "double" as the outcome of an alleged conspiracy among members of the Decker family to kill Lovett, claim his body as that of Decker and collect $21,000 in life insurance.
The other members of the Decker family are in jail here awaiting trial, the date of which has not been set.

MISS CORA SGOVIL AT WORK ON ONE OF HER PATCHWORK FIGURES.

Patchwork, in the hands of Miss Cora Scovill, has become a fine art and the fad of Fifth avenue, New York. Miss Scovill at first conceived the idea of making interesting patchwork figures on cloth panels, for the amusement of her friends at Washington, Pa.

HELD IN $5000
CHICOPEE, June 11.—Miss Lucy Gillett of Westfield, sister of Speaker M. H. Gillett of the national house of representatives, was arraigned in district court here today charged with manslaughter in the death of a child. The child was driving a car and killed Irene Cole, aged 13 and injured Yvette Gauthier, aged nine. Miss Gillett entered a plea of not guilty and was released in bonds of $5000 for a hearing July 1.

What Neurasthenia Is

Neurasthenia is a condition of exhaustion of the nervous system. The causes are varied. Continuous work, mental or physical, without proper vacation periods, without proper attention to diet and exercise, also worry over the struggle for success, are the most common causes. Excess of almost any kind may produce it. Some diseases, like the grip, will cause neurasthenia. So also will a severe shock, intense anxiety or grief.

The symptoms are over-sensitiveness, irritability, a disposition to worry over trifles, headache, possibly nausea. The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood and with proper regulation of the diet have proved of the greatest benefit in many cases of neurasthenia. A tendency to anemia, or bloodlessness, shown by most neurasthenic patients, is also corrected by these tonic pills. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Price 60 cents per box. Two useful books, "Diseases of the Nervous System" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., if you mention this paper.

POWER TO FILE SUIT

To Attach Constitutionality of Commerce Commission and R. R. Labor Board

AUSTIN, Tex., June 11.—The Texas attorney general's department announced today that the supreme court of the United States had granted its request to file a suit attacking the constitutionality of the interstate commerce commission and the railway labor board. The supreme court informed the department that subpoenas had been issued to the two organizations requiring them to appear before the court. The suit was filed June 6.

ALUMNI DAY AT THE NORMAL SCHOOL

Alumni day was observed at the Lowell Normal school this afternoon with exercises on the campus under the direction of the officers of the association: Miss Katherine Flavin, president; Miss Mary Wallace, vice president; Mrs. Irene G. Cashin, secretary, and Miss Blanche Marshall, treasurer. The alumni assembled at 2 o'clock and were entertained at 2:30 by a presentation of the musical "The Princess" by the Normal School Dramatic club. This was a second presentation of the play so successfully staged for the general public last Thursday afternoon. After the play there was an hour of social gathering followed by supper at 5 o'clock and a business meeting at 6:30. The chief entertainment of the evening beginning at 7 will be given in the assembly hall when girls from the Lowell high school will give an exhibition of fancy dancing under the direction of Miss Frances Leggat of the class of 1916.

WILL NOT GRANT LEAVE OF ABSENCE

A petition filed with the municipal council by John B. Blessington, superintendent of streets, asking for a 30 days' leave of absence, will not be granted. It was stated on good authority at city hall today. In his petition, Mr. Blessington assigns ill health as the reason for his request. It is authoritatively reported that Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy, head of the streets and highways department, who is now confined to his home by illness, is thoroughly opposed to the granting of Mr. Blessington's petition.

SAYS WILSON MAINTAINS MILITANT SPIRIT

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Chairman George White of the democratic national committee called on ex-President Wilson at the latter's residence yesterday and discussed for an hour various political matters and the condition of public affairs. Mr. White refused to say specifically the matters which were taken up. "I can say this much, however," he said. "Mr. Wilson retains his keen interest in all affairs affecting the welfare of his party and his country, and he still has the militant spirit which characterized him as a party leader and a chief executive."

Replying to questions as to Mr. Wilson's physical condition, the chairman said that that was obviously a matter upon which he could not make a public statement.

WOULD BAR SIMS AS UNDESIRABLE ALIEN

WASHINGTON, June 11.—A resolution declaring Rear Admiral Sims "an undesirable alien" and denying him readmittance to any American port was introduced in the house late yesterday by Representative Gallivan, democrat of Massachusetts.

The resolution offered by Mr. Gallivan referred to Rear Admiral Sims as a foreign-born citizen of the United States, but now connected, unhappily and unfortunately, with the naval establishment of this country. "On other occasions, it added, he had 'publicly stated that in case of war between the United States and Great Britain one British ship could easily dispose of four or five American ships of corresponding type,' and it charged that 'Sims has publicly depreciated his superior officers in the naval establishment and the character and quality of the government of this republic.'"

KITREDGE COUNCIL CRITICIZED SIMS

Paul Kittredge council held a business meeting followed by an ice cream party and business entertainment on Thursday evening. Several speakers criticized Admiral Sims and questioned his loyalty to the United States, although he criticized a class of citizens who in every emergency in which this nation needed defenders, have been eminently conspicuous for their readiness to die for the flag. In trying to stigmatize the citizens who sympathize with Ireland in her struggle for freedom, he showed his own animosity and his sympathy with the Black and Tan atrocities that are perpetrated on the defenseless people. The degree that he has earned from England is "D.B.P." Doctor of British Propaganda.

In the entertainment those who contributed were: Redding's orchestra, Catherine McGovern, Bernadette, Madeleine and Sadie Finnegan, Miss Lena Martin, Warren Kane, Mary McGovern Jeanette and May Conway.

WAGE REDUCTION IN EFFECT MONDAY

The contemplated reduction in wages for the journeymen plumbers of this city will go into effect Monday, June 20, according to an announcement made today by officials of the Lowell Master Plumbers' association.

The reduction will be 10 per cent. The plumbers will receive 59 cents an hour instead of one dollar as heretofore. The matter of reducing the journeymen plumbers' wages has been under discussion for some time and recently the employees were notified of a ten per cent. cut, but no date was set for the new scale. The master plumbers met this forenoon and finally decided to set Monday, June 20, as the date for the reduction and official notice was sent to the Plumbers' union. Action on accepting or rejecting the new scale, will be taken at the next meeting of the Journeymen Plumbers' union.

AT CASABIE LAKE
The 76 pupils of the Washington school, who will receive their diplomas this month and about 100 of those who graduated from the same school last year went to Casabie Lake park this morning to spend the day.

THE Journeymen Plumbers have not realized that a reduction in their wage is in the line of progress and is inevitable. Anticipating this fact we propose to immediately reduce our prices, basing our schedule on a reduction of 10%.

Beginning June 13th our prices for labor will be—Plumber alone, per hour $1.25
Plumber and Helper, per hour $1.80

SEEKS NEW TRIAL IN WOOD ALCOHOL CASE

SPRINGFIELD, June 11.—Counsel for Samuel Darling of Hartford, Conn., found guilty of manslaughter by a jury last night, today filed a petition with Judge C. T. Callahan for a new trial, alleging that the verdict was contrary to the law and the evidence. Darling was found guilty of causing the deaths of Joseph Kunia and Michael Dehnarz of Chicopee during Christmas week, 1919, by the sale of wood alcohol "whisky" imported from New Haven, Conn., the drinking of which is alleged to have caused many deaths in Chicopee.

A DESERVED TRIBUTE

It is good to have one's work praised occasionally by those whose words mean something more than adulation. Recently there has been issued by the state department of education a pamphlet bearing the title, "Adult Inmigrant Education in Massachusetts." Here is a paragraph taken from it:

"Lowell—This city is noteworthy because of the class work that has been developed in the Massachusetts mills. This corporation probably the first of its kind in the country to set up factory classes, is at the same time among those establishments that help promote the project of immigrant education in every way possible. A splendid illustration is here afforded of what happens when the 'big boss' himself has a real interest in the education of his employees."

Who is the "big boss" here referred to? Probably none of the people of Lowell will need to be told that it is Agent William A. Mitchell.

What has been accomplished in the Massachusetts mills by Mr. Mitchell, in the line of what is commonly called "welfare work," deserves wide recognition. He has gotten away from the old idea, that labor is a commodity to be bought and sold as any other commodity and that the responsibility of the buyer ends when the article bought is delivered and the cash due for it paid over. Seemingly at the Massachusetts mills the policy has been followed of looking upon the workers as fellowmen and women with common hopes and aspirations and that it was desirable that they should be made to realize that they were part of a great family working for common ends.

Mr. Mitchell's activities have been aimed at having a contented lot of employees who can feel not only that they are fairly and justly treated, but that they are something more than mere parts of a machine for the grinding out of cotton cloth. He has realized that the contentment of his workers of foreign birth depended in some measure upon their being familiar with the language of their adopted country and having a share in all the hopes and aspirations of Americans. It should be gratifying to him, as it will be to those who have followed with interest the experiments he has been making, to read the commendation of the state board of education.

Others have followed in the path that has been blazed by Mr. Mitchell. This is notably true of A. D. Mitchell, and the Americanization work that has been successfully carried on in the Hamilton mills. It is regrettable, though, that more of the city's industrial establishments have not realized the importance of such work. According to the report of the state department of education, there were in Lowell, at the time the statistics were compiled, only 542 foreign-speaking persons attending the factory and evening school classes in Americanization. There were 13 factory classes in New Bedford, the banner city for such work, there were 1650 persons registered in similar classes and there were 32 groups of factory students. The whaling city had 22 neighborhood Americanization classes, while Lowell had none. Lawrence had nearly twice as many Americanization students as Lowell and 20 factory classes.

Perhaps it may be hoped that there will come a wider recognition among our industrial leaders that Americanization of their foreign-speaking employees is a form of investment that is likely to pay high dividends and is something in the nature of insurance. The safety of the fabric of American institutions is more perhaps than we are ready to admit, bound up with the success with which the newcomers from other shores are fully assimilated into our national life.

ADMIRAL SIMS' CASE

It is rather embarrassing to the United States authorities, and indeed to all her people, to find that Admiral Sims of the American navy in a speech in London has floundered like the proverbial bull in the international china-shop.

Had Mr. Sims spoken in Paris, in Tokio or Athens, no doubt he would have shown the fine diplomatic sense of the fitness of things for which admirals are usually noted in their utterances relative to their own and other nations; but speaking in London, where he was honored by the highest officials of the government and even by royalty, the glimmer of the occasion overcame him, with the result that he slipped over by discussing a national or, it might be said, an international controversy in a manner that reflected upon a large section of American citizens and stigmatized as "jackasses" the Americans who sympathize with Ireland in her just struggle for freedom.

Why Admiral Sims did this and why he went farther and predicted that a union of the English-speaking races would rule the world, may be understood from another speech made by him at the Guild hall in London in 1919 when he said: "Blood is thicker than water." "If the time ever comes when the British empire is seriously menaced by an external enemy, it is my opinion that you may count upon every man, every dollar and every drop of blood of your kindred across the sea."

For that utterance, Sims was publicly reprimanded by order of President Taft, and the fact that he commits a similar offense now, and even in an aggravated form, indicates that he is not a man who can be relied upon to observe the restrictions of speech required of officers in his high station. He is, therefore, unfit for the position he holds in the American navy. Ordinarily he would have been expected to accept the honors offered him at a foreign court as offered in part at least, in recognition of the great country he represented; but instead, he criticized his country and its people when he said "the knew of but one nation that did not boast of the grandeur of the empire, its country and its people. That was the British; they did not think it necessary. Nobody would blame Admiral Sims for showing a degree of filial sympathy for the country of his birth, if at the

The charge that Irishmen or their friends in this country have the blood of American boys on their hands is probably based on groundless assumption, as was his charge that the United States was responsible for heavy losses to the allied forces in not entering the war sooner and that much unnecessary loss of life was caused by the naval policy of Secretary Daniels during the war. If any proof could be found to sustain a charge such as that now made by Admiral Sims, the British propagandists would have had it published to the world long ago.

Admiral Sims, his speech and his charges should be thoroughly investigated and in future our naval and other officials should be made to understand that their speeches at foreign courts are to be such as will not violate the recognized customs of international diplomacy. To Americans, nothing is more nauseating than to see one of their admirals meekly fawning at the feet of foreign rulers and with a tongue extolling imperial pomp at the expense of the country he represents.

DAVIS DEFENDS UNIONS

Secretary Davis of the department of labor at Washington is right when he warns certain corporations that to smash the labor unions, as proposed in certain quarters, would give a new impetus to radical and revolutionary organizations.

There is no reason why the laboring people should not be allowed to exercise the right to organize without being attacked or discriminated against from that cause alone.

Secretary Davis does not overstate the case when he says:

"Labor unions are an organic growth of the times. If you smash them you will have, in their place, secret radical organizations which lead directly to the revolutionary spirit, which is upsetting Europe."

That is a statement that should be very seriously considered by every employer who undertakes to interfere with the legitimate functions of the workers to organize for their own protection just as the employers form associations to promote their common interests. If, however, the unions try to force the closed shop on any employer, the case is different. The employer in that instance is justified in resisting the intrusion upon his right to employ whom he pleases.

It is gratifying to know that since the war, there has been a better feeling between employer and employee than had existed for many years past. Any movement against the unions would recall to action the ultra radical element represented by the I.W.O., the socialists and the anarchists. The socialist doctrine favoring the abolition of the wage system and the equal distribution of wealth has been losing ground of late and it would soon be banished completely if the good feeling and mutual respect advocated by Mr. Davis prevailed between employer and employee. Whether such counsels shall prevail and such an era of good feeling bring a reign of industrial peace, depends entirely upon the sincerity with which employer and employee come together in co-operation for their common good.

Mr. Davis assures the unions that if they got rid of the radicals, the leaders and strikers, and acted strictly on the level with their employers, the latter would soon insist that every employee should have a union card.

WIRELESS FOR POLICE NEWS

As we have repeatedly suggested, the Lowell police department should have a wireless service on certain lines of police news in order to head off criminals who speed away in fast automobiles after committing a crime. The time is not far distant when news agencies will use the wireless much more freely than at present. In the recent Arkansas flood, newspaper reporters risked their lives to get the news, and in that case used the aeroplane. That served the purpose, although the difficulty of landing was quite hazardous. In case of destruction by storm, fire or other cause, the wireless offers the surest medium.

That was a lamentable accident by which Frederick W. Galbraith, head of the American Legion, lost his life. He was a true soldier who had won high honors for bravery and who had proved his prowess on many occasions. In his passing the Legion has the condolence of the entire nation. The auto continues to add to the death toll in every walk of life.

A Dorchester American Legion post has protested against the wearing of the American flag by participants in a coming prize-fight, which shows that there is a difference between real fighters and "punch" who punch, or pretend to punch, each other for dollars.

It is passing strange that not until the present time has anyone thought of inviting a president of the United States to visit the bricklayers in Quincy of the two chief magistrates that Massachusetts has given to the nation.

The municipal council has ordered the employment of an inspector on the Central bridge reconstruction job. It looks just now as though his work might last for a comfortably long lifetime.

"Think you're cool and you will be cool," says a health adviser, but the thermometer puts a crimp in the process by refusing to let us think that way.

The farmers would be a hard-hearted lot indeed if they could see a Twelfth game on the South common and not give up speedily their opposition to daylight saving.

Why talk about prohibition being a failure, when the cops refuse to furnish us with even a sample of what it is like.

Again both the congressman gain credit and honor for his generosity by distributing seeds that Uncle Sam pays for.

Wonderful Endorsement

The "professors" of cheap dancing academies in the tenderloin are now advertising lessons in toddling. One sends out a circular which reads: "Learn to dance the toddle. Cleopatra invented it and that was the way she ensnared Napoleon."

A Persistent Kid

"Tell me a tale about an elephant," demanded the young man of his favorite aunt. "What on Sunday? I'm surprised at you. Little boys ought not to want to hear tales about animals on a Sunday." The point seemed to be worth considering, and Bobby was silent for a while. Then he asked, "Is it Sunday now in Australia?" Auntie thought it was not. "Well, then, tell me a story about a kangaroo."

A Delicate Subject

The young man's face was flushed, and his manner was strangely agitated. "Miss Blanche," said he, "I hesitated about coming to you, but my feelings have overpowered me at last. Is it too much for me to ask—?"

"Go on," whispered the maiden, with heart beating wildly.

"I came to ask you, Miss Blanche—"

"Yes," she smiled, encouragingly.

"If you would give me that recipe which you said you had for indigestion."

By Frances Boardman

Dear children, in the good old days there was at least one of the ways of going crazy, that they missed; the telephone did not exist. When central asks you, "number please?" the sequel comes in lines like these: "What number did you say you called?" You tell her; then the engine's stalled for three long minutes, while you wait to learn your telephonic fate. But nothing happens on the board; it seems that central likes to hear you, instead of calling just a few. Well, when your car is stalled, and black despair has got you, you hear her girlish voice once more: "What number were you asking for?" You mobilize your self-command; you take your temper well in hand, (reflecting death will bring release), and you tell her the little piece. The curtain falls, as programs say, to indicate a half a day, and then, if it's your lucky date, the number may eventuate.

Old Houses

Waking I walk the highways of to-day and toward tomorrow's threshold step I turn. Unfaltering feet, but in my dreams I yearn. Along a narrow, half-forgotten way That leads me through a middle-distance grey. Back to old houses, plainly I discern Rooms, halls and stairways of the past. I learn Old lessons, read old books, old games I play. Old houses! Actual, though long since razed To nothing. Olden faces long since dust. Yet living more than those on which I gazed. But yesterday. Cast-off beliefs and trust. And yet when sleep has come, so real That when I wake, the waking seems the dream!

—Anne Higginson Spicer in the Boston Transcript.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The textile exhibit which has been open at the chamber of commerce rooms for several weeks past has not attracted as many visitors as might have been expected. School children have visited it in company with their teachers. One visitor on examining the products of the mills this week expressed surprise that a little mill at the Navy Yard in Dracut could turn out so many different kinds of woollen cloth for suits and overcoats and all of high quality. In the products of each factory there are many things to be admired and the women have been delighted on examining the dress goods and other fabrics produced in some of our local mills.

The call sent out by the Massachusetts relief committee for contributions for clothing and shoes to be sent to the refugee women and children of the near east has been answered by 70 cities and towns of the state. Lowell among them. So Dr. William A. Bartlett, the state director, reported in a statement given out at the headquarters in Boston today. A great quantity of goods have been shipped to New York already, and requests are still being sent to the state office, 1215 Little building, for the shipping tags that were furnished by the committee.

The Massachusetts Letter Carriers' convention in this city tomorrow will be an event of much importance to the city of Lowell. It is to be held at Old Fellows hall, Middlesex street. If the Lowell Auditorium were finished, the city would gladly welcome them to hold their meetings there. The people of Lowell know the local carriers, know how hard they have to work and how very accommodating they are in dealing with the public. The department took on the parcel post, the work of the carriers has been greatly increased and the loads some of them have to carry from the local office are really surprising, both in size and weight. The carriers deserve well of the government and the public.

There has been much talk of what will happen to the initiative petition of the Lowell Chamber of Commerce after it has been submitted to City Clerk Flynn. Those who know the city clerk may rely that the petition will be dealt with in strict accordance with the statutes. The city clerk has never yet fallen down on any duty submitted to him. The signatures will be duly scrutinized and the decision given as to "sufficiency" within the time limit if Mr. Flynn is on the job.

SUN WRITER QUIZZES THE WEATHER MAN AT WASHINGTON

(Special to The Sun)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 11.—"Here's nothing the matter with the weather," said the expert weather man out at the United States weather bureau. "If certain other sections of the country didn't scrap their bad weather and use the New England valleys for a dumping ground, New England weather would be as steady-going and conservative as his people. There is nothing the matter with this climate. It's weather that doesn't rightfully belong there that makes all the trouble."

The high official to whom The Sun correspondent was talking tipped back his chair and went on: "You just asked me why the New England climate was variable, and that's the answer."

The weather man explained by word, book and chart how it happens that the valleys of the Connecticut, the Merrimack and the great rivers of Maine are catch-alls for storms from all sections of the country and for storms that originate across seas as well, sometimes including those that start out on a course that sweeps them to the United States from Japan or the Philippines.

Storms Head to St. Lawrence Valley

"Just as all roads once led to Rome, so now all storms lead to the St. Lawrence valley. And from the St. Lawrence valley they find an easy outlet down the valleys of New England. The St. Lawrence valley is the best of all, which storms from all sections pour, and New England is the neck of the storm bottle through which they start on a course farther south. New England has a fine natural climate but it is grossly interfered with by weather that has jumped its own reservation."

The major went on to say that areas of low barometer and areas of high barometer often select New England in which to fight out their differences. The cool west winds and the hot south winds meet on this common ground. Blizzards from Canada and warm rains from the Gulf stream seem to regard New England as a happy hunting ground. A tropical storm starts out towards the north and picks New England for its highway; a Canadian "norther" starts for the south and aims straight at the New England valleys. The storms meet there as in No Man's Land and dispute the right of way. The cyclone that struck the Connecticut valley something like a year ago was directly traceable to one that originated in the Gulf stream region.

New England can point with pride to the sort of weather that is hereditary right of inheritance and natural climate, but just so long as the undesirable elements from other sections of the country continue to use the New England valleys as a public highway, just so long must she bear the reputation of being a variable and uncomfortable place. Mark Twain's comment, that New England had any climate—she has just only weather.

Thunder Storms

From the New England climate the talk turned to thunder storms. "What's the difference between a thunder storm and a thunder shower?" asked the correspondent. "It's a matter of intensity, not duration. Very violent rain, vivid lightning and heavy thunder are storms, whether they are of long or short duration, while less violent are showers." Then the major gave a clear description of how thunder storms originate. He talked about tornadoes, cyclones, or whirls, as he called them. He pointed

CHILDREN ENJOY BUBBLE BROOK PARTY

"Jack and Jill went up the hill," "Tussy cat, pussy cat, where have you been?" "Simple Simon met a pieman," "Tom, Tom the piper's son," and would you like to hear them again, those quaint droll nursery verses of Mother Goose. A large number of Lowell children, together with "children of an older growth," not only heard, again, the rhymes, but actually saw the magical characters before them. It happened yesterday, at the Chalfoux store, where a "bubble book party" was presented during the afternoon, under the direction of Mrs. Bessie N. Grace of New York city, assisted by Arthur Hiser and Miss Clara Shay, of the Victoria department. The affair was repeated this morning, and at four o'clock this afternoon with enthusiastic audiences of little ones present on each occasion. The nursery characters were assumed as follows: Bubble boy, Edward O'Neill, Jr.; Jack, Marion Flint; Jill, John Rogers; Lazy Mary, Bernadine Plant; cock a doodle doo, Gladys Sweet; Mary and her lamb, Mary Burnett; Tom, Tom the piper's son, Milton Simpson; Old King Cole, Robert W. Dunkerley; pussy cat, Robert Ryan; the doggie, David Fox; Simple Simon, George Callahan; the fairy godmother, Lillian Ward; Mother Goose, Caroline Schultz; program clerk, Helen Pearson; and Alice Callahan, Victoria operated by Anita Ahlberg.

Adventures of The Twins

SPRINKLE BLOW'S ORDERS

"MY, OH, MY!" EXCLAIMED HE. "THIS IS WORSE THAN I EXPECTED."

Down toward the earth floated Nancy and Nick and Mr. Sprinkle Blow, the Weatherman. Mr. Sprinkle Blow's magic umbrella set them down ever so gently in a meadow where patches of green clover were already spreading out to catch every one of Mr. Sun's warm rays.

Sprinkle Blow looked up at the sky and frowned. "Um!" he declared, "It's much too warm! Much! I told Mr. Sun to stay in for awhile and let Jack Frost have a chance. Old Man Flood will be having the time of his life."

But Mr. Sun heard the fairyman and called him down quickly. "All right, I'm going this very minute. I'm looking for a cloud right now to hide behind."

Sprinkle Blow had no time to answer, for at that minute Mr. Sun disappeared and things grew dark as sprakes. At the same time an icy wind began to blow from every direction. The twins shivered.

Sprinkle Blow nodded in surprise.

Long before they came to the creek they could hear the roar of muddy water, and the weatherman hurried ahead as fast as his legs could carry him. "My, oh, my!" exclaimed he. "This is worse than I expected. Old Man Flood has let all the stoppers out everywhere and this poor creek can't hold another barrel of water."

"Jack Frost," he called loudly, "work as fast as you can. The faster you freeze up this creek again, the better it will be for everybody. Nick, you go and see what has happened to poor Big Beaver's dam. Nancy, into Mr. Muskrat's house and see if the babies are safe, and I'll fly out to sea and hunt for Mary Mink on his cake of ice. He can't have gone very far yet."

Mr. John Barrymore Says----

October the fifteenth
1 9 2 0

My dear Mr. Griffith:

I have for the second time seen your picture. Any personal praise of yourself or your genius regarding the picture I would naturally consider redundant and a little like carrying coals to Newcastle.

Anyway, I imagine you are so used to it that it would only bore you to death.

I have not the honor of knowing Miss Gish personally and I am afraid that any expression of feeling addressed to her she might consider impertinent. I merely wish to tell you that her performance in "Way Down East" seems to me to be the most superlatively EXQUISITE and POIGNANTLY ENCHANTING THING THAT I HAVE EVER SEEN IN MY LIFE.

I remember seeing Duse in this country many years ago when I imagine she must have been at the height of her powers—also Madame Bernhardt—and for sheer technical brilliancy and great emotional projection, done with AN ALMOST UN-CANNY SIMPLICITY AND SINCERITY of method, it is great fun and a great stimulant to see AN AMERICAN ARTIST EQUAL, IF NOT SURPASS, THE FINEST TRADITIONS OF THE THEATRE.

I am not in the habit of writing letters of this character and it is only a very rare experience that could impel it.

I wonder if you would be good enough to thank Miss Gish from all of us who are trying to do the best we know how in the theatre. Believe me,

Yours very sincerely,
(Signed) JOHN BARRYMORE

BY RUTH AGNES ABELING
The workroom was so festive in rolls of yellow crepe paper that I had to stop and peep in.
It was to be a surprise, they whispered on a surprise shower for a little girl who lived on the next floor and was going to be married next month.
Of course they had wanted to do something original and different and then one of the girls evolved the idea while she was looking at the little doll contrivances the shops are showing for telephone and the like.
So she came back to the house loaded with yellow crepe paper and carrying a mysterious package.
When she opened the package, as many little celluloid dolls as there were to be girls at the luncheon were found. Then the crepe paper was cut in strips about six inches wide and 18 inches long. A narrow ruffle was put at one edge of each. While this was being done by half of the girls, the other half were busy making "shoulder straps."
They took the paper crosswise of the crinkles and folded it three times so that they had a strip about a quarter of an inch wide. One of these then were put over each shoulder of each doll and a touch of glue from the tube pasted them tightly at the little lady's waist line. A single flat piece of paper was put around the doll for a bodice and touches of glue held it together at the back.
Then the little skirts which had been gathered so they were quite full, were put on and held in the right place with more glue. A bow was made with two streamers and one piece just long enough to go around the doll's waist.
The bow was made with the aid of needle and thread, but held in place with paste, which was so faintly used that the method by which the fanciful frock was held on was not visible.
The skirts then were pulled out at the middle all the way around. They extended about an inch or perhaps two inches longer than the feet of their wearers. Their stiffness held her quite off her feet.
They were charming and unique favors and were to be the sole decoration of the table with the exception of a few yellow flowers in a flat bowl in the center.

CHILL GLASSES FOR SUMMER DRINKS

For long, cool drinks or ices, be sure to chill the glasses before filling. Ice cold lemonade served in a lukewarm glass must lose some of its lusciousness. Fruit ices become watery in short order if put into warm glasses. If glass is chilled gradually, even the finest cut will not break.

Menu for Tomorrow
BREAKFAST—Stewed dried peaches, boiled rice with sugar and top milk, bran muffins, coffee.
LUNCHEON—Asparagus omelet, bath house cocoa.
DINNER—Beef bouillon, mayonnaise of chicken, oatmeal bread, red raspberry shortcake, coffee.

MY OWN RECIPES
If strawberry shortcake has a rival it is in red raspberry shortcake. And a shortcake isn't a shortcake unless made of baking powder or soda biscuit dough.

Bath Buns
Five cups flour, 1/2 cup sugar, 1 yeast cake, 1/2 cup lukewarm water, 1 cup butter, 3 eggs, 1/2 cup chopped citron, 1 cup currants, caraway seeds (optional), 1 teaspoon salt, milk.
Dissolve yeast in water. Beat eggs, 1 cup of flour and dissolved yeast cake together and let rise in a warm place. Let stand 6 hours or over night. Rub butter into flour and caraway seeds. When sponge is light combine mixtures, mix thoroughly, cover with a cloth, brush over with a little milk and bake 25 minutes in a hot oven.

Mayonnaise of Chicken
One cold boiled chicken, 1 1/2 cups mayonnaise, 1/2 cup aspic jelly, endive, 1 cucumber.
To make the aspic jelly, boil a knuckle of veal which has been cracked in several places for 5 or 6 hours. Season with carrots, onion, parsley, salt and pepper. Remove scum as it rises. Strain and let set. Cut the chicken into small pieces. Remove skin and ends of bone. Dissolve jelly and add to mayonnaise when cool. Put the chicken on a wire tray and pour over the sauce with a tablespoon. When the sauce is set pour over a little plain jelly. Arrange chicken on a bed of lettuce and surround with endive and sliced cucumber. Any jelly left in the mold may be cut into cubes and used as a garnish.

BRIGHT RED PURSES
NEW YORK, June 11.—Even purses are changing their lines. After a period of the handbag into which one dived and brought forth almost anything, we have arrived at the envelope purse. They are of rather large dimensions and their flatness is a welcome change.
A note of brilliant color is often found in them. The fad just at present is for bright red, especially where the carrier is clad in gray.

GAS INITIATIVE IS ALIVE

Strikers' Representative Says That Many Signed Petitions Are Being Received

A report which had been circulated that the initiative movement started by former employees of the Lowell Gas Light company to have the city establish a municipal gas plant has been dropped was denied today by representatives of the gas men.
"The signed petitions are coming in to us faster than we can examine them," said a representative of the strikers this morning. "The petitions will certainly be filed with the city clerk for placing before the municipal council."

A meeting of the strikers was held in Machinists' union hall, 212 Merrimack street, yesterday afternoon at which the initiative movement was discussed and a similar meeting will be held tomorrow afternoon in Central Labor union hall at 3 p. m.

It is stated by an attorney connected with the case that no date has yet been set for a hearing before a master on the issues involved in a suit for making a temporary injunction issued against the strikers permanent. The injunction prohibits the former employees of the gas light company from in any way interfering with the carrying on of the business of the company or the molesting of present employees.

The court order accompanying the injunction, which was issued about ten days ago, provides that the hearings before the master shall proceed "forthwith."

The Vesper-Country club is planning for a ladies' and children's day at the club's grounds on Tyngs Island, June 23. For entertainment there will be a band, a merry-go-round, and many games for the children. In the evening an orchestra will furnish music for dancing. The entertainment committee is composed of Alvah H. Weaver, Edward Woodward, George O. Robertson, Ray Faragher, and Robert B. Wood. The executive committee of the club is composed of Harry G. Pollard, Ous Humphrey, C. Marshall Foster, Arthur Munkland, H. Hutchings Parker, John C. Leggat and Andrew G. Swapp.

ON MAKING BEDS

There is art about making a bed in such a way that it is really comfortable.

In the first place, before the bed is made, it should have aired for two or three hours. During this time the covers should be thrown back over the footboard and the bedroom windows should be wide open.
Before attempting to remake the bed, remove all covers, leaving only the under sheet on. Whether that sheet is short or long, to prevent its rolling down into bunches during the night tuck it under the mattress at the head of the bed.

It is possible that the sheet will be too short to reach to the foot of the bed when it is tucked under at the top, but there is no necessity of its coming to the exact foot of the bed.
The upper sheet then should be tucked under the mattress at the foot and thus held securely so that it does not pull away from the feet.
The blanket, which should be next to the sheet, should be tucked under as well as the comforter.

Most people prefer spreads of the loose variety nowadays which are left out all the way around.
At least once every week the mattress should be turned so that it will not become lumpy. For those of the two-piece sort, the square piece should be given a quarter turn.

Tells Girls How She Found Relief From Pain

West Palm Beach, Fla.—"When I was 19 years old I was irregular and I had such terrible cramps it felt like a knife going through me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I was cured. After I was married I had the same trouble caused by the added work of farming and heavy washings so I told my husband to get six bottles of the regularly my troubles ceased and now I never have a pain or ache, and am regular. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and think every young girl should take it. You can publish this letter and it may be the means of helping some other girl or woman."

—Mrs. MARY M. WAGNER, Box 759, West Palm Beach, Florida.
While no woman is entirely free from periodic suffering it does not seem to be the plan of nature that woman should suffer so severely and when pain exists something is wrong which should be set right. Every girl who suffers from monthly cramps should give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

International Phase Given to Funeral of National Commander of Legion

CINCINNATI, June 11.—An international phase was given today to the funeral of Col. Fred W. Galbraith, national commander of the American Legion who was killed in an automobile accident, by the presence of Marcel Knecht, French high commissioner to the United States, who was a close friend of the colonel and Captain Le-gere, air attaché of the French embassy at Washington, representing Ambassador Jusserand.
M. Knecht came to Cincinnati accompanied by two French veterans to carry the Tri-Color in the funeral procession. A palm on the coffin bore a card reading: "To one of the bravest liberators, from the city of Chateau Thierry." The citizens of that city enabled M. Knecht to order the tribute.

Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy; Col. T. M. Miller, alien property custodian, and J. T. Taylor, vice chairman of the legion's legislative committee, came from Washington to attend the funeral. Other arrivals were Governor Davis of Ohio, all the members of the Ohio supreme court, Franklin D. Oller, of Philadelphia, past national commander of the American Legion; John H. Emory of Grand Rapids, vice national commander, and Maj. Gen. George W. Read, commander of the Fifth Army Corps area.

MUSICALE AT THE PAWTUCKET SCHOOL

The pupils of the Pawtucket grammar school gave a most delightful musicale in the school hall yesterday afternoon. The affair was attended by the teachers and pupils of the school together with a large number of parents and it was most successful in every respect. The skill and ease of the young musicians reflected great credit on their teachers. Miss Gertrude O'Brien, piano, and Miss Goldie Gardner, violin. William P. Solo, Irene Landry.
Violin Group, "Old Black Joe."

PROFESSIONAL AND BUSINESS WOMEN MEET

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 11.—The convention of the New England Federation of Business and Professional Women began today, with the New Haven club as the hostess. Delegates enrolled from two score or more cities had breakfast together. The first general meeting in Chamber of Commerce hall was presided over by Miss Sara M. Wheeler of Cambridge, Mass.
The vocational groups later had as leaders Miss Helen Malcolm, for the nurses; Miss Georgia Troup, New Haven, newspaper advertising; Miss Grace Fuller, librarian; Miss Florence Child, business; Miss Edna Stebbins, clerical; Miss Katherine Brennan, teachers, and Mrs. Mary S. Burnham of Portland, Me., miscellaneous.
At the dinner tonight the toastmistress will be Judge Gratia L. Rice of New York, and the principal address will be by Miss Lena M. Phillips, the national executive secretary.

LOWELL MAN A BEARER

John Golden, Labor Leader, Buried With Simple Ceremony at Fall River

FALL RIVER, June 11.—John Golden, for 18 years president of the United Textile Workers of America, who died in Brooklyn, last Thursday, was buried with simple ceremony in St. Patrick's cemetery here today. Attending the requiem mass, celebrated at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, were the high officials of the organization, together with representatives of the United Garment Workers of America, the Boot and Shoe Workers' International organization, the International Firemen's union, the United Hatters of North America, and several textile councils of New England, including that from this city.

Mrs. Sara Conboy, secretary-treasurer of the United Textile Workers, announced that according to word received last night, thousands of operatives in various textile centers of the east, planned to stop work for several minutes as the body of Mr. Golden was being carried into the church. Employees of local mills, however, continued their work.

Members of the executive council acted as bearers. They were John H. Powers, Pawtucket; Lewis Ludwig, Pompton Lakes, N. J.; Frank McKosky, Philadelphia; James Starr, Paterson, N. J.; John Hanley, Lowell; Dennis M. Fleming, Manchester, N. H.; John Thomas, Guelph, Ont.; John White, Cohasset, N. Y.; and Luther M. Barnhardt, Charlotte, N. C.
Mass was celebrated by Rev. James Carr of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, assisted by Rev. John Sullivan and Rev. Henry McCann of Southboro, Mass.

POLICE SEEK MISSING BROOKSIDE GIRL

The police are searching for pretty sixteen-year-old Blanche Davis, of Brookside, missing from her home. The girl is described as being dark, about 5 feet, 4 or 5 inches in height, and wearing at the time of her disappearance a blue one-piece dress with white spots, a brown belt 1/2-inch in width, a white collar, and a wrist watch. If the girl is located, the police or Mr. Donnelly, telephone 5302, may be notified.

Six Months' Sentence
Arthur McGlinchey, an elderly man, was sentenced to serve six months in the house of correction for assault and battery on a little girl. The alleged offense was committed May 16, and a local physician was one of the witnesses for the prosecution, as well as the girl herself, and her parents. The mother and father testified that they had extended the hospitality of their home to McGlinchey, and that the assault was committed at their residence while the latter was their guest.

Auto Law Violation
Addison N. White paid a fine of $10 for violation of the automobile laws. The complainant charged that the defendant was operating his automobile on Middlesex street, when a car of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway company stopped to discharge passengers. It is claimed that White passed within eight feet, to wit, six feet, of the running board and lowest step of the conveyance while then in use by passengers for the purpose of alighting. A plea of guilty was entered.

Johnny Kilbane's Sizeup
Of Georges Carpentier

BY JOHNNY KILBANE
Featherweight Champion
MANHASSET, L. I., June 11.—I've just made a close-up of Georges Carpentier, the French challenger.

I called at his bar-bered training camp on one of his non-visiting days, for I wanted to see him work when he wasn't performing for public consumption.

I talked with him afterward for more than an hour on the flower-bordered front porch of the old farmhouse in which he is quartered.

Georges is the fastest heavyweight I ever have seen.

Although he has been using his right hand mainly in public sparring with Jeannette, Journe (who's a double for Al Palmer) and his other partners, the challenger has a wonderful left that is lightning fast on jabs and hooks. It was with this left hand that he jabbed his way with Joe Beckett to an opening that put the Englishman's chin in line for the right-handed knockout blow in the first round.

His right cross is a dandy and he has a "diving punch" that he seldom uncorks and which I never have seen used before. It may be that he's holding it out for July 2. When an opening to the chin occurs Georges, who is always on his toes, veritably throws himself through the air at his opponent with his right arm straight out before him. Every one who has seen strength is behind his blow, and if it lands, it's a 10 to 1 shot that a kayo will result. Early Joe Beckett crumpled like paper when it collided with his chin.

There's been a lot of talk about Carpentier's "waltz punch." It's nothing much more, as I see it, than a series of rapid-fire left jabs to the face, the Frenchman meanwhile dancing in and out and circling his opponent to make him turn.

Carpentier is training differently than Dempsey. The champ is working for strength, endurance and hitting ability; Georges is centering his efforts on increasing his already amazing speed. Dempsey plans a give-and-take fight; the challenger's campaign calls for him to do most of the giving and very little receiving. For it's generally admitted in the Carpentier camp that should the "man-killer" get in one of his famous "socks," there would be little hope for Georges.

Descamps figures Carpentier has an excellent chance if he sticks to long-range fighting, for the challenger packs a wicked yeaplop himself, and is capable of delivering it while traveling at high speed.

The Frenchman's plan will be to go into high gear in the first round and stay out of a mix with the champ at all cost. He'll try to keep off Dempsey's bull-like rushes with his stinging jabs, watching always for an opening for his "flying-punch."

Both the indoor and outdoor rings at Manhasset are 12-footers. Georges is training in these for speed. He'll go into the big bout accustomed to working in a small area, and the 20-foot ring at Jersey will give him acres of room to dance away from the champ.

In the smaller ring, working with Big Journe and Jeannette, Carpentier gets accustomed also to working on the ropes, and if Dempsey does crowd him into a corner on July 24, the challenger will be in better shape to fight his way out than if he had not been training for it.

Nick Tumbles for Golf

NICK ALTROCK—HIS GOLF SWING AND A PAIR OF EXPRESSIONS

Nick Altrock can be serious. It's when he's playing golf.

He has to be serious then. There are no galleries to make laugh as he "putts" around the course.

So Nick, the greatest laugh specialist in baseball, becomes a hard thinker on the golf links.

He spends all the leisure time he can get away from his clown job with the Washington Senators buzzing around the greens.

While he is not a Walter Hagen or a Chick Evans with a set of sticks, Nick's game is not bad.

His ambition is to be able to beat Warren G. Harding, Clark Griffith and Colonel Bogie some day.

It's on the sidelines at the ball park where Nick shines.

Gloom-Killers
He has a brand-new set of gloom

killers this season.

Clark Griffith has a standing offer at the Georgia avenue park in Washington, guaranteeing to give any fan's money back that Nick can't separate from a long hearty giggle.

So far Griffith hasn't made any refunds.

Nobody knows except the club officials what Nick draws down in his pay envelope as the club's laugh specialist. Whatever figure it is Nick is worth it. It is a good 50 per cent of the drawing powers of the Washington ball club.

Nick has been clowning for Griffith since 1912.

Each year he adds fresh wallop to his fun repertoire—and better.

Circus managers and movie magnates have tried to buy him, but Nick likes his job at the ball park best.

The Highland Daylights knocked the Centralvilles from top position in the Twilight League last evening by defeating them, 4 to 3, in a close and interesting game on the South common.

As a result of the defeat of the Centralvilles, the South Ends slid into first place and are safely ensconced there over the week-end.

The Highland Daylights won the game in the first inning, when they sent four runners across the bases. A bad bounding ball which got past Lynch in left field allowed three of the runs to come in.

The concrete sidewalk in left field was blamed by the Centralvilles for their defeat.

Smith was on the mound for the Daylights and pitched good ball. He did his opponent, Whitney, both twirlers went the entire distance without giving up a run. Whitney was sharp and fast in both camps.

There was little excitement in the first inning, but in the second the Centralvilles were all set for some scoring.

In the half the Daylights were a scratch hit after Lynch had fanned. He was extinguished when trying to steal second.

Arthur Foye singled to left and Bradbury walked. Whitney hit the ball true and hard but it went into the air.

Freeman dashed the Centralvilles' chances by nabbing it.

grounded to Purcell, but Cahill got home. The Daylights tightened up and brought the scoring to a halt.

Freeman's sixth, however, Col. Bradley's now world-famed brown horse, stuck his aristocratic nose under the wire just ahead of his stable-mate, Black Servant, at Louisville, thereby capturing the Kentucky Derby, he won for himself assurance of a pension in the days when age creeps upon him.

His ability to travel faster than his rivals from the east and west alike brought to the coffers of Col. Bradley just $33,550 in cash.

Behave Yourself will be retired sooner or later, to the broad acres of Idle Hour farm here, to meditate upon the grandeur that is his, and the glory that was his while it lasted.

And while there is a lot of rapidity remaining in Behave Yourself's nimble heels, his future welfare has been assured.

He has laid up money to care for him in his old age. Many a man and woman, too, works a lifetime and is unable to accumulate enough for that. Behave Yourself did it in a couple of minutes at Louisville.

Luxurious Home
Idle Hour farm is like a jewel set in a great emerald. The stable colors are green and white, and Col. Bradley has every fence on the great farm painted a dazzling white.

The bluegrass makes a restful green—no, bluegrass is not really blue—and the farm appearance carries out the racing colors, which are the choice of Mrs. Bradley.

Behave Yourself will be shipped from Churchill Downs to Latonia, where he is entered in the Derby.

From there he will go to Saratoga to race in the autumn and will then likely be returned to Idle Hour for the winter. Whether he will race again next year remains to be seen.

The great colt has four daily meals—no is a hearty eater. He does away with 15 quarts of crushed oats and 15 to 20 pounds of hay.

On Friday he has a "Sunday dinner"—it is a bran mash.

When a horse on the Bradley string retires for an active life, Idle Hour receives him or her as its own. Every employee about the place at once takes on himself the business of making a friend of the animal.

New "Soccer" Overshadows

BY DEAN SNYDER

Canada is in the grip of the "soccer" fever.

This year clubs have sprung up in nearly every town and city in the Dominion.

A new race of fans similar to the wild baseball fans in the United States has suddenly come into existence.

It is estimated that there are 600 soccer clubs scattered over Canada at present. Over 100,000 people attend matches weekly.

Dyed-in-the-wool followers of the game differ from the American baseball fans. Soccer enthusiasts haven't reached the pitch of excitement where they holler "Kill the referee!" or "Throw him out!" etc.

The regular number of players signed to a club is 20, which makes a total of 12,000 players under signed contracts in the Dominion.

In England and Scotland, where the game is further advanced, a rigid line is drawn between amateurs and professionals. In Canada there are no legal professional players at present.

The wages of the old country professionals vary from $10 to a maximum of $15 per week.

Who win ze fight? I cannot say; Zis Monsieur Dempsey, he es tough, But, I am tough too, in my way.

An' I expect to treat hem rough; Zis Dempsey, he es hee, I know, the hee hee hee I am light an' small; But, you know how the saying go:

"How beeg they are, how hard they fall!" I nevalre feel so fit as now.

Marcel, my chof, he fed me well; I have ze pep, ze speed—somehow I sink zat I shall fight like!

But please, I am not used to train; Viz zeas so many crowds about— But please, perhaps you will explain.

Zat's why I mus' keep peoples out. I hear some experts say Inset Dempsey has ze hypnotique eye!

Well, I have ze hypnotique hat. Zat puts to sleep ze other guy. Zey say zat I mus' give away.

Some twentys rounds in zis affaire? Zat's nozing to Carpentier! Pout, I should worry; I no care!

And ma petite fille back in France; Monsieur, I leave you, I mus' go. Be kind to me in what you write, I hear ze voice of Gief Marcott!

Two influences have been at work to intensify the new interest.

One is the journey of men "Over There," where thousands learned to play the game, and the other is the magic influence which the miracle team of Scottish players, now touring the Dominion, is having.

These Scots are the "Babe Ruths" and the "Toby Speakers" of soccer. Their cunning and skill in handling the ball with their toes and heads is as spectacular as the best home run matches weekly.

INTEREST IN RICARD'S
CONTEST GROWING

Judging by the way the votes in the Twilight League most popular player contest poured in to Ricard's past week, great interest is being taken in this unique contest. Through the mail, by youngsters by grown-ups, in fact, everybody seemed to bring or send in votes for their favorites, and today's standing shows a rapid increase, both in the number of votes cast and also in the number of participants at the present time. Well, let's go, folks. Keep the ball a-rolling. If you can't bring them in, get them in by mail. They're welcome. Dempsey is still leading with 1526 votes. Buckley is second with 2517 and Purcell third with 1515.

The Giants would grow stronger if they had Groh. This is no Rapp.

OMENS OF GOOD LUCK
SHOWERED ON DEMP.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 11.—If Jack Dempsey carries all of the omens of good luck sent him into the ring when he faces Georges Carpentier at Jersey City, July 2, he will weigh about a ton. The heavyweight champion receives from 50 to 300 letters daily, each containing some sort of a trinket which the writers declare surely will bring him good luck if worn inside his belt.

Good luck pennies of ancient date, rabbit's feet, various medals and miniature dolls are some of the things which a loaded down postman dumps into the champion's front parlor every morning.

Dempsey has received a hundred or more good luck pennies, mostly the gifts of children from all parts of the country.

Paul J. O'Brien, a Chicago admirer of the champion, read that Carpentier received a rabbit's foot found in a Missouri graveyard in the moonlight by a blind negro. O'Brien decided the foot would bring the champion success, and thought must have been wrong with the rabbit. So he sent Dempsey a spig of shamrock, suggesting that he conceal them in his corner for good luck.

LOWELL GIRLS COMPETE
IN BIG TRACK MEET

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 11.—Middy Haines and Bloomers were the favorites of the day at the Harvard stadium today, as women went through a track and field competition. Competitors in the track meet were from their sex, 155 athletic young women from various New England cities sought to gain the first sectional championships of the Young Women's Christian association. It was the first appearance of women in athletic competition in New England on a large scale. The object of the meet was announced as the stimulation of athletics among working girls.

The events listed included a 75-yard dash, baseball throw, running, high jump, five-pound shotput, 50-yard race over hurdles two feet high, running broad jump and relay race. The cities represented included Portland, Me., Newburyport, Boston, Haverhill, Brockton, Lawrence, Lowell, Springfield, New Bedford and Pawtucket.

CAMP PLAYS GOLF
MANHASSET, N. Y., June 11.—Georges Carpentier today passed up his usual road work to play golf. He motored with a number of friends to the club house and intended to return after lunch.

The challenger will do no heavy work today or tomorrow. He has promised, however, to attend a foreign relief benefit in Roslyn, L. I., and to play a few rounds with one of his partners. He will resume training Monday and said today that he would probably repeat his six-round sparring session of yesterday.

Proposals for Coal

Sealed proposals addressed to the Middlesex County Commissioners and endorsed "Proposals for Coal" will be received by said Commissioners at the Court House, East Cambridge, on the 26th day of June, 1921, at 10 a. m. for a supply of coal to be delivered at the Training School at North Chelmsford, Mass., and the same will be publicly opened and read.

All bids must be upon blank forms to be obtained at the office of the Commissioners, Court House, East Cambridge, and must give the prices proposed both in writing and in figures, and be signed by the bidder with his address.

Each bid is to be accompanied by a certified check for two hundred dollars ($200) payable to the County of Middlesex, said check to be returned to the bidder unless he fails to execute a contract should it be awarded to him.

All bids will be compared on the basis of the estimated quantities of coal needed which are as follows:

500 tons, more or less, best "New River Coal" or its equal, 2000 pounds to the ton.

20 tons, more or less, best furnace coal, 2000 pounds to the ton.

The above is to be delivered at the Training School at North Chelmsford at such time and in such quantities as the Supervising Engineer may order.

The quantities are approximate only and the Commissioners expressly reserve the right of increasing or diminishing the same.

Specifications and forms of proposal and contract may be obtained at the office of the Commissioners, Court House, East Cambridge.

The Commissioners reserve the right to reject any or all bids, or accept any bid as they may deem best.

JEWES WILL OBSERVE FEAST OF SHABNOTH

The Feast of Weeks or Shabouth will be observed in the local synagogues tomorrow and in more orthodox congregations Monday.

Originally Shabouth was an agricultural festival in which the gathering of the spring wheat was used as an occasion for special services of thanksgiving. A later tradition associates this day with the revelation of God to Mt. Sinai when the law was revealed unto Moses. By this revelation Israel was summoned from among the nations of the earth to become the messenger of that law of humanity and under the inspiration of this election to stay the floods of sin and corruption that threatened to sweep over the earth. As a result of his example of righteousness, the Jews hope that zeal for the service of God, which is to do justly and to love mercy, may become the striving of all mankind.

The Reform Synagogue stresses this historical feature of the Feast of Weeks as a service of dedication of the Jew to the covenant imposed by his Jewish ancestry on him, to be the teacher and exemplar of the law of love unto humanity.

By means of this symbolism and idealization of the Shabouth festival reform congregations have utilized it as the confirmation day wherein the young men and women pledge themselves anew to continue the covenant of their fathers and to exemplify in their lives and conduct the spirit of justice and humanity to which they have been called by reason of their Jewish birth.

CUSTOM HOUSE FIRE AND BATTLE IN DUBLIN

These pictures show the Irish custom house fire and battle in Dublin, May 25, which destroyed the monumental building and ended in the death of many Sinn Feiners and British troops. The building was fired by Sinn Fein. British troops arrived quickly and a battle raged as the fire gained headway. Above, the custom house burning and (inset) British troops removing men wounded in the battle. Below, British troops searching suspects rounded up in the streets near the custom house.

LEGION CARNIVAL
THE GREATEST EVER

Sixteen victory arches, nearly five thousand dollars' worth of free attractions, fireworks, band concerts, sensational vaudeville acts, and other features are promised by the committee in charge of the "Join the Legion" carnival to be held July 2-5 on the South common, under the auspices of Lowell post No. 57. Scores of concessions have already been rented. It is stated, and the affair is said to be the most ambitious enterprise of its kind ever planned in this section of the country. Francis J. Roane of the local body is business manager of the carnival, and announces that Lowell people will be given the preference in disposing of the remaining concessions.

FILLING VACANCIES
CAUSED BY DEATH

It is probable that no action on the appointment of successors to the Michael J. Lynch, head custodian of the high school, and John J. Walker, attendance officer in the school department, will be taken until the next regular meeting of the school committee scheduled for Tuesday evening, June 25. The impending close of the school year lightens somewhat the pressure in both departments where the vacancies now exist and hence the absence of urgent need for immediate action.

Both positions come under civil service regulations. It is believed that there is an available list of eligibles from which Mr. Lynch's successor may be chosen, but nobody in the school department offices could state today whether there was an available list for the position of attendance officer.

NO CHANGE IN LOCAL MILL SITUATION

There is very little change in the local mill situation, it was stated today. The Massachusetts, Appleton, and Hamilton are operating full time, while the other cotton mills are still operating on a short time schedule. Business at the plant of the Lowell Hosiery Co. in St. Vernon street, is improving, however, for the plant is now operating five days a week with about 75 per cent of the help employed. This mill was shut down for some considerable time and only resumed operations a short time ago. The superintendent of the company stated today that the outlook is very bright and he intimated that it will be but a short time before the entire plant will be operating full time with all employees at work.

The Kilsno plant of the Saco-Lowell shos is also reporting an increase in business, for beginning this week and until further notice the shop will operate five days a week instead of four as heretofore. Notices have been posted in the shop to the effect that the entire plant will shut down during the entire week of July 3 for the annual vacation of the employees.

RESCUED HORSE
The shifting crew of the Boston & Maine railroad, George Gagnon, foreman, which was at work in the Bleach-district yesterday afternoon performed a very good stunt when they extricated a horse and wagon from the lowlands of the dump on the old Fair grounds. The rig is owned by a man named Silva, a resident of this city and was in charge of a young man who was about to dump a load of earth. The horse backed too far with the result that the entire rig went over the embankment. The shifting crew of the railroad, which was working nearby, rushed to the young man's assistance and after considerable effort succeeded in pulling up horse and wagon. There was no damage done and the horse was not injured.

Near-Beer Establishment Employee Gets Three Months
on Assault Charge

Three months in the house of correction, for "biting" George W. Burns, was the penalty imposed upon Charles Jacobs, employee at a near-beer establishment at South and Summer streets today in the police court. Burns told a harrowing story of the circumstances of the assault. "I came along," he testified, "and this fellow had another guy down on the sidewalk and was lifting his head up and banging it down. Then he started taking some pills from his pocket. Just then the guy began fighting, and he soaked him again. I said 'Don't kill him' and he held the other fellow down by keeping one hand on his stomach, and he bit me with the other."

Questioned further, Burns said that Jacobs made a declaration to the effect that the victim of his violence had failed to pay for a drink which he had sold him, and for which the charge was sixty cents. Some time during the festivities, Burns said, the prostitute being whose head had been pointed upon the pavement was borne mysteriously away.

Jacobs was asked if he wished to question the accuser. "What was your business for interfering?" was his query. The answer was, as before, that Burns did not want to see him kill the unknown. Jacobs then explained that the man had refused to make lawful payment for refreshment which had been accorded him, and "had to get the money by force."

Judge Enright then took a hand in the questioning. Responding to a query as to whether liquor is sold on the premises where he is employed, Jacobs gave a decided negative. "Nothing over one-half of one per cent," he averred. After further questions on the same tenor, his Honor imposed a three months' sentence. Jacobs appealed, and was held in bonds of $200.

Too Much Jakey
Two months in the house of correction, it is hoped, will act beneficially upon Patrick Bordeleau, charged with drunkenness. At all events, Judge Enright resolved to give it a trial, and imposed sentence to that effect in the police court this morning. Probation Officer Slattery, who has had the defendant's bank-book in his custody, told of finding Bordeleau, much intoxicated, in the bank, seeking to draw out money. Since January?

Bordeleau has removed $500 from a local bank, and the court officials have been endeavoring to conserve for him his remaining financial resources. He spent a week at the state farm, and was fined $15 at the end of that period. It was thought that this rest cure might assist him. But Judge Enright said this morning, "You went right out and did it again." Bordeleau, according to Officer Slattery, had with him at the time of his arrest, a cargo of Jamaica ginger both within and without.

being connected with the murder plot, according to the police.

Travel-worn and weary from lack of sleep and from more than 10 hours' questioning in New York, Mrs. Kaber was submitted to another severe all night inquiry here.

After Bertillon pictures and finger prints had been taken, the two prisoners were confronted by the woman through whom Mrs. Kaber is alleged to have hired the assassins to stab her husband to death two years ago, and who is alleged to have furnished poison which was administered to Kaber in his food.

Promised $5000 for Killing
Both Mrs. Kaber and Miss McArdle identified the woman. This identification brought from the Sandusky woman, the police say, the admission that she had supplied "medicine" for Kaber and that it was at her home in Cleveland shortly before the murder, that Mrs. Kaber met a man to whom she promised $3000 for doing away with her husband.

Mrs. Kaber denied every accusation made against her by the woman pertaining to threats of her husband's life. It developed in this examination that one of the statements made by the mother and daughter in New York, to Chief of Police Peter S. Christensen of Lakewood, said that one of the participants of the conspiracy attempted to set fire to Kaber's home shortly before the murder.

A man held on suspicion that he was connected with hiring the two men who did the slaying, was brought before Mrs. Kaber and her daughter, but both denied that they had ever seen him.

At the conclusion of the examination, Mrs. Kaber and Miss McArdle were placed in the county jail. There Mrs. Kaber's wrist, which she had slashed in an attempt to end her life in a New York jail, was treated by the jail physician, who said there was a possibility of infection.

Mrs. Kaber was lodged in a cell once occupied by Mrs. Carrie Chaddock, swindler of many Ohio books about 20 years ago. Her daughter occupied the cell on the floor above and near one in which was Mrs. Mary Bricker, her 60 years old grandmother, also under indictment for the crime.

Seeks Immediate Trial
County Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton declared today that he would ask for a trial of Mrs. Kaber on the indictment at this term of court, which has 20 days to run.

"The trial of Mrs. Kaber," he said, "will uncover all the ramifications of the conspiracy on Kaber's life. For that reason, I hold it to be essential that she be tried at once."

On the journey from the east, Mrs. Kaber told the party that she would commit suicide before she would stand trial. "I never will be tried on this charge," she said. She will be kept under constant surveillance.

Ask Church Singer to Return to Choir

RICHMOND, Va., June 11.—The board of deacons of the Woodland Heights Baptist church has voted to ask Miss Julia Priddy, 18-year-old choir singer, to resume her place in the church choir, which she was requested to vacate by the pastor, the Rev. W. A. Guntton, following her participation in an informal dance given at a reception tendered students of the John Marshall high school by Governor and Mrs. Westmoreland Davis. The chairman of the board, in previously opposing a proposal of the pastor that a letter of censure be addressed to Miss Priddy, was upheld by his fellow members by a vote of 6 to 2.

REAL ESTATE SALES

Thos. H. Elliott, real estate and insurance, offices 61 Central street, corner Prescott, reports the following sales negotiated during the past week:

On behalf of C. I. Hood, conveyance has been effected of a high class building site situated on the easterly side of Clark road. The lot has a street frontage of 85 feet and an area of 15,000 square feet. The grantee is Norman B. Reed of the Lawrence Manufacturing company, who will erect a modern residence in the immediate future.

Final papers have been passed in the transfer of a residential parcel at 13 Burnside street. The house is in cottage type with seven rooms and bath. The land involved in the transfer totals 4000 square feet. Conveyance is made on behalf of Aubrey W. Craig and Annie M. Craig, the grantee being Harry Taylor, who purchases for personal occupancy.

On behalf of Albert P. Carter, trustee, conveyance has been effected of a building site at the junction of Boylston and Dayton streets. The lot has an area of 8500 square feet and a street frontage of 150 feet. The purchasers are Gustaf Scheldt and Hulda Scheldt, who plan on the erection of a modern property in the near future.

Also the sale of a residential parcel at 99 Eustis avenue. The house is of 1 1/2-story type with seven rooms. The land conveyed approximates 5600 square feet with street frontage on both Eustis avenue and Ludlow street. The transfer is negotiated on behalf of William R. Thompson, the grantee being Mary E. McNulty, who buys for a home.

STATE $10,410

BOSTON, June 11.—The "L" inquiry of the recent session of the legislature cost the state $10,410. There were made public at the state house yesterday the expenses of the special committee appointed to investigate the charges of irregular conduct and improper influence in the 1913-19 general election in connection with the passage of legislation affecting the Boston Elevated railway.

The items are: Stenographic reports of hearings, $3015.30; stenographic services, $564.90; legal services (Geo. E. Tate of Exbridge, counsel, and Elliott H. Church of Newton, associate counsel), $3283.40; public accountants (Edwin L. Price and assistants), $2490; witness fees, $978.32; automobile hire, $7.60; printing, $25.50; telephone, $3.64; ring-binders, etc., 21 cents.

STEPPLEJILL!

There are many stepplejills. Here's a small tribute from those in trouble in whom Justice Ashley M. Gould consistently displayed a just and helpful interest. SPEAKER GILLET'S
SISTER ARRESTED

SPRINGFIELD, June 11.—Miss Lucy R. Gillett, sister of Speaker Gillett of the national house of representatives, was arrested last night by Chicago police officers on a charge of manslaughter after an automobile which she was driving, ran over and killed Irene Cole, 14-year-old school girl, in Chicago road, late yesterday afternoon.

Miss Gillett was released later under hall of $5000 for appearance in the Chicago police court today.

Miss Gillett was overcome after the accident. She told officers that she was driving slowly, but that the girl ran suddenly in front of the machine and was struck.

Another child, Eva Gauthier, 10 Chicago street, Chicago, was struck by the Gillett machine. Her leg was broken.

In round figures the yearly use of BITUMINOUS COAL for New England averages 25 MILLION TONS and of ANTHRACITE 12 MILLION TONS. Nearly all of this vast amount of coal with the exception of some six and one-half million tons used by the railroads might be eliminated through the use of and sooner or later the railroads will electrify.

RETURN TO PROSPERITY

No Immediate Return to Prosperity in Sight, Says Arthur

Douglas

WASHINGTON, June 11.—No immediate return to prosperity is in sight, says Arthur Wall Douglas, chairman of the committee on statistics of the chamber of commerce of the United States in his semi-annual report today on business and crop conditions.
There need be no delusion about a resumption of a war-time volume of business, Mr. Douglas declares, adding that while things will be quiet during the summer the formation of harvest may bring somewhat better business and a slow and gradual improvement.

"There is a growing realization of the fact," says Mr. Douglas, "that returning prosperity in this country depends upon the recovery of Europe, since she is and will be for a long time to come the best market for our surplus, for that surplus which we have accumulated and still have on hand in every phase of industry. Meanwhile the slow progress of business finds its chief stimulus in the gradual depletion of stocks both of merchandise and commodities, and the demand for replacement and repair which in itself produces the principal volume of our domestic commerce. There is still money to be spent where bargain prices are in evidence, showing that purchasing power is still high, despite many untoward conditions.

There is an almost unprecedented reduction of the cotton acreage in the south this year, with the plant still struggling against much wet weather and a late start. At the same time, wheat promises a larger yield than last year by from thirty or forty million bushels.

"Corn is not yet all in, but it is significant that the south expects to grow more corn this year than last,
and much more feed for live stock.
The acreage in rice will be less than the 1920 crop because of the large surplus carried over and with scarcely any demand.

"The general condition of livestock is most excellent save in southern Arizona and Southern New Mexico, where the ranges were burned up by drought. The low prices of cattle, hogs and sheep still make them unremunerative to the farmers, while wool is in tremendous supply at exceedingly low prices.

"Most of the early fruit was practically destroyed by frosts in the spring. Fortunately there are still some exceptions in scattered portions of Michigan, Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Connecticut, Washington, Idaho and some of the South Atlantic states.
The citrus crop is generally good, though damaged to some extent by the wet weather in Florida. There will be a good crop of strawberries.

"While the dairy industry is growing throughout the country, the reduced prices of butter, fat, milk and other dairy products cause some farmers to think that the dairy business is declining out of everything. Fortunately there is another side to the live stock dairy interest in the promise of a great harvest of feed at low figures, which may thus more nearly equalize present prices with the reduced cost of production.

"Tobacco growers look forward to a better season than they experienced last year because of the confident expectation of higher figures for their product.

"One of the serious conditions, serious because there are immense possibilities of its being much better, is the slow growth of building due to the continued high costs of the whole construction. Until these costs are reduced building will be only such as comes from the impulse of necessity.
Lumber naturally sympathizes with the inactivity of building and despite its low prices suffers from lack of demand.

"There has been some increase in the output of automobiles, notably in certain localities. All the various phases of leather production and manufacture seem to have struck bottom, both in prices and in demand, and to have had some moderate healthy rebound. The steel industry is running on short time with limited output and reduction of orders in hand. Railroad shoes are very quiet. Textiles, more particularly wool and linen, are doing somewhat better, as is likewise the shoe industry, especially in women's footwear. In a word, each industry is affected by different conditions and is to be judged on its own merits.

"Mining in general is a striking example of a particular economic trouble affecting the country as a whole. Most of the minerals, whether coal or copper or zinc or lead, have greater actual and potential capacity than there is any demand for in sight at present.
Consequently mining in general is very dull and where running is doing so on short time.

"One bright spot in the coal mining situation is shown in southwestern Virginia, where there is increased demand for export, due to the general coal mining strike in Great Britain. Coal mining is very naturally affected, not only by the slump in manufacturing, but likewise by the great falling off in the volume of railroad business.

"The railroads are using their utmost thought and endeavor to get their house in order by reduction in the cost of operation, and by various economies. All of which inspires the hope on the part of the general public that these things, when accomplished—and they now seem under way—will result in reduced cost of transportation. For such costs of transportation are a heavy handicap, too burdensome to be borne by many commodities, notably lumber and numerous farm products.

"So true is this that it is actually curtailing business in these and other lines so affected, thus being a direct loss both to the producer and the transportation companies. One of the interesting developments of the time is the growth of the electric trolley car and the auto truck in short hauls, which they are already formidable competitors of the steam railroad.

SHALL THE HOOT OWLS DIE?

Boys and girls! President Harding and children of the Burroughs club are watching two hoot owls—newcomers in the White House trees. Uncle Sam doesn't know whether to let 'em stay or not. Do owls do more harm than good? Find out and write your opinion to "Owl Day, American Forestry Association, Washington."

KNOWLTON HYDRAULIC AIR MOTOR

Ever since the world began the dream of today became the real thing of tomorrow. And as the writer stood upon the banks of the Sangus river and watched the section dredge cutting its way into the part of the land where the spillway of the Universal Tide Power Co. is to be located he realized that the mind which had conceived the plans for this power plant was a mind that had looked far into the future and given to mankind an invention that could for all time be a great boon to humanity.

On October 9th of last year the first pile in the dam of what is to be the first plant in the world to harness the mighty power of the tides was driven and it is confidently expected that on October 9th of this year the button which will start the plant in operation will be pressed. If our readers could only see the go and energy that is being put into the unbuilding of the plant they too would be confident that in a short while the world was to see the fulfillment of the wish that has been fathered to the thought, the harnessing of the mighty powers of the tides.

It has been necessary to do a lot of dredging and a dipper dredge was used to do the work—every time the dipper dug into the bank it brought up enough mud to fill a two horse wagon and if of these wagons were necessary to carry the mud away as fast as it was dug, this was pretty lively work, but not fast enough to satisfy, so a suction dredge was built and on Dec.
31st launched and put to work. Go see it, it's marvellous. It would take five dipper dredges and 32 two-horse wagons to keep up with it, for it dredges 900 cubic yards every eight hours, sends it through a ten inch pipe and deposits it hundreds of feet away on marsh land that was worthless, but as soon as the water seeps away and the mud dries is the best kind of factory land. No there isn't any doubt about the plant being completed and when it is power from coal should become a thing of the past. We have in the past told our readers of the prospects and possibilities of the Universal Tide Power company, but this is the most satisfactory report we have been able to make.

Grasshoppers are an excellent food for live stock, according to the findings of a commission appointed by the government of Uruguay. When dried, an analysis of the product showed a fatty matter content of 40 per cent and more than this amount of digestible protein. The product is superior to oil cakes and horses, sheep and pigs eat the dried insects readily.

LANDIS AS ARBITER

30,000 Men of Building Trades to Return to Work at Chicago

CHICAGO, June 11.—Approximately 30,000 men employed in the building trades, will be back at work next and construction valued at nearly $10,000,000 will be under way in a short time, contractors declared today, as the result of the election of Judge Landis to be arbiter in the wage controversy in Chicago, between the building trades and contractors.

With the election of the umpire, the contractors called off a lockout which has been in effect since May 1.

If the new wage scale has not been announced by the first pay day, the old scale of $1.25 an hour for skilled labor and $1 for unskilled labor will be paid until a decision is reached. The lockout went into effect when workers refused to accept a 25 per cent cut in pay.

BANK MESSENGER SHOT DEAD BY BANDITS

DETROIT, June 11.—Joseph Kestead, messenger for the Bank of Detroit, was shot and killed and Clark Thompson, another passenger, severely wounded, by three men who held them up yesterday. The bandits, armed with a box under their arms, carried away the money.

The messengers were delivering the bag from the West Side branch to the bank's main office downtown, when the bandits without warning seized them. One of the bandits apparently was shot by Thompson, who fired several times at them. A box which witnessed the holdup said he was one of the robbers' fat, but that he was pulled into the machine which then sped away.

Officials of the Bank of Detroit said the messengers were about to make collections at West Side branch when the holdup occurred. The bandits overpowered the messengers.

The case of Louise Brown, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of a child, was continued today by the defendant at the police court. The case was set for June 15, but the request for a continuance has not yet been returned.

A. A. R. I. R. Not Opposing Gompers

CHICAGO, June 11.—Peter Golden, secretary of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, today issued a statement denying reports he said were in circulation that his organization was opposing the re-election of Samuel Gompers as president of the American Federation of Labor. "The sole obligation of members of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic is to work for that recognition," Mr. Golden said. "The presidency of the American Federation of Labor is a matter outside the sphere of its activities."

HELD FIELD DAY
A most successful field day was held today at Pinchurst by the Pinchurst Improvement association. A feature of the program of sports and other entertainment was a five-mile marathon from Webburn to Pinchurst, in which several runners of prominence contended.

CLEARING HOUSE BANKS
NEW YORK, June 11.—Clearing house banks and trust companies held $18,246,120 reserve in excess of legal requirements, an increase of $23,121,540 from last week.

SIGNS BILL FOR BUDGET SYSTEM

WASHINGTON, June 11.—The bill establishing a budget system of government expenditures was signed yesterday by President Harding. In order to put the new system quickly into effect the president expects to appoint a director of budget as provided for in the bill some time within the next two weeks. It is understood that a number of available men have been under consideration and that the field has been narrowed to three or four.

The cases of William F. McCarthy, George McDonald, Edward F. Waters and William H. Hensworth, charged with attempted breaking and entering of the Selge and Kaplan stores on Mt. Vernon street, were today continued in the police court to June 20.

More than three million men are under arms in Europe at this time.

150 ACRES DESTROYED BY FOREST FIRES

FREDERICTON, N.S., June 11.—Forest fires today threatened McGivney, a railway junction in the north-eastern end of York county. More than 150 acres of woodland had been destroyed up to last night.

AMHERST, N.S., June 11.—A gale blowing for several days, today continued to fan forest fires in Cumberland county, and rangers reported only a heavy rainfall could save the rich timber tracts of the river Hebert and river Philip districts. Approximately 300,000 feet of sawn lumber and several thousand cut logs already have been consumed.

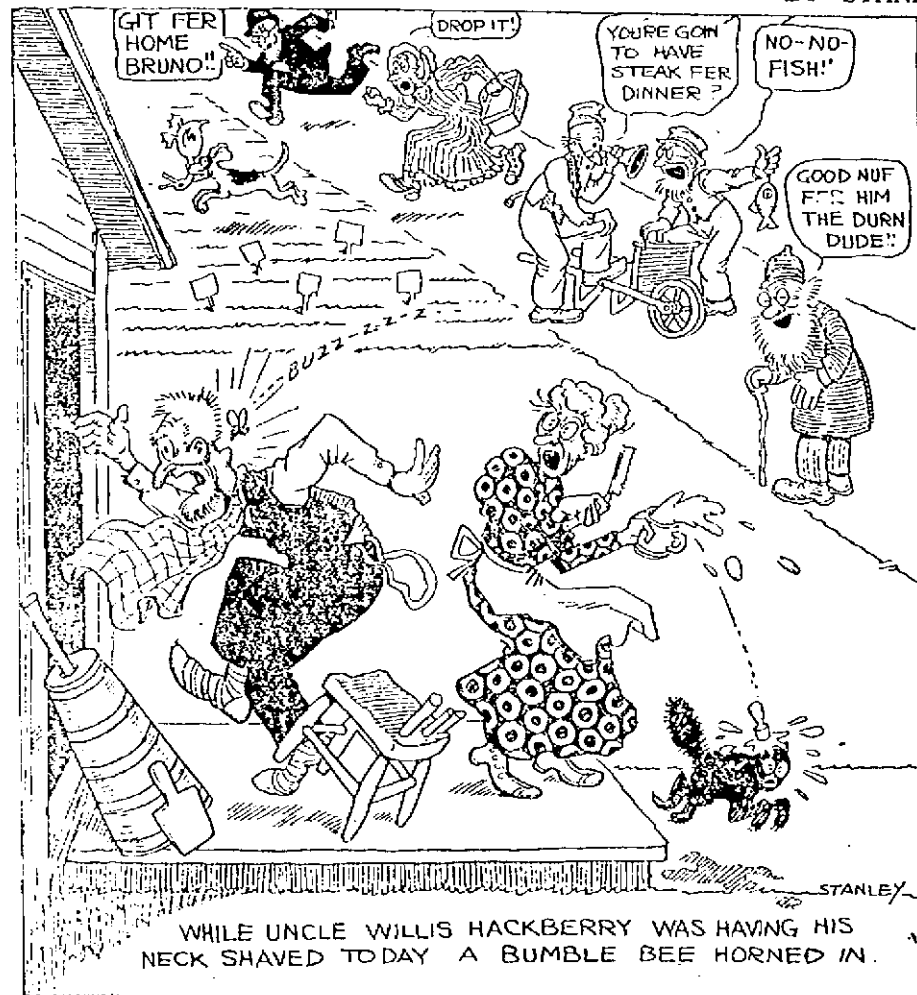

An aluminum bearing deposit, believed to contain one hundred and fifty million tons of aluminum, has been discovered near Tapolca, Hungary. This is one of the largest deposits in existence.

TWO KILLED WHEN TRAIN HITS AUTO

FRANKLYNVILLE, N. J., June 11.—Gordon B. Crafts of Manchester, Mass., a graduate of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, and William B. Nichols, a farmer living near here, were killed yesterday when a small motor truck in which they were riding, was struck by a Pennsylvania railroad electric train. Crafts, who had been on the Nichols farm getting actual experience in fruit growing, was on his way to the railroad station to take an afternoon train for a trip to his home. Nichols was widely known in this section of the state. His fruit farm is one of the largest in the country. He was 55 years old. Crafts was 24 and was a prominent athlete during his college days.

The fez is no longer to be the national headpiece of the Turk, according to a decision of the national assembly. The "kalpak" will be substituted. The "kalpak" is made of black cloth or felt, somewhat similar to the fez only flatter and broader.

Greek Warships Bombard Karamursul

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 11.—(By the Associated Press)—Greek destroyers have bombarded Karamursul, a village on the southern shore of the Gulf of Ismid, and there have been several skirmishes along the Turkish front in Asia Minor. Coast towns along the Black sea, the Sea of Marmora and the Aegean, are filled with refugees, who have fled from the interior because of the imminence of the Greek offensive against the Turkish nationalists.

GOOD CROPS THROUGHOUT NEW ENGLAND

WAKEFIELD, June 10.—The apple crop in Maine shows better prospects than that of any other state in the country. Reports to V. A. Sanders, New England statistician of the federal bureau of crop estimates today, placed the Maine condition on June 1 at 55. The next highest state was Washington for which the figure was 52. Among the New England states, New Hampshire ranked next to Maine with a condition of 53, which Mr. Sanders said was somewhat above the average. Other states fell below the average, Vermont being 50, Connecticut 63, Rhode Island 60 and Massachusetts 55.

The New England peach crop would be about two-thirds of normal, the reports indicated and the near crop light. Cape Cod cranberries were damaged about 25 per cent. by frosts in May.

The productivity of the banana is much greater than that of other food-bearing plants. One acre, under scientific cultivation, will annually produce seventeen thousand pounds of bananas. There are over sixty known varieties of the banana, with a great variation in character.
